FOURTH OF JULY

The National Birthday Celebrated in Various Parts of the City and in Numerous Ways

The Fourth of July on Wednesday was quietly observed in this city—the noisy night before of other years being conspicuous by its absence.

The weather was sultry and there were showers in the afternoon which interfered with some of the events.

Newton Centre

The celebration at Newton Centre was in charge of the Improvement Association and consisted of sports for the children beginning at the sensible hour of six o'clock in the evening.

CITY HALL FROLICS

The heads of departments and the clerks in City Hall held a most enjoyable outing last Friday afternoon at Marblehead.

The start was made from City Hall about 12:30 in automobiles and the party included about 80 persons, with Mayor Childs, and Aldermen Heath-Cote, Smith and O'Connell as guests.

Dinner was served at the Adams House, on the arrival in Marblehead, and appetites enhanced by the ride along the North Shore were soon appeased by the extent and variety of a real shore dinner.

The dinner was followed by a trip around historic and quaint old Marblehead with a visit to Abbot Hall, and a drive through the twisted and interesting streets of this old town.

The afternoon was spent at Devereaux Beach, near the noted Marblehead Neck and nearly everyone in the party took some share in the program of games and sports which were held under the efficient supervision of Superintendent Herman, of the Playground Department.

Four teams were formed with Mayor Childs, City Solicitor Bartlett, City Engineer Rogers and Joseph Edwards as captains and a close and interesting rivalry followed in quoits, bean bag, tugs of war for both men and women, and three-legged races for men, women and mixed pairs.

Mr. Edwards's team won the most points and were rewarded with boxes of candy.

In the early evening the party broke up and rode back to Newton with the firm conviction that each and every one had had a red letter afternoon.

The affair was under the management of Mr. John H. H. Turner of the Buildings Department and Mr. Leonard Jackson of the Health Department.

NATIONAL GUARD GOES TO CAMP

Company H of the National Guard stationed at the State Armory at West Newton, leaves tomorrow for its usual two weeks' tour of duty at Camp Devens.

EDUCATIONAL PROBLEMS

The following excerpts from the recent annual report of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching are well worth the careful consideration of every tax payer, as well as of every parent in the city.

THE COST OF PRESENT DAY EDUCATION

The outstanding facts seem to be these. While the population has increased between 1890 and 1920 by about two-thirds, the growth in the number of pupils attending the elementary schools increased approximately in the same proportion, but the attendance upon the high schools and colleges grew at a rate many times faster than that of the population; and that while the national income has also grown notably in these thirty years, the burden laid upon the people of the country has enormously increased. As Prof. Seligman, in his paper, "Sources of Increased Revenues for Education," states it, while the increased wealth has seemed to keep step with the increase in educational costs, "yet it is an undoubted fact that the relative burden seems to be becoming greater rather than smaller, and that uneasiness and embarrassment are continually augmenting."

The simple fact is that municipalities and states are finding the rising cost of their educational budget a most difficult and serious problem. The question how to finance the public system of education in the face of the other great demands made upon these communities and states has become to-day an acute question. There can be no doubt that there is needed for its solution a statesmanlike consideration, both of the educational needs and possibilities, and of the financial difficulties and burdens.

The systems of public education—both tax-supported institutions and institutions dependant upon tuition and endowment—are likewise facing a problem of financing for which the money can be had only if it can be shown that the return which the public

OFFICER HOYT ACQUITTED

Aldermen Clear World War Veteran from Serious Charges

Patrolman Harold C. Hoyt, a member of the police force about one year and a veteran of the World war, was before the board of aldermen on Monday night on charges preferred against him for conduct unbecoming a police officer by Chief Burke.

The board sat until nearly two o'clock in the morning to hear and consider the case and found Hoyt not guilty on all three specifications preferred by the chief.

Chief Burke had charge of the prosecution and Officer Hoyt was represented by former alderman George H. Mellen as counsel, City Solicitor Bartlett sitting beside President Hollis to decide any knotty points in the law which might arise.

Aldermen Hickey, Smith and Tucker were absent.

The charges were substantially as follows:

1. That Hoyt had taken Vera Sawyer and Grace G. Healey into the Waban school house between the hours of 12:30 and 4:30 on the morning of May 5.

2. That Hoyt had conducted himself with these two girls in an improper and wrongful manner.

3. That Hoyt had failed to have these girls taken to police headquarters as provided by Rule 22 of the Police Department.

The gist of the testimony by Vera Sawyer, a 15-year old state ward living on California street, Newton, and Grace G. Healey of Waltham, was to the effect that after picking up an automobile ride to Bedford that night with two men, who left them in West Newton, they had picked up two other men and walked to Commonwealth avenue and Fuller street, in an alleged attempt to walk to Beverly and while with these men, Officer Hoyt had come along in an automobile, and compelled them to go with him to a school house in Waban, which he had opened either with a key or by entering through a basement window and then opening the door for the girls.

While there for a period of three hours leaving them three times for about 5 minutes each to ring in his duty calls, he had made improper proposals and acted with them in an improper manner. He had allowed them to leave about 4:30 A. M., and they told a wild story of an auto ride to Brookline, another ride to Boston, reaching Beverly on a total cash capital of 62 cents. At Beverly, the Sawyer girl's mother had given her two dollars with which they returned to Boston, went to a movie show, picked up two sailors and had been detained by the Boston police.

Edna Spitz, a visitor for the Public Welfare Department was also a witness but told little on account of frequent objections by Mr. Mellen.

Officer Hoyt testified that he had

"What A Homelike Bank"

That is an expression we frequently hear on the lips of customers and visitors at the various community offices of the Newton Trust Company. Our attractively and comfortably arranged banking quarters, including the public lobbies and the customers' rooms, together with the courteous and attentive service rendered by officers and employees, make it a pleasure to do business here.

But in paying some attention to the human features of business, we have tried to sacrifice nothing in efficiency. The service we give is prompt and accurate, our equipment and facilities are up-to-date in every respect.

$60,000,000,000 WORTH of LOVE and UNSELFISHNESS

Sixty billions of dollars of protection for loved ones has been voluntarily provided by the men of these United States through fraternal orders and old line life insurance companies.

Bought in many cases at a great personal sacrifice and with the highest type of unselfishness that those they love may find life alone less hard.

$60,000,000,000! What a measure of the unselfish desire of these men—

To provide for a family with heads erect because all bills are paid.

To provide a home freed from a mortgage.

To provide an adequate present day education so that the boy or girl can have a better chance than Dad and Mother had.

To provide the dollars equal to the weekly pay envelope for one or two years until the family can adjust themselves to new conditions.

To provide the partner who has cheered and encouraged in the struggle of life with a sure monthly income for her sunset days.

There are doubtless hundreds in Newton who would like to show their love and unselfishness in the same way, but fear they would not meet the physical test. To those, I would say that several sound companies now classify physical conditions as well as occupation, and it is worth while for them to see what is now offered.

I SHOULD PRIZE THE OPPORTUNITY TO SHOW YOU

There are many thousands more in this City of Newton who would like to show their unselfishness if they knew the many ways in which the proceeds of the policies are now guarded so that they may be absolutely certain their specific wishes shall be carried out.

MAY I TELL YOU OF THE WAYS?

not been on Fuller street at all that night, reaching Waban from his home in Auburndale by way of Washington and Beacon streets. He had pulled in his duty call at 12.52 and then had examined the doors and windows of the Angier school, finding everything locked up. He had left his auto near the Waban station and had walked the rest of the night. He had heard voices while on Beacon street near Chestnut street and found two young men and two girls on Chestnut street near the market garden. He was told that they had been to a dance and had lost their way. He took the names and addresses of the girls and had sent the whole party toward West Newton. He denied all of the statements regarding the incidents said to have taken place in the Angier school. The records of his duty calls were presented and showed an hourly call from boxes 25 to 30 minutes walk from the Angier school. There was testimony from Thomas Burns, the school janitor, that the basement windows of the school were guarded with heavy iron gratings locked with padlocks and from Rev. Dr. George S. Butters, John H. H. Turner, and John W. Scott, as to Hoyt's general good character. Sergt. Bannan, a witness for the defence, after confirming Hoyt's statement that he had reported the matter of finding the girls early that morning, dropped a bomb shell into the story of the defence by also stating that Hoyt had admitted seeing the girls twice that night. Hoyt was recalled by Mr. Mellen and emphatically refuted the statement of the sergeant.

In his argument for Hoyt, Mr. Mellen said that the only testimony against his client came from the lips of trollops, who had admitted that they had been picked up by all kinds of men and had all kinds of wild adventures that night and the day following. He characterized the third charge that Hoyt had not reported these girls as lost children as the most absurd thing he had ever known, and said that even if true it was not sufficient to either suspend or discharge his client. Mr. Mellen said that it was evident that these girls had made up the story in order to account for their staying up all night and it was unbelievable in face of the testimony of the record of pulled boxes by Hoyt that night. He warned the board of its responsibility in deciding this matter as conviction would ruin this young man for life.

Chief Burke in closing called attention to the unmistakable identification of Hoyt by the girls, to some discrepancies of Hoyt's testimony and said that if the board wanted such men on the force he should not be held responsible for the results.

The board took a recess at 12.25 o'clock and considered the matter in the large committee room, returning to the aldermanic chamber at 1.20, where the vote was taken at once, resulting in a verdict of not guilty on all three charges. Aldermen Heathcote, Madden, O'Connell and Parker voting guilty on the first; Alderman Heathcote voting guilty on the second and Aldermen Heathcote and O'Connell voting guilty on the third charge.

There was a little other business before the board.

No one appeared at a hearing on telephone conduits in Beacon street and the petition was granted.

Mr. Gould for the Edison Company favored a pole on Furber lane and Mr. George F. Wales spoke in opposition, with letters of protest from other abutments.

The Newton South Cooperative Bank protected its rights in a mortgage on land on Crystal Lake to be taken for a park and Mr. John Segerson asked several questions.

Mr. Robert Burns spoke in favor of allowing the John T. Burns & Sons, Inc. to enlarge a business building at Chestnut Hill.

Mayor Childs sent in a veto of Edison poles on Algonquin road, a request of the Library Trustees for $850 for a power elevator at the main library the claim of Victor Avondoglio for damages caused by tree falling on his automobile at Waban, and request of the City Treasurer for $1600 for interest due Nov. 1st.

Petitions were received for sewers in Crafts street, Linwood avenue, Indiana terrace, and Bartlett terrace, for the laying out of Tarleton road, of M. R. Oakley, 246 Washington street and Sara Smith, Hartford street, for victualer licenses and claim of F. X. Chevalier for damages on account of hole in Commonwealth avenue. The Standard Oil Company also asked for location for a filling station on Commonwealth avenue.

Orders were adopted for street sprinkling on Dorset road, making sewer house connection assessments, for relocation of Edison pole on Dedham street, for opening of certain streets by the Gas Company and changing East Side Parkway from general to private residence district. The board adjourned at 1.45 A. M.

A GREAT OPPORTUNITY

The long summer days in the city, on the farm, at the lake, or the sea, shore give plenty of time for reading attractive books. The summer magazines are full of suggestions for reading. While perhaps the most of these suggestions are in the nature of advertisements for new books, yet a number of them tell of the feast to be found in old books.

"Clarence B. Kelland in his article 'Why Boys' Books' in the June 16th issue of The Saturday Evening Post, says 'some solititious friend, who figures I am a helpless, footless individual in need of guidance, stands me up in a corner and demands to know why I waste time writing books for boys.'"

"To these people I give the perfectly comprehensible answer that I write boys' books for investment purposes, as I would invest in good, sound, conservative bonds. Instead of investing a sum of money in securities, I invest a certain number of weeks of my time in a boys' book, with the same result. The return from a first-grade bond is not high; but it is continuous, and you may look forward to receiving it twice a year when you cut your coupons. The return from a boys' book is not enormous; but it does have the same qualities inherent in a bond, continuousness and safety of income. When I write a boys' book I am a conservative investor."

All of the best books written for boys are bought by the Newton Free Library for the boys of Newton. These are put in the various libraries of the city where they are accessible to all. During the summer months an excellent opportunity is given for the boys to read the good stories which they are deprived of during the school year. Boys are using the libraries regularly. Some of the best books of the year are:

Bassett. Walter and the wireless.
Brewster. Some three hundred years ago.
Canfield. A trip with a trailer.
Hawkes. Dapples of the circus.
Hodgdon. The enchanted past.
Scales. Boys of the ages.
Stroebe. Danish fairy book.
Verrill. Deep sea hunters in the frozen seas.
Baker. Dusty Star.
White. Life of Daniel Boone.
Dixie. The boy magician.
Green. Mystery of the Erik.
Lanier. Book of giants.
Musser. Jungle tales.
Paine. Blackboard buccaneer.
Schultz. Trail of the Spanish horse.

Says the Veteran Motorist:

"I WANT to say right here that the attitude most motorists have toward the traffic officer is absolutely wrong. The majority of drivers imagine that he is always out to get them. Nothing of the sort."

"His job is to keep the highways safe for everybody. He's out to keep you from endangering the lives and limbs of others. And he's out just as hard and just as long to keep the other fellow from banging you up. He may call you down one minute and then save you a nasty smash-up at the hands of some novice or dare-devil just behind you."

"One of the best scouts I ever met is a traffic officer and a few incidents that he and others have told me make me feel like taking my hat off to the whole bunch of them. The Law of the Land, Must and Shall Be Respected

EDITORIAL

Wednesday was one of the quietest holidays we have ever seen in this city. The usual noise was conspicuous by its absence or infrequent outbreaks.

The new way of celebrating the day is certainly a great improvement over the hoodlumism which so greatly marred the Fourth in other years. We miss, somehow, the old fashioned antiques and horribles parade, but it is more than compensated by the sports and the fireworks.

The law which requires a public hearing on the suspension or removal of a city employee, such as was held last Monday at City Hall, is not in the interests of good government. Notwithstanding the clear verdict of acquittal given Officer Hoyt, he will always bear the stigma which the publicity of such vulgar testimony always carries even to the most innocent.

RESCUED FROM RIVER

Patrolman Roche made a thrilling rescue Tuesday night shortly after 11. A girl and a fellow overturned the boat in which they were canoeing near the Wa Be Wa Boat Club, about 1 1/2 miles from the police station. Roche went down at top speed in the launch and arrived just as the couple were exhausted. The girl was clinging to the overturned canoe, while the young man was keeping her afloat. After a rest and treatment at the station both were able to go to their homes. Yen Wong of 160 Oxford street, Boston, a young Chinaman, tipped over at the B. & A. R. Bridge Wednesday, but was able to bring his canoe to the station unassisted. He is the third Chinaman to fall into the river at Riverside this year.

Newton Boat Club

The Newton Boat Club made the Fourth a gala day with land and water sports at the Club house at Riverside, a box lunch and an evening of dancing. The Hospitality Committee consisted of Lorraine C. Elterich, chairman, P. Brooks Allen, Lester A. Hodges, Percy M. Waterhouse, Miss Ina C. Brown, Miss Reta Renton, Harold E. Collins, Frank W. M. Meakin, Gerald F. Zedren, Miss Josephine Butler and Miss Helen Warren; the field sports were in charge of Peter D. Boltz, chairman; the water sports in charge of Herbert Howell, chairman, and the entertainment committee was composed of Harry Brown, chairman, Alfred Biagi, P. Brooks Allen, Albert Douglas, Harold E. Collins, Lester A. Hodges, Walter Riedl, and Peter D. Boltz.

The field sports resulted as follows:

Potato race for women, Mrs. Sidney Warshuer, first; Thelma Thompson, second.

Potato race for men, Sidney Bowditch, first; Allen Dunlop, second.

Egg and spoon race for women, Mrs. Harold E. Collins, first; Mrs. Sidney Warshuer, second.

50 yard dash for women, Betty Collins, first; Frances Bearse, second.

50 yard dash for men, Harold Collins, first; Allen Dunlop, second.

Three-legged race for women, Mrs.

Wynstein, Miss Snyder, first; Mrs. Collins, Mrs. Ross, second.

Three-legged race for men, Harold Collins, Allen Dunlop, first; Wynstein and Hookaido, second.

Sack race for men, Collins, first; Eden, second.

Sack race for women, Mrs. Collins, first; Miss Ross, second.

The water sports created great interest and many of them were quite laughable.

In the hand paddling race, Sidney Bowditch was first, Brooks Allen second, and Harold Collins third.

The tail filling contest was won by Harold Collins and Allen Dunlop.

The tail end race was won by Harold Collins, first; Allen Dunlop, second and Brooks Allen, third.

Harold and Allen Dunlop also won the tilting contest as well as the men's doubles, in which Norby and Chapman were second. The mixed doubles were won by Mrs. R. B. Capstick and Richardson, with Miss Chadwick and Stockman, second.

The big events of the day, the men's singles and men's doubles from the B. A. A. float to the Boat Club, were open to all. Cornier and Stockman of the Crescent Club of Waltham won first and Dunlop and Collins of Newton were second in the doubles and the singles were won by Cornier, with Stockman second and Richardson third, all members of the Crescent Club.

The prizes for the men's doubles were gold pencils, and the singles, a blanked. All other prizes were badges.

The evening was brought to a close by a most enjoyable dance.

Newton Highlands Sports

Newton Highlands had a forenoon of sports and games on the Playground under the direction of the Sports Committee of the Improvement Society, Mr. Robert Bonner, chairman, assisted by Henry Forte, Thomas Hinckley, and Harry Whittaker, with Arthur Thompson and E. B. Alger as judges and Thatcher Nelson as starter.

Blue and red badges were presented to the following winners:—

50 yard dash for boys, Robert Bonner, Jr., first; Charles Leach, second.

25 yard dash for girls, Margaret McKenna, first; Everell Pinkham, second.

Potato race for boys, Thomas Galvin, first; Jack Wagner, second.

Potato race for girls, under 12 years, Emily Mason, first; Betty Cudworth, second.

Potato race for girls, over 12 yrs., Katherine McKenna, first; Gertrude Dyer, second.

High jump, George Smith, first; Charles Leach, second.

Broad jump, Charles Leach, first; George Smith, second.

Girls relay race, Dorothea Rust, Gertrude Dyer, Gracia Halliday, Dorothy Sweet, first; Everell Pinkham, Virginia Burke, Gladys Williams, Thelma Higgins, second.

Men's 50 yard dash, Patterson, first; Forte, second.

River Parade

The illuminated and decorated canoe parade on the Charles river under the auspices of the Omicron Delta Canoe Association was one of the features of the holiday.

The parade, which started at Riverside, came down the river, made a complete turn at Norumbega and ended at the Wa Be Wa Club, headquarters of the Omicron Deltas. Thousands witnessed the spectacle from Riverside, Weston Bridge, Norumbega and from canoes and launches.

Turtles, airplanes, steamboats, igloos, gardens, highhouses, caves, all sorts of novelties were entered in the competition for the prizes of $200. The canoes were illuminated with Chinese lanterns and electric lights, and as they passed Weston Bridge the motorists expressed their approval by blowing hundreds of auto horns. The Norumbega Park band played at the stand near the bend in the river, while the parade made the circle in front of the park and around the judges boat.

First prize in the novelty class, a floating igloo, was won by Mrs. Lillian E. Robinson, wife of Vice Commodore Robinson of the O. D.'s, and chairman of the affair. Her canoe was unanimously chosen as the best on the river and received the greatest applause for beauty and originality.

In the illuminated class the winners were: J. Trefrey, with a rose garden, each blossom illuminated with an electric light, first prize; John Emerson, with a boat called "The Spirit of the Day," second prize; J. Rodin, a tea garden, third prize; John Olsen, a Chinese pagoda, fourth prize; G. K. Anderson, a tulip garden, fifth prize; H. S. MacDonald, a rose arbor, seventh prize. The last three winners were unclassified.

They were Frank Adams, Edwin Daniels and E. F. Smith.

Italian Foresters

Court Figli D'Italia of the Foresters of America held an all day entertainment on the Fourth, even beginning the night before at the Nonantum playground on Hawthorne street. A tent sheltered refreshments and numerous booths offered attractions for sale and chance. There was a band concert and dancing both evenings and the display of fireworks Wednesday night was both beautiful and unusual in character.

A dinner-dance and display of fireworks were held at the Woodland Golf Club.

At the Brae-Burn Country Club, there was a dinner party, concert, dancing on the green and fireworks. The fairway was decorated with colored lanterns, and there were tables on the green.

The Newton Lodge of Colored Odd fellows held a band concert at the Auburndale Playground.

The police blotter recorded the quietest Fourth in years. Eight drunks, four false alarms, one stolen car and three young men who were arrested for creating a disturbance in a moving picture house that evening were all the grist brought to the police mill.

POLICE COURT

A reel at the Newton Opera House, Tuesday night, full of "shootin and gun play," was so faithfully interpreted by three self-appointed members of the orchestra, who at every shot in the picture, dropped a torpedo on the floor, that the audience began to fear bullets might fly from the screen. Special Officer Hogan called Patrolmen Frank Feeley, Hanlon, and Walker, and three young Watertown men were arrested on charge of creating a disturbance.

The youths, Alex Russo of 28 Forest street, Frank McCarthy of 261 Pleasant street, and Benedict Leonard of 95 Fayette street were fined $10 each yesterday morning in the Newton District Court.

Michael Doherty of 19 Jassett street, Newton, was in Court yesterday morning charged with the illegal sale of intoxicating liquor. He was arrested early the morning of July 4 by Sergt. Moran, Patrolmen McLean, Veduccio, and Charles Feeley, who searched his home and seized about one-half a gallon of whiskey and one-half a gallon of alcohol. Doherty was given a sentence of three months in the House of Correction and fined $50. These sentences were suspended, however, as a suspended sentence was hanging over him for the same offense. The earlier sentence was revoked and he was ordered to pay two fines of $50 each.

Charles King of 233 Linwood avenue Newtonville, was in Court yesterday charged with being drunk and with operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor. He was arrested by Patrolmen Conniff and J. Kelly. The case was continued until July 21.

Louis R. Casey of 73 Myrtle street, Boston, was in Court yesterday morning, charged with being drunk and with operating an automobile while he was under the influence of liquor. He was arrested by Sergeant Mahoney and Patrolman Maguire. The case was continued a week.

ROTARY CLUB

There was a good attendance of members and guests at the weekly luncheon on Monday at Norumbega Park and President William T. Halliday who has just returned from the international convention of Rotary Clubs at St. Louis was the only speaker.

Are You Looking for a Home in Newton Centre?

21 Hamlin Road

11 Hamlin Road

The location, construction, plans and prices of these homes of distinction will appeal to you. Come out Sunday or any week day and inspect these houses now being finished on Hamlin Road between Cedar and Morton streets, just off Commonwealth avenue.

Built of the best materials, by skilled workmen, priced 10 to 15% below present replacement value, as all materials were contracted for at last year's prices, we repeat—These homes are the best values for the money in the Newtons today.

Each home has seven to eight rooms and garage, lot fully graded and seeded, and contains many features one rarely expects to find except in houses built to order. Completely equipped tiled bath rooms, parquette oak floors of the best quality, cedar lined closets, full sized French bevel plate glass mirrored doors, built-in book-cases with mirrored backs; living room and dining room paneled in mahogany, or figured gumwood, are among the many attractive features which make these homes distinctive and different, at prices no higher than the cheapest speculative houses built.

The neighborhood is of the best, being restricted to single houses only, and property values in this particular section are increasing in value faster than any other district in Newton.

Liberal mortgages placed by the most conservative banks in Massachusetts who based their valuation on the construction of these homes give the prospective buyer an opportunity to own a real home at a very moderate investment.

Fifteen years' experience building homes to order are back of these houses. Come out Sunday or any week day and judge for yourself.

THE COAL SITUATION

The Massachusetts Joint Special Coal Investigating Committee, after spending eight days in visiting the anthracite district in Pennsylvania where it conferred with miners and operators, and in conferences with Federal officials in Washington, today made public its observations and conclusions after a careful study of the information which had been collected. The committee, which was the first legislative body, either State or Federal, to visit the anthracite mines in order to make its observations and obtain its information at first hand, reports as follows:

The production of anthracite coal during the early months of the present year has been greater than in any similar period in the history of the industry, but in order to provide sufficient anthracite of domestic sizes to meet all demands, a substantially continuous production is required. The wage contract between the operators and miners expires on August 31st. Within a week the negotiations for a new wage contract will begin, at which time the miners will present new and serious demands, which were adopted on June 29 at the tri-State district convention in Scranton—representing 155,000 miners in the anthracite fields, Districts 1, 7 and 9, United Mine Workers of America.

The most important of these demands call for an increase of 20 per cent in the contract wage; $2 a day increase for men paid by the day; a two-year contract with full recognition of the union; uniformity and equalization of all day rates; the 8-hour day for all men employed in and about the mines; that where the miner is paid by the car for coal he mines, the system be changed so as to provide that the miner shall be paid by weight.

The operators are certain to resist these demands, particularly as regards the wage increase. It is thought that they will not only decline to grant an increase in the wage scale, but will demand a decrease. The demands on both sides will doubtless be put forward in part for trading purposes. But, however this may be, a long period of negotiating will inevitably follow, and what will happen if negotiations run beyond August 31, the date of expiration of the old contract, cannot be foretold. When this question was brought up at the miners' convention, John L. Lewis, international President of the United Mine Workers, who presided, declared it was a matter that could be left to the "sagacity and good judgment of the officers."

Present indications, as observed by the committee and from information obtained from operators, miners, and in Government circles, are that in any event there will be a decline if not an actual stoppage in operations after August 31. Operators and miners alike believe that if there is a cessation of operations, it will be for no such duration as last year, when the mines were closed for nearly six months, and that the ultimate result will be a slight increase in the cost of coal to the consumer and a scarcity, although to a lesser degree of severity than that of last winter. Federal officials, while viewing the situation with deep concern, declare that no stone will be left unturned to prevent a cessation of operations.

The committee found that, based upon the distribution figures of the past five years, Massachusetts is slightly ahead of its average receipts. For instance, the committee was informed that the Hudson Coal Company—one of the largest companies shipping anthracite to New England and the largest shipper over the Boston & Maine and Boston & Albany Railroads, has obtained 89 per cent of its expected production since April 1, the beginning of the coal year. The company has been unable to reach the production it had anticipated because of a labor shortage. This company has shipped 93 per cent of the normal supply to Massachusetts, based on the expected production, which shows that Massachusetts received more than its proportionate amount.

On April 1 of the present year, Massachusetts had only 181,887 tons of domestic anthracite on hand, as compared with 726,611 on April 1 of a year ago. During April and May, Massachusetts received 1,015,955 tons, according to the figures compiled by the State Commission on Necessaries of Life, and the deliveries amounted to 873,709 tons—leaving a balance on hand, as of June 1, amounting to 324,133 tons.

During the coal year from April 1, 1921 to April 1, 1922 the total deliveries in Massachusetts amounted to 2,433,415 tons. Assuming that receipts during June, July and August this year will be at the same rate as during April and May of this year, Massachusetts can expect 1,500,000 more tons of anthracite before September 1. Adding the stock on hand on April 1, 118,887 tons, to the receipts for April and May of 1,015,955 tons, and the expected receipts for June, July and August of 1,500,000 tons, brings the total of 2,697,842 tons as the probable supply on hand in Massachusetts at the time of the expiration of the wage contract between the operators and miners. It will be seen that this supply will represent barely one half of the minimum requirements of the State for the winter months.

If after September 1 there is a decline in production, or a complete cessation of operations for any length of time, the people of Massachusetts will have to depend in part upon the use of substitutes if they are to keep their homes warm.

Citizenship of the World.

Is it not very possible that I may love my own country, without hating the natives of other countries? That I may exert the most heroic bravery, the most undaunted resolution, in defending its laws and liberty, without despising all the rest of the world as cowards and poltroons? Most certainly it is; and if it were not—but why need I suppose what is absolutely impossible? But if it were not, I must own I should prefer the title of the ancient philosopher, viz., a citizen of the world, to that of an Englishman, a Frenchman, an European, or to any other appellation whatever.—Goldsmith.

DALY—At Still River, Mass., on July 2, Thomas A. Daly, in his 63th year.

Chivalrous Grocers.

First on the list of public bodies in England to recognize woman's rights, stands the Worshipful Company of Grocers of the City of London, incorporated by Edward III in 1345.

These gallant grocers not only admitted "sisters of the fraternity" to their guild but even invited ladies who were not members to share in their feasts. This historic company was amalgamated with the pepperers and spicers and for some centuries also included the apothecaries; moreover there is a connection between the Grocers' company and the Bank of England that dates back to the very birth of the Old Lady of Threadneedle Street. It was in Grocers' hall that the governor and company of the Bank of England held their courts between 1694 and 1734.

Alarm Bell for Boiling Milk.

The "lactabell" is a device that rings an alarm when the milk is boiling. The instrument comprises an ordinary bell gong fitted at the top of a tube containing a fusible composition that melts at a temperature equal to the scalding point of milk, or about 154 degrees Fahrenheit. The tube is placed in a sauceman containing cold milk, being hung on the inside of the rim by means of a pair of hooks and the sauceman is then placed on the fire. As soon as the milk reaches scalding point the fusible composition softens and allows a ratchet wheel to move. A strong spring then draws the striker, causing it to strike the gong sharply and warn the housewife to remove the sauceman.

We kin allus tell a pedestrian when he sits down in a cafe 'cause he decides so quickly.—Abe Martin in Indianapolis News.

INSECTS BREED IN MILLIONS

Progeny of Some Flies Might Even Be Counted in Billions, Before the End of One Summer.

The wonderful profusion with which she distributes living things is one of nature's most astonishing feats.

We are accustomed to regard as fairly densely populated with human beings: our own country, for example, contains nearly 50,000,000; China about 400,000,000, and the whole world nearly 2,000,000,000 men, women and children, says London Tit-Bits.

But mankind is one of the smallest of nature's races. A single cupful of pond water may contain more living creatures—not counting microbes or plants—than the entire human population of the earth!

Prof. J. Arthur Thomson has declared that there are at least 2,500,000 different kinds of insects and it is certain that the insects of the world, if all were put into one gigantic scale pan, would easily outweigh the whole of the rest of the population, both human and animal.

The greenfly that destroys our rose-bushes breeds at a stupendous rate. All those we see are females and they give birth every few days to teeming broods of youngsters, which are full-grown in a matter of hours.

Huxley calculated that if the progeny of a single greenfly all survived and bred, they would in one summer outweigh every man, woman and child in China. It is lucky that the greenfly's enemies—chiefly young ladybirds—have appetites sufficient to keep the pest in check.

APPEAL FOR FAIR TREATMENT

How Portugal Makes Her Citizens Thoughtful of the Value of Her Forests.

Travelers in Portugal report that in many places where timber trees are to be found—in woods, parks and gardens—one sees the following inscription, headed "To the Wayfarer."

"Ye who pass by and would raise your hand against me, harken ere you harm me.

"I am the heart of your hearth on the cold winter nights, the friendly shade screening you from the summer sun, and my fruits are refreshing draughts, quenching your thirst as you journey on.

"I am the beam that holds your house, the board of your table, the bed on which you lie, and the timber that builds your boat.

"I am the handle of your hoe, the door of your homestead, the wood of your cradle, and the shell of your coffin.

"I am the bread of kindness and the flower of beauty.

"Ye who pass by, listen to my prayer; harm me not."

Nature's Wonderful Work.

A pair of rats will have 100 young ones in a year, and as the young can breed at the age of four months, the family, including children and grandchildren, would number, if unchecked, 2,012 in a year. It seems that nature first invented ways of letting animals multiply rapidly and then, becoming frightened of her handiwork, devised means for keeping them in check.

But these figures are as nothing when we turn to the lower walks of life. Professor Lorange observed one family of tiny microscopic creatures for five years. These minute things multiply by the simple process of splitting up into two complete living parts, and they do it once every sixteen hours.

During the five years the family produced millions of generations. Had all survived their combined mass would have been 10,000 times as big as that of the earth.

Origin of Welsh Language.

Will some Welshmen claim that the Welsh language was that spoken by Adam and Eve, others more modest only insist that it was one of the original languages spoken at the Tower of Babel. Some cynics admit this, and tell the story of its origin thus:

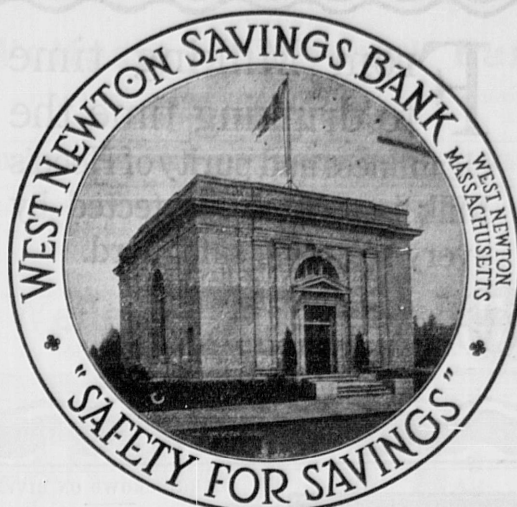

One of the masons at the top of the tower had plenty of mortar but no bricks. The tower had reached such a height that he could not make the man below hear him when he called for more bricks. At last the latter, with wide-open mouth, called up: "What?" Then the mason, exasperated, threw down a trowel of mortar which, lodging in the throat of the man below, resulted in his speaking Welsh for the first time, and accounts for the guttural character of the language.

Secret of Glassware.

It is probable that but few persons who admire the iridescence of ancient glassware know that the prismatic hues displayed are a result of the decay of the glass. When disintegration sets in the substance of the glass splits into exceedingly thin laminae, which, as the sunlight traverses them, give rise to a splendid play of colors. As in the instance of the leaves of a forest, these delicate glasses signalize their approaching dissolution by becoming more beautiful.

Hostelry Famous in History.

Near St. Martin's church, Canterbury, England, is the Ship Inn. According to the London Daily Telegraph, this establishment is to be closed and has been referred by the Canterbury Licensing justices for compensation. The inn dates back to the time of Queen Elizabeth, and a lease dated 1587 was produced in court, showing that in those days the house was let by the corporation to an alderman at the nominal rent of 4d.

—Fourth of July was marked for its wise and jubilant celebration. There was no parade or field day as in former years, but the youngsters made things lively with their powder crackers and torpedoes, etc. There was scarcely a let up, until far into the night.

—Upper Falls beat West Newton in a closely contested game last Saturday. The score was one to nothing in the visitors favor until the very last inning. The local team worked hard and their efforts resulted in a sweep of five runs. There was much cheering and the score stood 5-1, favor of Upper Falls.

DEATH OF MISS BUCKLEY

Miss Mary E. Buckley, the daughter of Mrs. Bridget M. Buckley, died Wednesday at her summer home in New Hampshire after an illness of several weeks.

Miss Buckley was employed as a supervisor for the New England Telephone Company in the Newton North Exchange. She was graduated from the parochial school of Our Lady and Newton High School. She played hockey on the High School team. She was a member of the Catholic Daughters of America and Middlesex Court, M. C. O. F.

NORUMBEGA DISTRICT REPRESENTED

Prof. Herbert C. Mayer, of Auburn-dale, is director of the Older Boy and Older Girl Camp-conferences held this summer at Geneva Point, Lake Win-nesaukee, N. H., conducted by the International Sunday School Council of Religious Education. Representing the Norumbega District at the Older Boy "Camp of the Four-fold Life," now in session, June 26 to July 9, are the following boys: Richard H. Bird, Jr., Anson Dilliver, George Cobb, Earl Burlington, William Henrich.

In the Older Girl Camp-conference, which comes July 24 to August 6, the Norumbega District will be represented by Mary Elizabeth Edmunds, Eleanor Richmond, Edith Mason, Beatrice Fulton, Ruth Erbe, Ann McAnn, Marjorie Meador, Harriette Patey and Ruth Zeigler.

These summer camp-conferences are for boys and girls, over 16 years of age, who are "live wires" in their respective Sunday Schools. They go to camp to have a good time, but also to learn methods for their classes and departments in the Young People's Division of the Sunday School. The camps are limited in their capacity, and only 40 or 45 boys, and about the same number of girls, are allowed there from the State of Massachusetts. The other New England and Atlantic Seaboard States are allowed certain quotas in the attendance.

During the period between the camp conferences, namely from July 9 to 21st, there is held a training school for adult leaders of Sunday School Association work. Prof. Mayer is to teach at this school a course on "Organization and Administration of the Church School." Miss Lulliana Barker, of Watertown, Executive Secretary of the District, is to attend this training school, and to receive a diploma for having completed the four-year summer school course on Sunday School Association work, having taken such courses as "Week-day schools of religion," "How to conduct a Community School of Religious Education," "Church Architecture," "Church organization of Young People's Work," etc.

LANE-HOWE

Beneath an arch of flowers and ferns and before a home full of relatives and friends, Miss Dorice Edith Lane one of Amesbury's popular school teachers and Mr. Frederick John Howe of Newton, Mass. took the vows of holy matrimony at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Lewis Lane, 13 Hillside avenue, Amesbury on Saturday evening.

While the guests were gathering musical selections were rendered by Mr. John Howarth, violinist and Miss Marion Bagley, pianist. At seven o'clock to the stately strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, the bride party led by the ushers, Mr. Leston Holmes of Amesbury and Mr. Harry Tufts of Newton, Mass., followed by Mrs. Alice H. Holmes, sister of the groom, as matron of honor, little Miss Dorothy Betty of Exeter, N. H., cousin of the groom, as flower girl and the bride on the arm of her father, entered the living room, where they met the groom attended by his best man, Mr. William Glover of Newton, Mass.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Wellington G. Pierce, pastor of the First Methodist Church. The double ring service was used. A reception followed, when hearty congratulations and good wishes were extended the newly made bride and groom. Refreshments were served by the Misses Gertrude Phillips, Dorothy True, Ruth Rowden, Mary McGrath,
Marion Dennett and Mrs. Dorothy
Lane of Amesbury, and Misses Mary Dunn and Mildred Lucas of Newton, Mass.

The bride looked charming attired in white georgette, trimmed with lace and rosebuds and carrying a shower bouquet of roses and sweet peas. She was ably supported by her matron of honor clad in a gown of orchid georgette, trimmed with silver and carrying a bouquet of orchids. The house was profusely decorated by Mrs. Jos.
Stevens.

Mrs. Howe is a graduate of the Amesbury High School and of the Fitchburg Normal School and for six years has been a very successful teacher of the public schools of Merrimac, Wakefield and Amesbury.

Mr. Howe is a graduate of Tuck
High School of Exeter, N. H., N. H.
State College and Pace & Pace Institute of Boston. He enlisted in the 20th Engineers at the outbreak of the war and served overseas two years.
He now holds a responsible position as accountant with the United Drug Co. of Boston.

The guest book was in charge of Mrs. Mary MacDonald of Amesbury and Mrs. Emily Betty of Exeter, N. H.
The gift rooms were in charge of Mrs. C. W. Allen, where many beautiful and costly presents were displayed.
The "get-away" offered no small amount of interest in the occasion in which the plans and wits of the bridal couple were pitted against the keenness of the guests, but the guests won out showering the couple with confetti on their way to their decorated (?) auto, which started them on their honeymoon trip, after which they will reside in Newton, Mass.

NEWTON CENTRAL COUNCIL

The new executive secretary of the Newton Central Council, Mr. Arthur Dunham, began work on June 1, and was formally welcomed by the Council at the dinner at the Newton Club, on June 6. Mr. Dunham comes to Newton from Philadelphia, where he had been, for the last three and a half years, Secretary of the Philadelphia Social Service Exchange.

The Council office is temporarily located in the Red Cross room, on second floor at 306 Walnut street, Newtonville (Newton North 2717). Mr.
Dunham is anxious to have the opportunity of getting acquainted with all the organizations in the Council, and with their representatives, during the summer.

The Community Division of the Central Council held an interesting meeting at the West Newton Neighborhood
House on the evening of Wednesday, June 20. In spite of the intense heat, fourteen people represented eight different organizations interested in neighborhood and community work. Brief reports were received from the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Newton Catholic
Club, Newton Y. M. C. A., Stearns School Centre, West Newton Neighborhood House, the Americanization service of the public schools, and the Welfare Bureau.

The amount of juvenile delinquency in certain parts of the city was a matter of general concern, and it was undoubtedly one of the first problems to demand the attention of the Division in the fall.

The Chairman of the Division, Mrs.
Marcus Morton, was requested to appoint a committee to study the question of swimming facilities for women and girls in the city of Newton. Will all stray swimming facilities please apply at once? So far there seem to be "nothing but a strong desire!"

CITY HALL

An interesting and enjoyable character and costume party was held at the home of Miss Sarah Harley on Watertown street, West Newton, on Monday night, by the ladies employed at City Hall. The special guests were Miss Alice M. Wright and Miss Mary E. Smith both of whom were formerly employed at City Hall.

Notice has been received this week of the amounts severally assessed on the city for Metropolitan expenses, as follows. Sewer, $86,383.80; Parks, $57,871.15; Charles River Basin, $10,
434.14; Water, $7,309.44; Weston bridge, $1,375; Fire prevention, $762.
58; Highways, $164.97; Dorchester rapid transit, $48.45. These figures together with a state tax of $189,480 and a county tax of $116,604.36 show an increase of $7,383.82 for all but county expenses and a decrease in the county tax of $3759.73 making a net increase of only $2624.09.

POLICE COURT

Francis S. Boudrot of Waltham, was in Court Monday morning, charged with being drunk and with operating an automobile while he was under the influence of liquor. He pleaded not guilty, but was found guilty by Judge Bacon. The drunk charge was filed and the man was fined $100 for operating.

NEWTON CHORAL SOCIETY

At a meeting held on Friday evening, June 29th, the executive committee of the Newton Choral Society, made tentative plans for the coming year. Rehearsals will be held on Tuesday evenings as usual, beginning October 2nd, and after a Christmas recess, will start on January 8th, in preparation for the Spring concert.

The Fall concert will be held on December eleventh, and the Spring concert on April eighth.

The active membership committee, under the leadership of Mr. F. W. Yelland, is making preparations for a strenuous campaign for new members, and under the direction of Mr. Abtes, the Society looks forward to a successful year.

BRAE BURN CLUB

The first outdoor dance of the season was held at the Brae-Burn Country Club, Saturday night. Canvas was spread on the level spot near the first green, tables were placed around the space reserved for dancing. The spot was lighted with colored bulbs and Chinese lanterns. Weekly dances of this nature will be held for the rest of the summer.

Mr. Thomas A. Dalby, a native and life long resident of this place died Tuesday morning at his summer home in Still River, Mass., from an attack of heart disease.

Mr. Dalby, who was in his 68th year was a widower, his wife having been killed in an automobile accident a few years ago.

He belonged to one of the old families in the city, Dalby street, in Nonantum, having been named for his father, Thomas Dalby, who established the knitting manufacturing establishment on Morse street. Mr. Thomas A. Dalby succeeded his father in the ownership of that Company but later sold out his interest to Mr. Allen Craig.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at his late home, 5 Jewett street, Newton.

DROVE AUTO ASLEEP

John E. Martin of Cambridge, chauffeur for Dr. Herbert P. Jefferson, Brockton, drove all night, July 3, and as a consequence could not keep his eyes open July 4. While rounding the curve on Commonwealth avenue, at Prince street, Wednesday afternoon, he fell sound asleep at the wheel and crashed into Motorcycle Officer Dowling's cycle that was parked in the gutter. Dowling saw the car as it turned dangerously near his wheel and ran out to signal the driver. He just missed being struck by the automobile. The motorcycle was demolished. Martin agreed to settle for the damage.

REAL ESTATE

Commonwealth Ave., Newton Centre, land sale, one of the most important land sales which has taken place in the City of Newton for many years is the transfer by Francis M. Wilson to Fannie J. Jones, et al., of Bar Harbor, Me., and Miami, Fla., of a lot of land at the southwesterly corner of Commonwealth avenue and Mason road, Newton Centre, having a frontage of 170 feet on Commonwealth avenue and about 160 feet on Mason road containing about 17,000 square feet. This is the passing from the market of the last exclusive building lot in this exclusive location of Commonwealth avenue, the purchase price being 50 cents per foot.

The new owners have plans already completed to improve the lot immediately by erecting a modern 3-story brick colonial house with all the modern improvements together with a modern 2-car garage to match the house. On Monday, July 9, the architect's plans will be in the hands of Daniel J. Holmes, the contractor, of Arlington, Mass., who will proceed at once to build. On Mrs. Jones' return about Thanksgiving from an extended European trip she is in hopes that her new mansion will be ready for occupancy. The contract price for the new building is $40,000 above the ground. The above transaction was negotiated through the office of Michael O'Connor, who reports several other large transactions well under way.

DEATH OF MISS FRENCH

Miss Josephine French died at the Newton Hospital, Wednesday, July 4, after several months illness.

She was born in Natick October 9, 1859, the daughter of Leander and Susan Walcott French. Miss French moved to Newton about eleven years ago and shortly after coming here she united with the Eliot Church and has been a faithful worker in both Church and Sunday School. She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Nettie E. Jones of Newton and Mrs. Stone of Natick. Services conducted by the Rev. George S. Butters, D. D., were held in the Eliot Chapel, Thursday afternoon, and burial was in the family lot at Dell Park Cemetery, Natick.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Probate Court, Middlesex, ss. To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, creditors, and all other persons interested in the estate of Emory W. Clark late of Newton in said County, deceased, intestate, WHEREAS a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased to Marion H. Clark of Newton in the County of Middlesex, without giving a surety on her bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the twenty-third day of July A. D. 1928, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And the petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Newton Graphic, a newspaper published in Newton the last publication to be one day, at least, before said Court.

Witness, George F. Lawton, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this third day of July in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three.

MR. FORBUSH RESIGNS

Mr. Walter R. Forbush of Church street, Newton, for eleven years Public Building Commissioner for the City of Newton, retired from that office, June 30, to accept a position as Superintendent of construction for the Architects of the two new school houses of this City. Mr. Forbush served the city faithfully and well for years and his many friends wish him all success in his new position.

BURNS-CRONIN

Miss Mary Cronin of Newton and William Burns of Newtonville, were married Monday evening, July 9, at the Church of Our Lady, Washington street, Newton, by Rev. Fr. Slattery. The maid of honor was Miss Alice Mumford of Somerville, and the best man was Mr. Edward McBride of Newtonville.

After a wedding trip to the White Mountains, Mr. and Mrs. Burns will reside in Newton.

OFFICER PROMOTED

As a result of the Civil Service examination on May 30, Chief Bernard F. Burke, of the Newton Police Department, with the approval of Mayor Edwin O. Childs, has promoted Sergeant John Shaughnessy to the position of lieutenant-detective.

Inspector Shaughnessy was appointed patrolman on the Newton force Nov. 14, 1901, and was assigned to the inspector's department May 14, 1918. In 1920 he was promoted to the position of sergeant-detective.

For nine years Shaughnessy has been on the executive board of the Massachusetts Police Association. Richard Conroy has been assigned to the inspector's department, making a total of three in this section, Lieutenants Richard Goode and Shaughnessy and Inspector Conroy.

NEWTON LAD KILLED

James Ganley the four year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ganley of Winthrop avenue, Newton, was run over and instantly killed on Saturday morning, by one of the two ton trucks used by this city for the collection of ashes.

The truck was operated by Lawrence R. Murphy of Crafts street, Newtonville, and was backing from Winthrop avenue to Newtonville avenue. Neither the driver of the truck nor his helper were aware that the child was in that vicinity, until someone called to the driver that a boy was hanging on behind. Before the helper, who crawled back over the load, could reach him, the little lad lost his hold and fell. One of the rear wheels passed over the boy's head.

The funeral was held from his parents' home, Monday afternoon.

A metropolitan is a man who doesn't care a darn about his neighbors, but is proud of being one of so many. —Evening Telegram.

ROTARY CLUB

Newton promises to be well represented at the big Rotary Club outing at Pemberton Inn, on Wednesday afternoon and evening, July 18, as the result of the visit of David Pfromm, of the Boston Rotary Club, at the weekly meeting of the Newton Rotary Club on Monday. This was held at the Norumbega Park restaurant with luncheon at 12.15 o'clock, followed by an especially interesting and enthusiastic meeting. The attendance was good, President, William T. Halliday presiding.

Hon. Sanford Bates, State Commissioner of the coming out and extended a cordial invitation to the members of the Newton Rotary Club to attend, a sufficient number of those present indicating their intention of doing so to insure a representative Newton delegation. It is already evident that the managing committee is not going to overlook anything that may contribute to the success or pleasure of the event and that the program is so planned that there will be plenty of features that will appeal to all.

Following his invitation to the Newton Rotarians to participate in the coming out, Mr. Pfromm, who is a prominent insurance attorney of Boston and a member of long standing in the Boston Club, spoke interestingly of the spirit of Rotarism, its significance to individual members, and of the wide and rapidly growing influence of the movement, through the altruistic principles and the manner in which these are manifested in the many communities where Rotarism is firmly established.

BUSINESS MEN'S OUTING

Newton Corner Business Men to Hold Outing at Nantasket, July 25th.

Wednesday afternoon and evening, July 25th, is the date set for the annual outing of the merchants. The affair will be held under the auspices of a committee of business men from Newton Corner and all residents, merchants, storekeepers, and clubs from the entire city are invited.

The tickets are three dollars and fifty cents each, and may be purchased from any of the following members of the committee: Harold Moore, Chairman, John T. Burns, W. L. Sampson, Charles E. Mason, William C. Deutscher, Emanuel Bloomberg, Fred Avattaggio, Edgar Burkhardt, Henry K. Rollins, William M. Cahill, Frank Fell, and Frank Temple.

Automobiles will convey the merry-makers from Newton Corner to Nantasket Beach, the squadron leaving Hall and Washington Streets, at the Bank Building, at one o'clock. Arriving at beach, a chicken and lobster dinner will be served at 2.30 sharp, at McPeake's Shore Gardens. Following the dinner a series of games, a ball game, other athletics events including swimming races, etc., will take place. Last year nearly 200 attended and from present indications it is expected that that number will be equalled if not surpassed this year. The committee has had three meetings and everything possible is being done to make the affair the best ever.

The outing will be held rain or shine. The Dinner menu will be as follows: Queen Olives, Rose Radishes, Salted Peanuts, Steamed Duxbury Clams with Drawn Butter, Clam Bouillon, Clam Chowder, New England Style, Saratoga Potatoes, and Half Broiled Spring Chicken on Toast, French Fried Potatoes, Vegetable Salad, Chocolate or Strawberry Ice Cream, Vanilla Cake, American Cheese, Toasted Crackers, Demi Tasse.

Three Great Fears

Three fears walk with men from their work to their homes and sit with them by their firesides at night. They break rudely into conversations of husbands and wives, causing sudden silences. They thrust themselves between the faces of men and their little ones;—three gnawing fears:

MAKER OF MANY EPIGRAMS

Also John Randolph of Roanoke Will Rank as One of the Greatest of America's Sons.

John Randolph of Roanoke, American orator and statesman, died in Philadelphia in 1833, deserted by many of his old-time friends and a physical wreck through the use of opium. Nearing the end he attributed the failure of his life to "ungovernable temper" and he died with the word "remorse" on his lips.

Here are some of Randolph's epigrams: "I am an aristocrat—I love liberty, I hate equality." "Asking one of the states to surrender part of her sovereignty is like asking a lady to surrender part of her chastity." "Stick to a friend a little in the wrong." "No man was ever satisfied to be half a king." "The three degrees of comparison—begging, borrowing and stealing." "Pay as you go" was a political proverb that Randolph started on its rounds. He hung this saying on Martin Van Buren, that "he always rowed to his object with muffled oars." Van Buren was a "gumshoe," in the parlance of the Twentieth century. Of Clay he said, "Clay's eye is on the presidency, but my eye is upon him." Referring to England's naval strength in 1812 and Madison's pamphlet on "neutral rights" Randolph said, "Against 800 ships in commission we enter the lists with a three shilling pamphlet."

HAVE THEIR DISTINCT VOICES

Lovers of the Wild Easily Able to Recognize "Tongues" by Which Trees Speak.

It may not be generally known, but it is perfectly true, that it is quite possible to recognize trees by their voices, though not, of course, so simple a matter as that of identifying birds. In summer, the sounds are produced by the leaves rubbing against each other, and trees with small leaves, like the birch, for instance, speak in much more rapid tones than do the large-leaved chestnuts.

Like the cuckoo, trees change their notes with the seasons. A dry leaf produces a different sound from a soft one. Tennyson the poet mentions the "dry-toned laurels' pattering talk." In autumn all trees have drier leaves than in spring. In winter trees talk through their twigs. Thick branches produce lower notes than thin ones, as Professor Humphreys has pointed out, and when the branches vary in size the range of notes is correspondingly greater. Hence the muffled plaint of the oak and the sibilant sigh of the pines. The murmur of the forest is really the whispings of innumerable voices, each with its own distinctive character, blended into one current of sound.—Montreal Family Herald.

Found Nearsightedness a Boon.
Most persons pity sufferers of myopia, which is a blurring of the vision through nearsightedness. But one victim of the affliction, a theatergoer, says his nearsightedness is a distinct advantage.

"Being a lover of beauty, when I go to the theater I like to see loveliness all about me," he said. "Now, you know that one of the disappointing things you can look at is makeup at close range. Yet we all like to sit close enough to the stage to hear clearly."

"Through my nearsightedness the garishness of the paint is softened and I see only a becoming glow on the cheeks of the players. When my friends have told me of unbecomingly things they have seen upon the stage I have felt grateful that my eyes are slightly dulled by myopia."—New York Sun.

Original "United States."

There were only 13 original colonies, and New York state has never been included in New England. The "Thirteen United Colonies" that sent delegates to the Continental congress on September 13, 1775, and afterward called themselves the "United States" were Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Hampshire, New York, New Jersey, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia, Pennsylvania, Delaware and Maryland. The colony of Maine belonged to Massachusetts and Vermont was claimed both by New Hampshire and New York. Vermont was admitted into the Union as the fourteenth state on March 4, 1791. The New England states are Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Hampshire, Vermont and Maine.

Natural Curiosity.

A natural curiosity is the "Devil's Well" in Washington, 35 miles north of Spokane. This well is a cylindrical shaft, 40 feet in diameter, sunk by some natural agency in solid basalt rock on a mountain top. The water level varies according to atmospheric conditions, the average being about 30 feet below the mouth of the well. The swirling water with logs floating on its surface is said to inspire a feeling of awe as one stands at the brink and looks along the smooth, sheer walls into its blue depths.

Flowers and Love.

Ever dear to the lover have been the fancies woven around flowers and the charms they were held to exercise in the profession of love. For instance, to discover the initials of a future lover's name you were only supposed to go and cut a bracken stem, and the initials would be found there. How long you would wait before wedlock was ascertained by blowing the clocks of the dandelion—just as children today by the same means tell the hours.

ODD BELIEF FIRMLY ROOTED

Bushmen, Who Should Know Better, Insist Puff Adder Can Make Long-Distance Jump.

One of the greatest causes for dread to be found in the African jungle is "snakes" and every camp fire brings to light fresh stories of reptile terrors.

There is one camp tale that supplies more thrills even than the Koster caves, and that is snakes. You have only to say "snakes," and as though you said "ptsas" to a pack of keen dogs, everyone at the "rondit" is off on full tongue after mambas, cobras, ringhals, shaa-pstickers, puff-adder, and python; and of all the yarns that are related, says a well-known traveler, I swear nothing will beat the absolutely rooted belief that a puff-adder can and does jump backwards over a full-sized tent wagon! A man has told me with evident sincerity that he has "seen it." Yes! He has seen four feet of puff-adder that is built on lines of immobility—spring backwards and spring ten feet high! However, every puff-adder I have had the honor to meet declined, even at the threat of death, to spring an inch. What he did was to anchor three parts of his bloated body on the ground, and then lunge with the fourth part. His reach might be a foot, and as his fangs are long and curved he gives the appearance of "striking backwards" because the head is lifted to bring the long fangs into position. An active puff-adder, very angry, can exert itself to strike, prepare, and strike again—thus covering, say, two feet in two swift lunges. The idea that this sluggish reptile can spring clear of the ground is ridiculous, yet it prevails among a class of men whose business takes them into the veldt, and who are proud of their observation powers.

RELIC OF SPANISH ARMADA?

Anchor Fished Up Off Scottish Coast
Is Thought to Be Three Centuries Old.

Not long ago the crew of an English trawler engaged in lobster fishing, near Kinsale, had great difficulty in getting their anchor aboard. It was firmly fixed in some massive, hard substance in the sand bank.

When at last they succeeded in bringing it to the surface, there was attached to it a very ancient anchor, five tons in weight, the shank being over ten feet long and the bend of equal proportions. Fastened to the anchor was a small cannon.

This anchor, which probably belonged to one of the ships of the Spanish armada, wrecked on this coast, has become covered with marine matter, and this, in the three centuries during which it had been embedded in the sand, had been converted into a rocky fossil substance.

The anchor is, of course, considerably worn, but it still presents a very massive appearance, and must have belonged to a very large ship.

Tennis Under Difficulties.

Tennis in the South Sea Islands is not as delightful as it might be, although it has its ardent devotees. Play usually commenced in the alleged "cool" of the evening. The players wore shirts and a vest, nothing else, and with inch-thick rubber glued to the soles of their shoes by way of protection against the heat and hardness of the courts. In five minutes everybody would be a mere dripping rag of profuse perspiration. But no matter, it was tennis, though arguments across the nets seemed the player's strongest point. One of these resulted in a bet as to who would win a game played in diver's helmet and boots, respectively. It was put to the test with the utmost gravity and resulted in a dead heat, the man in the helmet being unable to see through his three glass windows quickly enough to take the ball, and the booted competitors being unable to move.

Long Trip for Tomatoes.

John Bull grows some tomatoes but not nearly enough for his demands so that he depends upon the outside fields. The growing of tomatoes forms the largest industry in the Canary Islands, and the manner in which the fruit is consigned to foreign markets is a tribute to the efficiency of the shippers. Owing to the long journey overseas the tomatoes have to be picked when they are turning from green to yellow and they ripen on the voyage. Long years of experience have taught the growers exactly when to gather their crops for consumption abroad, and although the fruit has not the same delicate flavor possessed by home grown, they are received in England in great quantities between the regular seasons.—Chicago Tribune.

WROUGHT WONDERS IN STONE

Work of Architects of the Twelfth Century Stand as a Challenge to the World.

The most laboriously wrought stone carving in the world, the temple of Chenna Kesava, at Belur, India, was built in the twelfth century to celebrate the conversion to Vishnuism of a Jain ruler. Fergusson says of this particular temple: "The amount of labor which each particular facet of this porch displays is such as never was bestowed on any surface of equal extent in any building in the world."

Another masterpiece of sculptured stone, at Hullabid, India, ten miles from Belur, is greatly ruined now, and many of its gems have been removed to the museum at Bangalore. When intact it was the finest specimen of Indian art in existence. This column is one of the most marvelous exhibitions of human labor to be found even in the patient East—far surpasses anything in Gothic art. The effects are said to be just what the medieval architects were aiming at, but which they never attained so perfectly as was done at Hullabid. Fergusson further says, placing the Hullabid temple and the Parthenon in Athens as the two extremes of architecture: "It would be possible to arrange all the buildings of the world between these two extremes, as they tended toward the severe intellectual purity of the one or the playful, exuberant fancy of the other; but perfection, if it existed, would be somewhere near the mean."

HELD IN MUD FOR CENTURIES

Delicate Organisms Have Been Wonderfully Preserved During the Up-building of the World.

Fragments of a colony of marine animals on a slab of black rock, with many trilobites (dark) and shells of the Sidney crab (light), were discovered by C. D. Walcott on Mount Wapta. These creatures lived before the day of the fish or any other vertebrate animal, and when land plants, and even marine vegetable life, were almost unrepresented. Other animals of the sea, however, existed in great profusion, and here and there conditions were so favorable for their burial in the mud and sand of the Cambrian sea that they were preserved unbroken, and throughout all the processes of rock-making and mountain-building escaped destruction.

In one of these favorable places in the Canadian Rockies the most delicate of organisms, like the jelly fish, have been so exquisitely preserved that one can hardly realize that they were buried in the mud fifteen to twenty million years ago, and have remained undisturbed while several miles of thickness of sediment were deposited over them, changed into rock, elevated into mountain masses, and later eroded into the present mountains and canyons.

China's Sacred Mountains.

Thousands of pilgrims come every year from all parts of China to visit the shrines and temples of the sacred mountain of Hunan, Nan Yoh Shan, one of the five sacred peaks of China. Early in October more than 10,000 pilgrims arrive daily. Some of the pilgrims travel from their homes on foot, coming great distances. They kneel and bow their heads down to the little stools, which they carry in their hands, every five, seven or ten steps, according to the vow they have made. At one end of the stools are made sticks of incense, the burning of which is part of their worship.

DEATH OF MRS. STICKNEY

Mrs. Annie May Stickney, widow of Harry D. Stickney, died at the home of her daughter, on Plymouth road, Newton Highlands, Sunday, July 8. She was born in Charlestown in 1849.

Mrs. Stickney is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Edgar B. Hanson. Services conducted by the Rev. George G. Phipps were held at her home, Wednesday, July 11. Burial was at Mt. Auburn.

Mrs. Alexander Doyle of Linwood avenue, has gone to New York for a brief visit.

Mr. Pollman, the wood-work instructor of the Frank A. Day Junior High School has opened a camp in New Hampshire and a number of boys in this vicinity have enrolled for the summer. The camp is called the Frank A. Day Camp.

Charles Hughes, 75 years old, of 139 Galen street, fell unconscious at the corner of Centre and Carlton streets, about 7 P. M., Tuesday evening. Mr. Hughes was just out for an evening stroll when he fell. John Daynor, 19 Adams street, Waltham, took Mr. Hughes to the Newton Hospital in an auto but the authorities there pronounced him dead on arrival. Medical Examiner West viewed the body and said death was due to natural causes. Mr. Hughes retired from business about 15 years ago.

NORUMBEGA FOLLIES

The Norumbega Follies, which will hold forth for the entire week commencing August 6th, are soon to be a reality, in less than two weeks over eighty applications have been received from ambitious local amateurs who appreciate this opportunity offered by the management of Norumbega Park to display their musical and theatrical talents. In an affair of this kind the girls usually outnumber the male applicants two to one. At the present time four more entries have been received from young men than from the "more deadly species." However a large and very attractive chorus is being built up from girls who possess an unexpected amount of talent, and apparently considerable experience.

Miss Maude Scott who has produced Local "Follies" for some of the largest theatres in and around Boston is assembling a fun making-care chasing aggregation.

All local girls and boys who feel that they can sing, dance, play musical instruments, or otherwise make good on the stage now have a chance to prove it and to share in the hundred dollars to be distributed as prizes to the ones proving most popular, and with no expense as all costumes will be furnished to those taking part.

POLICE NOTES

Patrolmen Elliot, Carley and Goddard, while walking along Ward street, Chestnut Hill, about 10 o'clock Wednesday night, heard a rustling in shrubbery in the rear of the house of F. H. Montgomery, 255 Commonwealth avenue.

They found two men there. One despite a shot fired at him, escaped. The other, Joseph Kline, 34, of 42 Waltham street, Boston, was arrested on a charge of breaking and entering. The Montgomerys reported that practically every room in the house had been ransacked. Kline had no stolen goods on his person.

CITY HALL

Dr. Francis Curtis is on a business trip to New York.

A truck belonging to the Watertown Coal Company and driven by Robert Frost was in collision Wednesday afternoon, at the junction of School and North Beacon streets, Watertown, with a small car driven by Alderman George M. Heathcote. The small car was badly damaged, but no one was hurt.

$25,000 IN PUBLIC BEQUESTS

By the will of the late William Blodgett of Chestnut Hill, which has been filed for probate in the East Cambridge Court, public bequests as follows have been made: The sum of $5000, each to the Boston Dispensary; the Episcopal Mission, Boston; the South End House Association, Boston; the Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge; and to Wellesley College.

SOMETHING NEW IN GASOLINE STATIONS

The corner of Beacon Street and Langley Road in Newton Centre, which has long been occupied by an old frame building has at last been beautified by one of the most elaborate and complete Filling Stations in New England.

The whole corner has been opened up so as to set off the square and make it safe for pedestrians as well as motorists. The lighting system avoids glare and still the entire corner is bright and attractive at night.

The Colonial Filling Stations, Inc., have surely planned carefully to build a station that would meet every requirement of the motorists. The large building with its imposing copper dome is architecturally beautiful and complete in every detail. It is a real improvement to the prominent corner it occupies in Newton Centre. There is a rest room and toilet for women with white enamel fixtures, a finely furnished office and a toilet for men. Road maps, drinking water with sanitary cups and a telephone have been installed for the convenience of patrons.

Outside there is a wide covered drive where cars can be filled with gas and oil without exposure to storms of sun. The gasoline pumps are operated by air pressure which will fill your tank much quicker than the old hand power method. A bell rings as each gallon leaves the pump so you may know just how much you are getting without leaving your seat.

Free air and water can be had from swinging hoses on towers along the drives so that you can easily help yourself should the attendant be too busy to assist you. But you will generally find that these wants will be anticipated and cared for without your asking.

In fact it is the policy of the company to anticipate the needs of their patrons in every way possible. Their men are carefully schooled in these matters and are hired with the distinct understanding that courtesy to customers at all times is essential. You can send your wife or children to their station with absolute assurance that they will receive courteous and fair treatment—full and accurate measure and products of the highest quality.

A special feature of this station is the oil-rack on which cars can be run to empty and fill crank cases while you wait. There is no charge for this service excepting the cost of the oil. The change can be made in a surprisingly short time.

Colonial Gasoline is made by an independent refinery within 15 miles of Newton Centre to comply with a rigid formula to produce quick starting, ample power and a wide range of flexibility. It has a very low carbon content. Made by New Englanders to meet New England conditions.

The Colonial people also claim that their Beacon Motor Oils will lubricate your car most efficiently in the coldest weather as well as in the summer. It is clean and clear, free from carbon. It is the earnest hope of the management that Newton Motorists will feel free to visit this station at any time even though they do not need gas or oil, but only wish road information, free air or water. These things are provided for the benefit of the public.

DEATH OF MR. J. E. LYNCH

Mr. J. Eugene Lynch, who until his retirement within a year, was a partner in the Boston firm of Lynch & Woodward, heating and ventilating contractors, died suddenly Tuesday morning at his home at 251 Grant avenue, Newton Centre, where he had lived since 1918. Mr. Lynch had been about almost until the time of his death and had played golf within the past week at the Wollaston Golf Club links, where he had been a member. He was sixty-four years old.

He was born in Windham, Conn., where he spent his early life until as a young man he went to Chicago to go into the steamfitting business. Thirty-five years ago he came to Boston and went into partnership with James W. Woodward, with whom he continued in active business until last July, when both of them retired, leaving the business to be conducted by others under the name of Lynch & Woodward Company, Inc. The firm had a wide reputation and installed heating and ventilating systems in many of the largest buildings in the Eastern part of the United States.

For many years Mr. Lynch resided in the Elm Hill district of Roxbury. He had a keen interest in rifle and trap shooting. He had travelled widely in the United States and abroad and for several years had spent his winters at Miami, Fla. Last winter he was at Porto Rico. His wife died in December, 1921, and because of that he abandoned a plan for making a trip around the world. Surviving Mr. Lynch are two daughters, Mrs. Baldwin Field of Newton, and Mrs. George D. MacPherson of Newtonville; also a son, Eugene E. Lynch, a brother, John Lynch of Chicago, and a sister, who lives at Windham, Conn.

The funeral was held Thursday morning from his late home with a high mass of requiem at the Church of the Sacred Heart, Rev. Fr. T. A. Curtin officiating. The burial was at Holyhood Cemetery, Brookline.

The Quivering Earth.

It has been pointed out that, in addition to the many tremors due to seismic, or earthquake, influences, which modern delicate instruments detect, there are certain pulsations which seem to have some other origin. Some of these are diurnal, and are probably due to the influence of the sun and the weather on the ground. In wet weather the sides and bottom of a valley carry a heavier load than the bounding ridges; in dry weather the case is reversed. Even the transpiration of moisture by plants may produce perceptible effects upon the tilth of the ground. Thus the face of mother earth is almost as sensitive to external influences as the skin of a living creature.—Exchange.

Devotion's Temple.

The secret heart is fair devotion's temple; there the saint, even on that living altar, lights the flame of purest sacrifice, which burns unquenched, accepted.—Hannah More.

Young Men

High School and College Graduates

Men of foresight and judgment who desire to follow a business career realize the advantage to be gained by specializing in some one department of business administration. They also realize that a school which specializes in its efforts to train men for a business career, can do more effective work than one which generalizes.

The following statistics concerning our graduates were compiled during the period from April 24 to May 10, 1923:

Day Class Graduates
Year Graduated	Average Age at Graduation	Number	Com'l Accounting	Public Accounting	Teaching	Other Lines
1921*	22	74	49	15	3	7
1922	22	119(a)	88	17	6	12
Totals		193	137*	32	3	19

(a) One in hospital and one unemployed. (b) One deceased. (c) One unemployed.

*Includes five employed in the Income Tax Unit, Internal Revenue Dept., U. S. Government.

Average age of day graduates at time of entering School, 20 years. Youngest, 17 years. Oldest, 44 years.

Average age of evening graduates at time of entering School, 24 years. Youngest, 18 years. Oldest, 57 years.

The average beginning salary of our day graduates compares favorably with the average beginning salary of graduates in engineering, law, medicine, and other professions.

The majority of our evening graduates were experienced when entering the School, at which time their average salary was less than that of day graduates during the first year of employment. The remarkable increase in the salaries of evening graduates is largely the result of the training obtained at this School, thus demonstrating the possibilities for graduates through our training and the accumulation of practical experience.

This is the largest professional school of college grade in the world devoted exclusively to the training of accountants. Enrollment for past year 2295.

Day courses require 2 years for completion. Tuition $200 per year.

Evening courses require 4 years.

SLIPPED AWAY FROM ARREST

Quaker's Explanation That It Would Have Been Inconvenient at the Time Is Humorous.

A story dating from our Civil war has just been retold by Earl Russell, grandson of Lord John Russell, the great Victorian statesman, in his "My Life and Adventures." A Philadelphia lawyer named Rosegarten was a colonel in the Northern army and was dispatched to arrest John Janney, a Quaker, who had signed the Virginia act of secession. He found them all at a "meeting," so he just sat down and said: "I don't want to disturb your meeting, but I warn you that at the end of it, it is my duty to arrest John Janney." One of them arose and said: "Will thee t-b-ke off thy hat?" "No," he replied, "It is a Friends' meeting." "Yes, thy hat is a military hat." So he took it off, and his sword also, after some demur, and one of the Friends took them out. After an hour or so, the meeting was over. "Now," he said, "I must remind you that I want John Janney. Pray stand up." About twenty of them stood up. "Non-sense," he said, "I want the John Janney you signed, etc." "Oh, that John Janney," they replied, "why he took out thy hat an hour ago." He added that after the war John Janney came and called on him to apologize for slipping away, but said it would really have been very inconvenient for him to have been arrested just then.—San Francisco Argonaut.

EARLY DISCOVERY OF AMERICA

Northmen Said to Have Known of the Great Continent Long Before Columbus Was Born.

It is said by persons who have given attention to the subject that the Northmen were well acquainted with the east coast of North America nearly 500 years before the first celebrated voyage of Columbus. It is said to have been accidentally discovered by an Icelandic navigator, while endeavoring to make the coast of Greenland, in the year 1001. From that time, for about 350 years, the intercourse of the Icelandic Normans with Holluland (Newfoundland), Markland (Nova Scotia), and Vinland (New England), was frequent and intimate. No other European people have been so scrupulously correct in keeping their records as the Scandinavians, and the accounts of these early voyages, which have been handed down from the period in which they were made, are most particular and circumstantial—more so, indeed, than those of the Spanish adventurers who followed Columbus.

All intercourse of these Northmen with America seems to have ceased about the middle of the Fourteenth century. This fact is as extraordinary and inexplicable as that, about the same time, or soon after, they disappeared in like manner from the west coast of Greenland.

Sees No Change in Weather.

A scientist says the sun has not cooled five degrees in a thousand million years. This may be true, but our recollection is that a thousand million years ago the summers were much hotter and drier than they are now. A thousand million years ago the heat was so intense we couldn't sleep nights; even in our favorite northern resorts a palm beach suit felt like a winter overcoat. The mercury used to break the necks of the thermometers. In those days they used to deliver ice at nights, because it was impossible to transport it in the daytime. A 25-pound cake of ice in a trip from the wagon to the back door, if the sun were shining, would be changed into a kettle of boiling water. Only five degrees cooler in a thousand million years—the man has grown forgetful!—Detroit Free Press.

Some Consolation.

The guest found the bride's biscuit rather heavy. They kept forcing them on him, and he kept nibbling at them. But he slid several into his side pocket. The bride saw this and so did her husband. Of course they were too polite to say anything. However, as soon as the guest had departed, the bride began to whimper.

"Cut out the weeps, dearie," counseled her husband. "Take it as a compliment. With those biscuits he doubtless intends to conduct some important experiments from which we may all reap fame and fortune. He's a noted road builder."

Women and Others.

"Women who are useless as wives often make excellent housekeepers." "A woman judges the merit of a play by the sartorial hints which it offers, a man by the number and length of the intervals." "Never make the mistake of taking family squabbles seriously. Mutual abuse is a privilege which is much esteemed in the home." "Between the ages of fifty and sixty a man is a devil of a fellow—after dinner. At breakfast time he is just the devil."—From the Relations of Harlequin by Stori Semper.

Strange Experience.

While visiting at the home of my nephew, his little sons gave me some freshly gathered nuts. When I got home, my mother, without mentioning it to anyone, put them away. She died suddenly soon after. Later I hunted everywhere for the nuts, but failed to find them. That night, as plainly as if she were at my bedside, I heard her say, "If you will look on the swing shelf at the foot of the cellar steps, you will find the nuts." They were there.—Exchange.

MADE ENEMIES BY HIS PEN

Voltaire, Great French Writer, Twice Sent to the Bastille for Attacks on Government.

Jean Francois Marie Arouet, who is better known by his assumed name of Voltaire, owed much of his grace in society to the celebrated French courtesan, Ninon de L'Enclos. He was also indebted to her for a substantial legacy which was his upon her death.

Voltaire early came into conflict with the government and it was his pen which got him into the predicament. It is recorded, Louis XIV had died and the duke of Orleans was appointed regent during the minority of the young successor to the throne. Voltaire improved the opportunity to write a sarcastic piece about the regent, and for his trouble he was arrested and thrown into the Bastille. On his release his play "Oedipe" was produced and soon after governmental quarrels landed the man of letters in the Bastille again.

On his second release from prison Voltaire journeyed to England. Upon his return he devoted himself to writing and to commercial pursuits, which enabled him to live in ease the remainder of his life.

As the years passed Voltaire became bitter in his attacks upon the church and he became thoroughly hated by the clergy. When he died in 1778 the cure of St. Sulpice refused him burial.

HELD RED MEN AS SLAVES

Puritans Had No Scruples in Thus Employing the Enemies They Captured in Battle.

The Indian captives in early Massachusetts wars were divided in lots and assigned to housekeepers. Even the gentle Roger Williams once wrote for "one of the drove of Adam's degenerate seed" to serve as his slave.

Rev. Peter Thatcher of Milton, Mass., bought an Indian in 1673 for £5 down and £5 more at the end of the year—a high-priced servant for the times. One of her duties was to take care of the Thatcher infant. Shortly after the purchase, the reverend gentleman made this entry in his diary:

"Came home and found my Indian girl had liked to have knocked my Theodorah on the head by letting her fall. Whereupon I took a good walnut stick and beat the Indian to purpose till she promised to do so no more."

The Puritans sold Indian captives as slaves to the West Indies. King Philip's wife and child were thus sold and died there. Their story was told in scathing language by Edward Everett.

Economic Ingenuity.

An English Jew, successful in a business deal in New York, wrote the following message to his wife: "Business successful; £3,000 profit; sail tomorrow on the Majestic. Arrive Liverpool 25th; home early same evening. Your loving husband, JACOB."

Jacob, however, was appalled when he found the cost per word and set at work to reduce the length of the message. He reasoned as follows: Rachel would notice that the cable was from New York and, having no friends there, would know it must be from Jacob. She would know, too, that he would not cable unless he had been successful. She would remember that he had expected to make £3,000. She would guess that he would take the first boat and that she could identify that from the shipping office. Finally she would think there was something wrong if he was not her "loving husband." So in the end Jacob's telegram consisted of Rachel's name and address only.—Chicago Daily News.

Ancient Roadbuilders.

Herodotus tells us that in Egypt a great king built a magnificent road across the sands for the transportation of materials for the Pyramids, employing for this purpose 100,000 men for a period of ten years. This road was built of massive stone blocks and was lined on both sides with mausoleums, statues and temples. Traces of what may have been a part of this ancient highway are today found near the great Pyramids and comprise what is probably the oldest remains of a road surfaced with stone. Early historians write of wonderful roads radiating from the city of Babylon about 2000 B. C. and running to Susa, Ecbatana, Sardis and Nineveh, as having been paved with brick. The ancient Persians, Assyrians, Carthaginians, Chinese and Peruvians were all renowned road-builders. Their works, however, have passed away.

Great Poet's Limitations.

One incident from "The Home Life of Swinburne," by Mrs. Clara Watts Dunton:

"His intelligence was so confined to pretty and imaginative literature that even the mechanism of a soda water syphon was beyond him."

"When for the first time I manipulated one in his presence, he gazed fixedly at me, evincing considerable apprehension for my safety."

"I succeeded in releasing a gentle stream into my glass."

"When I stopped, he said with an accent of admiration and surprise, 'How cleverly you did that; I couldn't have done it.'"

Still, the poet who can turn on the really sparkling liquid of verse has his compensations for mechanical handicaps.

FIRST BLUE-STOCKING CLUB

Association Said to Have Originated in Venice, Though It Is Credited to England.

The expression "Blue Stocking" is applied, sometimes a trifle scornfully, to a woman who is unusually learned. The term originated in Venice when in 1400 a society was formed of ladies and gentlemen calling themselves "della calza"—all the members of the society being distinguished by the wearing of blue stockings. The idea was taken up in Paris and became the rage among the lady savants of that city. From France it came to England in 1780 when Mrs. Montague displayed the badge of the Blue-Stocking club at her assemblies. Mr. Stillingfleet, a constant attendant of the soirees, went by the name of Blue-Stockings. Boswell in his life of Dr. Samuel Johnson tells something of the first of the blue stockings in England, and although he writes as if the club had originated in England instead of Venice, his account is interesting. He says: "One of the most eminent members of those societies, when they first commenced was Mr. Stillingfleet, whose dress was remarkably grave and in particular it was observed that he wore blue stockings. Such was the excellence of his conversation that his absence was felt as so great a loss that it used to be said: 'We can do nothing without the blue stockings,' and thus by degrees the title was established." Boswell concludes by saying that "Doctor Johnson was prevailed with to come sometimes into these circles, and did not think himself too grave even for the lively Miss Merton (a prominent member of the society)."

FEW WALK IN STRAIGHT LINE

Physical Imperfections Cause Pedestrians to Take a Zigzag Course in Their Journeys.

How do you walk? Do you proceed in a straight line or zigzag from side to side? If you watch a number of pedestrians you will find that nine out of ten bear to the right, return to their proper course, and then start swerving to the right again. This is because our right leg is more fully developed and stronger than our left. A left-handed person usually swerves to the left in walking, for in his case the left side is the more powerful. If a man is slightly deaf in his left ear he will swerve to the left. If his other ear is affected he will go in the opposite direction. This is because the deaf step slightly on the side on which they can hear least. Short-sighted people will swerve to the side on which they have their worst eye. Even people who are perfectly well physically and whose bodies are evenly developed zigzag in their walk. This is because their thoughts wander and their legs have not sufficient guidance.

Hated.

This is no place for preachment, but we just heard a girl say of another: "I hate her so it makes me sick!" That's about all hatred will do for you, dearie; and it won't even touch the object of your hatred. There's nothing that makes a girl uglier than hatred. If for no other reason, you might consider your good looks, and, if you can't like a person, at least save yourself by just forgetting that she exists. I'm writing this so I can clip it out and mail it to you, Little Lady; and maybe some other girls who hate people until it makes them sick will think it over, as you will when the ugly lines of hatred turn all your friends distrustful. —Richmond Times-Dispatch.

High Turkish Dignitaries.

In Turkey, the supreme head of the ulemas or interpreters of the Koran, and the officer next in importance and dignity to the grand vizier, was the grand mufti. He was the chief spiritual authority, and in that capacity called sheik-el-Islam (lord of the faith). The grand mufti was chosen by the Sultan, who presented him with a vest of rich sables and granted him a salary of about $25 a day. He alone had the honor of kissing the sultan's left shoulder, and enjoyed the special prerogative of girding him with the sword on his ascension to the throne.

No Other Way Out.

A banker many of whose clients had suffered from the deflation put great reliance in a certain tale as a clinching argument to crippled firms. It was about a man who was telling his son a bedtime story about an alligator. It was creeping up behind a turtle, with its mouth wide open. Finally it was within reach, but just as its great jaws were snapping shut, the turtle made a spring, ran up a tree, and escaped. "Why, father," said the boy, "how could a turtle climb a tree?" "By gosh," replied the father, "he had to."

Proved Unworthy of Love.

He was nine and I was six. He always escorted me to school, for he said I was his girl and he was going to take care of me. One day we stopped by the roadside to pick flowers and happened to step on a bumblebee's nest. The angry bees darted straight for me and I ran toward my protector, crying, "Throw your coat over my head quick!" My love for him died when he angrily screamed back, "Get away from me, with your bees," and ran off, leaving me to my fate. —Chicago Journal.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Middlesex, ss. Land Court. PETITION TO DISCHARGE MORTGAGE UNDER CHAPTER 249, SECTION 15 OF THE GENERAL LAWS OF MASSACHUSETTS.

TO THE HONORABLE THE JUDGES OF THE LAND COURT, FOR THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

Respectfully represents John T. Burns, Junior, of Newton, and Commonwealth aforesaid, that he is the present owner of a certain parcel of land, situated in that part of said Newton, called Newton Highlands, and bounded and described as follows: Northernly by the Cohasset aqueduct; Southernly by land now or formerly of Gilbert A. Tapley, and by land now or formerly of Ellen J. McCallum; Easterly by land now or formerly of Ellen J. McCallum, the end of Forest Street, by land now or formerly of Martha G. Nash, and by land now or formerly of Freeman Putney; Westerly by Mountford Road, land now or formerly of Mary G. Dwight, and land now or formerly of Daniel W. Richardson, containing about three acres, exclusive of Sudbury River Conduit. Excepting from the above described premises, so much thereof as is owned by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and used for the Sudbury River Conduit, which crosses the said premises.

Being the same premises conveyed to said Burns by deed of Emma C. Ayres, Administratrix, dated and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 4557, Page 495. That the record title to said land is clouded by a mortgage from Albert B. Putney to Edward L. Collins, dated January 31, 1920, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 1555, Page 48, Assignment to Newton Savings Bank, recorded Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 1558, Page 139, purported to secure a note for twenty-five hundred dollars ($2500.00), which mortgage is undischarged and unenforced on and by the records.

That he is informed, and therefore believes that the condition mentioned in said mortgage has been fully performed according to the terms thereof.

That for more than twenty years after the expiration of the time limited for the full performance of said condition, no petition has been made and no other act done in recognition of said mortgage.

That the mortgage and those claiming under him have been in uninterrupted possession of said land for more than twenty years after the time limited in said mortgage for the full performance thereof.

WHEREFORE your petitioner prays that the said mortgage may be discharged of record, and for such other decrees in the premises as to the Court may seem proper under the provisions of Section 15, Chapter 249, of the General Laws.

By His Attorney, JAMES P. GALLAGHER.

A True Copy, Attest, CLARIETTE C. SMITH, Recorder.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Middlesex, ss. Land Court. (Seal) Case No. 1582, Misc.

Upon the foregoing petition, it is ordered that the petitioner give notice to all persons interested in said petition to appear before the Land Court, at East Cambridge, within ten days after the date of said petition, and answer to the petition, and to the answers may be filed with the Registrar of Deeds for said Middlesex County, as Assistant Recorder of said Court, on the first Monday of August next, by causing a true and attested copy of said petition and this order to be published forthwith once a week, for three successive weeks, in the Newton Graphic, a newspaper published in Newton in said County of Middlesex, the last publication to be four days at least before said first Monday of August next; by serving each respondent within the Commonwealth with a like attested copy of said petition and order by registered mail, or by personal delivery, at least before said first Monday of August next; and by any event fourteen days at least before said first Monday of August next, that all respondents may then and there show cause why the prayer of said petition should not be granted.

By the Court, Attest, CLARIETTE C. SMITH, Recorder.

Dated, July 3, 1929. A True Copy, Attest, CLARIETTE C. SMITH, Recorder. July 6-13-20.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Middlesex, ss. Probate Court. To the heirs-at-law, next of kin and all other persons interested in the estate of WILLIAM T. ISAAC late of Newton in said County, deceased.

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, Probate, by Edward L. Harris and Old Colony Trust Company who pray that letters testamentary may be issued to them, the executors therein named, without giving a surety on their official bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge in said County of Middlesex, on the eighteenth day of July, A. D. 1929, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioners are hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing a newspaper published in Newton the last publication to be one day, at least, before said Court, and by mailing post-paid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Lawton, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this twenty-fifth day of June in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three.

F. M. ESTY, Register. June 29-July 6-13.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Middlesex, ss. Probate Court. To the heirs-at-law, next of kin and all other persons interested in the estate of MARGARET A. SULLIVAN late of Newton in said County, deceased.

WHEREAS, certain instruments purporting to be the last will and testament—memorandum—of said deceased have been presented to said Court, Probate, by David H. Fulton who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, without giving a surety on his official bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge in said County of Middlesex, on the sixteenth day of July, A. D. 1929, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing a newspaper published in Newton the last publication to be one day, at least, before said Court, and by mailing post-paid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

OWL "STOOPS TO CONQUER"

Only Two Lessons Needed to Teach Dog the Wisdom of Leaving the Bird Unmolested.

Not long ago, writes a contributor, I learned of the tactics of a certain owl in defending itself that were both amusing and interesting. Whether the method is common among owls, I do not know; the bird practiced it on more than one occasion.

The owl was a great big-headed creature captured in the woods and tied with a rope to a stake in the yard. Its enemy was the dog, which seemed to think that it was a common fowl. Of course the thing to do was to bark and to frighten it into flight. But barking had no effect whatever except to make the dreadful eyes glow more brightly and to produce a sort of sharp snapping that seemed to come from the bill, which was almost hidden among the feathers. After some time the dog made a fierce run.

Not a move did the owl make. Not a feather twitched; but the eyes glowed like fire, and snap, snap went the bill. Suddenly just as the dog came close the bird went over on its back in a heap. It was an undignified position surely, but there was a purpose in it.

The dog, assuming that the strange bird had fallen upon the ground in fright, dashed up and thrust his nose among the feathers. Instantly steel-like claws, sharp as knives, fastened upon him and with a yell of terror and pain he tore loose and ran for his life. Solemn and apparently harmless stood the owl as before.

It was too much for the dog. Another rush brought him again within reaching distance of the strange enemy. Once more the bird fell on its back, and once more the dog thrust his nose into the feathers only to feel the cruel talons sink into his tender nose; with a yelp he fled. From the shelter of the porch he viewed the strange bird—no longer a dignified barn fowl, but a dreadful monster to be let absolutely alone.—Youth's Companion.

ALWAYS RACE OF WARRIORS

Roman Historian Paid Tribute to the Fighting Qualities of the Picts
Early in History.

Picts is the name by which, for five and a half centuries—296 to 844 A. D.—the people that inhabited eastern Scotland, from the Forth to the Pentland firth, were known. In certain chronicles they are styled Picti, Pictones, Pictores, or Picardi—all forms of the same root; but sometimes the native Gaelic name of Cruithin is applied to them, and their country called Cruithen-land, the equivalent of the Latin Pictavia and Old Norse Petland, which still survives in the name of the Pentland firth. In their wars in Britain the Romans came into collision with the Picts. One Roman or Latin writer of that time speaks of "the Caledonians and other Picts," which implies the inclusion of the former in the latter people. The well-known Roman historian, Tacitus, calls Scotland north of the Firths of Forth and Clyde, Caledonia, and he describes the Caledonians as a noble race of barbarians, who fight in chariots as well as on foot, with long swords and short shields, and whose fair red hair and large limbs argued a Teutonic origin.

The Highlanders of today are of Celtic origin. The prefix, mac, meaning son of, is from the Gaelic.

Haughty Capitalist.

The laboring man of 70 years ago was pretty well satisfied. Labor troubles in this country were almost unheard of then, though at frequent intervals an employee would find a grievance against his employer. That of the machinist whom Mr. A. B. Farquhar tells of in his book "The First Million the Hardest," is certainly amusing, viewed at this date.

One afternoon, says Mr. Farquhar, a machinist came to us in high dudgeon from another shop and asked for a job. We wanted to know, of course, why he had left his old place.
"It was this way," he said. "The boss was out walking with a lady the other night, and I passed him and said, 'How do you do, Harry?' And the next day he came around to me and said, 'When I am out walking with a lady in the evening I don't want you to speak to me.' I won't work for a man who acts that way!"—Youth's Companion.

Dante's Gift of Rhyme.

I wonder if we are able to appreciate Dante's marvelous gift of handling his instrument, the Italian tongue? In a fanciful picture in which all the Rhymes come as maidens praying Dante to do them the honor to take them into his service, Benvenuto di Imola gives us to understand that Dante did not omit a single rhyme of which the Italian tongue is capable. This boundless facility of use of the liquid Italian tongue is one of the things that give Dante a charm to the Italian, which is, perhaps, lost to all but the delicate Italian ear so attuned to melody.—Thomas Nelson Page.

She Knew Hubby.

Uncle Henry had died suddenly, and a distant relative was offering her condolences to the widow. Finally the lady got to the point where she felt she could decently ask a burning question.

"And what did poor Henry leave?" she inquired, sweetly.

"Leave?" snorted the widow. "He left the chicken house only half painted, just as I told him he'd do."

—The baseball game at the Saxony Field, proved to be a most interesting one between the Newton Town Team and the Newton Y. M. C. A. which ended after 8 innings of playing with a tie score of 1-1. The pitching of Seth (Peg) Wood the old Newton high school pitcher featured for the Y. M. C. A. as he almost won his own game with a home run over the right fielder's head, the only run which the "Y" was able to get, while the Town Team scored through an error of the second baseman of the "Y" and a hit batter. The two teams are to meet again in the near future, which should prove an excellent game.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Probate Court, Middlesex, ss.
To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, creditors, and all other persons interested in the estate of

Emery W. Clark
late of Newton in said County, deceased, intestate.

WHEREAS a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased to Marion H. Clark of Newton in the County of Middlesex, without giving a surety on her bond.

You are hereby called to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the twenty-third day of July A. D. 1923, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And the petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the "Newton Graphic" a newspaper published in Newton, the last publication to be one day, at least, before said Court.

Witness, George F. Lawton, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this third day of July in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Directors Hold Interesting Meeting and Transact Important Business

The Directors of the Newton Chamber of Commerce voted at a meeting held last week to invite executives of the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway Company to be present at the next meeting of the Board and discuss plans to remedy the dangerous and unsatisfactory conditions in connection with the street surface between and immediately adjacent to the tracks of the company on Walnut Street.

The Chamber interested itself in this situation late last summer, as a result of which a special appropriation of $7500 was made by the Board of Aldermen for resurfacing that part of Walnut street occupied by the street railway tracks from Newtonville Square to Commonwealth Avenue. This amount became available too late in the fall to be used, and at the end of the year, reverted back to the surplus funds of the city.

Since weather conditions again became favorable for outside construction work the Street Railway Committee of the Chamber has been making an effort to arrange for a new appropriation to replace that which was made last year. Various obstacles have been encountered and, in an effort to find a way to bring about a degree of co-operation between the city and street railway system that will permit more rapid progress the proposed conference is to be arranged.

While there are various locations in the city where the old-time block paving in connection with the street railway tracks is in unsatisfactory condition, that on Walnut street is perhaps the most serious, where the conditions are among the most aggravated in the entire city and exist for an extended distance on one of the busiest thoroughfares of the city. Through the interest of Mayor Childs and other city officials a section in front of the high school buildings, about eight hundred feet in length, was resurfaced last year, the improvement being such and the contrast so marked that residents along this section of Walnut street, with many others who use the street, have become more insistent than ever that something be done to make the centre of this important street safe for traffic.

That both the city and street railway company are apparently ready and willing to do something to correct the conditions has been evident in many ways, and the Chamber Directorate believes it to be its duty to endeavor to ascertain just what each is willing to do and to make an effort to bring about some co-operative agreement similar to those worked out and adopted in various other cities where similar problems have demanded solution.

Those present at the Director's meeting were: President, Rupert C. Thompson, Vice-Presidents, Leon B. Rogers, George J. Martin, and George A. Schade, with Mayor Edwin O. Childs, City Solicitor Joseph W. Bartlett, John H. Gordon, William H. Rice, Frank L. Richardson, and Thomas J. Sullivan of the Board, and the secretary.

An interesting feature of the meeting was an informal report by the secretary as to the Chamber activities and Development during the past few weeks. A membership of 1536 was reported and 257 applications for membership were presented and approved. Of this number, 62 were applications for business membership and the remainder for city membership.

The report as to the financial condition of the Chamber was satisfactory, showing only current obligations, a substantial balance on hand, and a substantial balance due the Chamber from unpaid dues. It is expected that practically all of the latter will be received in due time. The financial report of the Newton Progress was submitted for the first 12 weeks of its publication and was gratifying in many respects, indicating that the Progress was being maintained on a self-sustaining basis in accordance with the original plan of the Mercantile Division Committee.

The resignation of Treasurer Harold Moore was received at this meeting, and accepted with regret by the Board. Mr. Moore has been treasurer of the Chamber since early in 1922, and re-

ACCEPTS NEW POSITION

Mr. Anson T. Leary, Community Secretary of the Newton Centre-Newton Highlands Community Work branch of the Y. M. C. A. is leaving Newton on August 1st, to accept a position as general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Westport, Connecticut.

In his new field Mr. Leary will not only continue his present type of work, but will also have a building in which to conduct some of the activities. "Pop" Leary, as he is familiarly known to boys and girls throughout the city, came to Newton in May, 1919, after being discharged from Camp Lee, Va. For more than four years he has been in charge of all athletic, social and religious work of the "Y" in the South Side. These activities include the organization of boys' clubs, father and sons outings, track and field meets, swimming meets, skating carnivals, scout troops, gymnasium classes, inter-church socials, and religious work among various church groups.

During his first two summers in Newton (1919 and 1920) Mr. Leary had charge of Camp Frank A. Day the Newton "Y" camp located at East Brookfield. For the past three summers he has been associated with Mr. Ernst Hermann, Supt. of Playgrounds, serving the first year as coach of track and field activities on the South Side grounds and for the past two summers as Asst. Superintendent.

Outstandingly predominant among the groups which Mr. Leary has organized is the High "Y" Club of the local Y. M. C. A. Beginning in the fall of 1919 with a small group of High School boys chosen from among his best campers, he has personally conducted the club for three years choosing each year as recruits the outstanding boys of the School. During the past winter the club, while not under his personal leadership, has reached an enrollment of over fifty of the finest fellows to be found in Newton High School.

LODGES

Garden City Lodge, A. O. U. W., celebrated its 29th anniversary last Tuesday evening, in Bay State Hall, Newton. Charles W. Ransom, GMW, and Thomas Raftery, DDGM, represented the Grand Lodge.

TWO NEWTON BOYS INJURED

While going to Camp Devens after an overnight stay with their folks in this city, the first of the week, Joseph M. Doherty of Newton Centre and William Bright of West Newton, members of Co. C, narrowly escaped death when their automobile overturned after hitting a hole in the State Road before it reaches Ayer. The steering knuckle broke so that Bright had no control of the machine whatsoever.

Doherty was thrown clear of the car but Bright was held under, pinned down by the wreckage.

Some men in a passing truck helped take Bright from beneath the overturned machine, and it was found that he only sustained cuts in the legs and arms. Doherty bruised his hip, sprained both knees and has numerous cuts on his arms.

They were treated by doctors from the Regimental Infirmary.

LEGION WINS

Landing on the opposing pitcher from the hop of the game, the Newton Legion won a fine 14 to 4 victory over the Arlington Town team at West Newton Common, Tuesday. It was not until the fifth that they got things working in earnest but after that they scored runs in every inning until the final was reached.

The losers could do nothing with Hunt and it was only through his generosity they got as many runs as they did. The stars were Gately, Lyons, Eaton, and Harris for the winners and Geary, McDonough and Grady for the losers.

The Legion team will play the Cornetts tonight and a big crowd is looked for.

AUTO ACCIDENT

An automobile owned and operated by Clark Harwood, of 383 Lexington street, Auburndale, was in collision with a Middlesex & Boston trolley car at the corner of Woodland road and Washington street, about six forty-five Tuesday evening. Mrs. Nelson Freeman of Lexington street, Mrs. George Johnson and Miss Mabel Johnson of 77 Woodland road were taken to the Newton Hospital as a result of the accident. The auto was badly damaged.

NEWTON PLAYGROUNDS

Now Open in the Different Villages under Competent Instructors

The Newton Playgrounds are now open and are under supervision from mornings 9 o'clock until dark in the evening. Parents should appreciate this since they can always send their children, young and old and feel sure that they are properly supervised and looked after. Naturally the work for the younger children is mornings and afternoons and for the older children who cannot come during the daytime the playground is open and directed during the evening hours. There are both men and women instructors, and boys and girls and young men and young women will always find professional help in taking up outdoor activities.

The playgrounds now under direction are as follows:

In Newton Corner—Burr Playground at the junction of Newton and Nonantum. Farlow Park is a children's corner for children up to 9 years of age. No active play allowed. Nonantum—Boyd Playground, Stearns Playground, Allison Playground and Bathhouse and Hawthorne Playground. Newtonville—Horace Mann Playground and Cabot Playground. West Newton—Eden Avenue, Neighborhood House and West Newton Playground. Auburndale—The Auburndale Playground in the Metropolitan Park System. Lower Falls Playground off Grove Street, Waban Playground next to the Angier School. Newton Upper Falls Playground off Chestnut Street, Upper Falls Bathhouse on Upper Falls Playground. Newton Highlands Playground off Winchester Street. Newton Centre Playground. Thompsonville Playground on the side of Institution Hill.

Besides the children's games and older play special attention is given to schedules in Baseball, football, rope quilts, iron quilts, croquet and track and field work. In any of these activities the children get expert advice and attention. Besides this there is a director of Occupation Work for the boys who is teaching the making of toys and articles of interest to boys such as side-walk coaster rollers, boats, water wheels, etc. The girls and little children have a woman supervisor who teaches activities such as needle work, basketry, weaving, etc. This work is always very attractive to our youngsters. A story teller is also making the rounds of the playgrounds and appears on every playground once or twice a week. These stories are not only interesting to the children but will interest the parents also.

In connection with the story telling and occupation play we advise the parents to have the children find out the exact hours when children can find the special instructor there. The occupation play is a most valuable activity to train the hand and eye of a child. Inquire of the local director when the specialists come to the grounds. The specialists have regular hours and regular days.

Another branch of playground activity for little children and older girls is folk dancing and aesthetic dancing. This will start in full force next week. The playground directors are now getting a special small course in new folk dancing.

Regular swimming places are being maintained at Auburndale, Upper Falls, Crystal Lake and Allison. These places are, of course, supervised from morning until dark. There are special days at each of these places which are reserved for the girls for swimming. A woman swimming instructor comes to every one of these places. The young lady not only teaches swim-

For Furniture Designers.
A recent exhibition of old American furniture contained a rocking chair of the Windsor type which had a drawer under its seat. Why not popularize this idea in chairs built today for the diminutive home whose just boast, "I am easy to take care of," sometimes calls forth the answering wail, "Yes, but where shall I put my things while I do it?"

NEWTON Y. M. C. A. NOTES

The first group of boys sent out by the City Missionary Society were entertained at the Newton Y. M. C. A. on Wednesday, July 11th. A full program was provided from ten until three o'clock by Secretaries Davis and Bruton, and Raymond Van Buskirk, Physical Director. A fine lunch was served at noon by a committee consisting of Miss Emma Page, Mrs. George Deffen, Mrs. Delano, Miss Bassett, Mrs. White. This same committee will serve the luncheon to the next group which comes out on the 18th of July.

Mr. Carl C. Perry of the State Forestry Department spoke to the boys at Camp Frank A. Day on Friday, July 13th. He told the boys how best to take care of trees and what was being done to combat those pests which are destroying the forests. There are some fine trees at Camp Frank A. Day and everything is being done for their care.

The membership in the Y. M. C. A. is now 961. An effort is being made to bring this up to 1000 by August 1st.

SANDERS-BRYNING

Announcement has been received from Mexico City, Mexico, of the marriage there of Miss Elizabeth Livingston Bryning, daughter of Mr. Percy Livingston Bryning of Commonwealth avenue, Auburndale, to Mr. Henry Sanders Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Harding Smith of Norwood.

Miss Bryning received most of her education in England. She has been for nearly a year with friends in Mexico City, where she first met Mr. Smith last winter.

Mr. Smith is a graduate of Dartmouth, class of 1911, and took his second degree M. C. S., from the Tuck School of Administration and Finance in 1912. He belongs to the S. A. E. fraternity. After his graduation he went into the printing business and has been connected with the National Paper and Type Company in Mexico City for nearly four years.

POLICE NOTES

Newton has decided to dress traffic officers in khaki rather than in blue during the summer. The motorcycle officers have always worn khaki uniforms during the summer, but now the permanent traffic men are to step into military uniforms, puttees, and all. "In approaching a vehicle coming in the opposite direction, keep well to the right—particularly at a corner or curve in the road. Corners and curves should always be taken cautiously and slowly for obvious reasons of safety and also to reduce the strain on tires and axles."
(The Veteran Motorist)

YOU know, Experience is a great teacher.
But his lessons are pretty expensive sometimes. I remember a case in point some months ago. Friend of mine had just got a new sedan. So, one Sunday, with our families, we made it a party of two cars for a trip into the country.

"Tom was about a hundred feet ahead of me, and we were both rolling comfortably along. I noticed a bend in the road a little ways ahead, and as Tom got up to it, a good sized roadster appeared coming toward us, hitting about 50 per, and taking the curve wide, which headed him straight for Tom's sedan.

"Tom pulled over as far as he could and the roadster straightened out just in time to miss his scared family by inches. The chap did the gentlemanly thing—stopped and came back to apologize. And from the scared look in his face, I think he learned his lesson—that taking curves that way may cost two or three lives any day in the week."

SIZE DOES NOT MATTER

Why is it that this bank does not discourage the small depositor from opening an account—no matter how small the first deposit?

We believe in the "Little" saver. The account that starts small, with a sustained purpose, is bound to grow and become a valuable asset for the bank as well as a financial safeguard to the thoughtful depositor.

Start your account now. Size does not matter, for it will grow.

ORIGIN OF HUMANE SOCIETIES

According to Records, They Were First Instituted in England About a Century Ago.

Humane societies are celebrating the fact that laws for the protection of animals have been in existence for 100 years. In 1822 an act of parliament was passed in England which provided for a punishment for the "ill treatment of cattle," and the act was introduced by a man named Richard Martin, who was called "Humanity Martin" because of his introduction and support of this law. Naturally the passage of the bill brought a great deal of opposition.

The opponents wanted to know why the punishment should not be inflicted for boiling lobsters and eating live oysters. Martin not only passed the law, but was the first complainant under it. He found a driver who was mercilessly beating a donkey. The poor animal was dragged into court, and very much to the surprise of the court room crowd, the driver was found guilty.

Two years after the passage of the act Martin organized the "Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals." Queen Victoria later approved of the organization, and added the word "Royal" to the title, and Americans derive their own Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals from this excellent example.

MINERS SEEK GOLDEN VEINS

Veterans Know That Presence of Big Nuggets Does Not Always Indicate Rich Deposits.

In a rugged, out-of-the-way region on the ocean side of the coast ranges, in Monterey county, California, gold nuggets have been found of such size as to suggest that this was once a favorite retreat of the proverbial goose that laid the golden eggs.

Matter-of-fact prospectors, however, have sought to find the veins from which such masses of gold, loosened by the weather, were washed into the stream beds. Their search has not been successful, and J. M. Hill, a United States geologist of the Department of the Interior, in a report just published, suggests that the nuggets came from rich superficial pockets in very small veins, and that no large and rich deposits are likely to be found by deep mining.

The coast ranges of California, unlike the Sierra Nevada, are not rich in gold, and the occurrence of these large nuggets is exceptional and illustrates the fact, known to many prospectors, that the discovery of a few large nuggets does not necessarily indicate the existence of a rich deposit of gold ore near the place.

Botanical Ascents.

The "botanical ascents" of Mount Katahdin by an American scientist suggested the possibilities of intellectual entertainment and agreeable acquaintance with nature that are offered by easily ascended mountains. No mountain that rises to a height of several thousand feet above the neighboring country fails to exhibit a most interesting variety in the succession of the kinds of plants and trees that the climber finds covering it as he ascends.

And not only the person having some knowledge of botany enjoys this rapid change of surroundings, but a similar pleasure is in store for the geologist, who sometimes finds that a mountain is like a prepared section of a part of the earth's crust; for the entomologist, who discovers different insects at the top from those that inhabit the lower slopes; for the ornithologist, who finds that birds have preferences as to elevation, and in fact for all students of nature.—Washington Star.

Sure of His Place.

She is a young widow in the early thirties, who recently married one of Indianapolis' popular bachelors. And to his annoyance she often talks of her past husbands. The other evening they were at a dinner when she turned to the guest of honor. "Are you married?"

The guest of honor made a negative reply. "And haven't you ever been married?" came the second question. Again the guest of honor shook her head. "Oh," the guest boasted airily, "I've had three. He is my third."

"Yes, and you last, my dear," the husband snapped. "You might just as well know now as at any time that my name is going to be on your tombstone."—Indianapolis News.

An Alabama Morning.

Who is it that does not love to hear the song bird in the cool, shady clump and hear the shrill call of the chattering in a neighbor's yard, the clatter of the hoe on the hillside and a darky's song in the distance, and the command of gee and haw on every hilltop, and the bleating of the calf down in the meadows? Oh, boy! as I pass along the sweet honeysuckle vines by the roadside or wander along the banks of the little creek with beauty and sweetness in the air and wild flowers blooming everywhere. Wouldn't you feel supremely happy? Just take an early morning walk about two miles out and see if you don't come in contact with some of the things mentioned above.—Louisville Headlight.

A Born Driver.

Mrs. Newkirk—Why didn't you bring baby back sooner? You've had him out a long time.

The Nursemaid—But he wanted a long ride. Every time I came to a corner he had his arm out of his cab signalling for a turn.

HAD A NIGHT OF TROUBLE

Story Told in Chicago Newspaper Will Be Declared a Libel by the Loyal Scot.

A Scottish laird and his servant, Sandy, were on their way home on horseback late at night. Both had been partaking liberally of a spirit which enjoys a certain measure of popularity in their country. At a ford where the bank was steep the laird fell head-first into the creek. He scrambled up and shouted to his servant:

"Hold on, Sandy! Something fell off—I heard it splash!"

Sandy climbed down from the saddle and waded about blindly in the shallow water. At last he seized on the laird.

"Why, it's yerself, mon!"

"No, Sandy," the master declared, stoutly. "It can't be me—here I am." Then he added: "But if it is me get me back on the horse."

Sandy helped the laird to the horse and hoisted him up. In the dark the rider was faced the wrong way round. "Gie me the reins," the master ordered.

Sandy felt about the horse's rump, and then cried out, clutching the tail: "It waur the horse's head as fell off—nothin's left but the mane!"

"Gie me the mane, then," the laird directed, stolidly.

So presently, when he had the tail grasped firmly in both hands and Sandy had mounted, the procession began to move. Whereat the laird shouted in dismay: "Haad on, Sandy! It's gaein' the wrang way!"—Chicago Daily News.

LACK THE "WILL TO LIVE"

Cree Tribe of Canadian Indians Will Soon Have Disappeared From the Earth.

The Cree Indians are wards of the Canadian government. When Canada took their country she became responsible for their future. In particular, she pays each one yearly $5 in cash and, in the words of the treaty, this will be paid "while the sun shines and water flows."

But they are dying out. They have "not the will to live." In a certain district within recent times there were 30,000 Indians. Today there are 3,000. They drink tea to excess. They smoke tobacco to excess. The women and the little children smoke. Some are tubercular. And they keep dying.

They are honest and good natured, but their moral fiber has weakened. They loaf and slouch around the posts and have the mentality of emotional children and their delicate, weathered faces will soon be but a memory, writes a Hudson Bay correspondent of the London Times.

Just Like Uncle.

Big sister's beau was a college athlete. And because her seven-year-old brother admired ball players so much, she permitted him to come into the library and chat with the beau a while. Like two pals they talked together about football and basketball. "If you expect to grow up and make a basketball player," the athlete winked at sister as he said it, "you will have to learn to chew tobacco. All athletes chew tobacco."

"Do you?" little brother asked.

The beau nodded. Then little brother turned to sister. "You better lay off him right now," he warned, "cause it made you sick when you had to kiss Uncle Bob when he was here because he chewed tobacco. I'll run and tell him he needn't worry over you ever marrying this fellow."

And just then little brother was banished from the room.

Concerning Moonlight.

It is probable that very few persons are aware of the fact that the full moon gives several times more than twice the light of the half moon. They may be still more surprised to learn that the ratio is approximately as nine to one.

Stebbins and Brown, taking advantage of the extreme sensitiveness of light of a selenium cell, measured the amount of light coming from the moon at different phases, with the result above mentioned. The reason for the remarkable difference shown is to be found in the varying angles of reflection presented by the roughened surfaces of our satellite to the sun. The moon is brighter between first quarter and full than between full and last quarter.—New York Herald.

Used to It.

His automobile had balked, as automobiles will, and even if he was Robert Lee Morrell, chairman of the Automobile association, he couldn't persuade it to go. Frantically he labored, with oilcan and monkey wrench, until he was hot, dirty and disgusted, and only the presence of a crowd of children prevented him from expressing himself as the situation demanded. But at last he must speak or explode. Near him was a sweet little maiden with golden hair and deep blue eyes.

"Run away, little girl," he said, "there are a few things I would like to say."

"Go right ahead," said the child; "my pa has an auto, too."—Exchange.

Indian Dances at 107.

Barelegs, reputed to be one hundred and seven years old, the oldest Indian of the Osage tribe, lives in Grayhorse, Okla. Although he is unusually stooped and always walks with a cane, he enjoys the best of health and participates in all Indian events, even the dances. He carries out the customs of the Osage tribe by wearing blankets and moccasins. He rides a horse and seldom rides in a car.—Daily Oklahoman.

DIRECTORS OF NEWTON CHAMBER HOLD INTERESTING MEETING

signs because of the demands made upon his time by his regular business. President Thompson was authorized to appoint a committee, including himself, to choose a treasurer for the remainder of the current year and to develop a plan for the future handling of the finances of the Chamber, the Newton Progress, and the Credit Rating Bureau now being organized. Subsequent to the directors' meeting, President Thompson appointed Chairman George A. Schade of the Mercantile Division Committee, Frank L. Richardson of the Board, and the Secretary, to serve with him as members of this committee.

The report of the Chamber's special committee on Traffic Ordinance was submitted, with a copy of the proposed ordinance prepared by this committee. After some discussion, it was moved and voted that copies of the proposed ordinance be sent to each member of the Board for consideration and study, before the proposed ordinance was approved by the Board and submitted to this special committee on traffic Ordinance from the Board of Aldermen. It was felt by some of the directors present that some changes and improvements might be desirable before turning the proposed ordinance over to the Aldermanic Committee as a finished product.

Upon the suggestion of the Civic Committee of the Chamber, there was some discussion regarding the zoning situation and whether it would be advisable for the Chamber to seek to serve as a medium for an expression of opinion by the property owners of the city regarding the efficiency of the present zoning ordinance.

It was explained that some members of the Civic Committee were of the opinion that the question of the desirability of single residence districts had not yet been settled to the satisfaction of all and that a canvass of property owners of the city might result in a better expression of the true sentiment of the majority than had yet been made available through any other method. The attention of the Board was called to the zoning test case, emanating from the town of Milton to be heard soon by the Massachusetts Supreme Court. It was voted to defer any further consideration of the zoning question by the Board until the decision in this case was available for consideration.

Chamber of Commerce Notes

That the merchants of Newton are much nearer than ever before to the adoption of a uniform weekly half holiday during the summer months was evident to all on last Wednesday, when a large majority of the stores in Newton, Newtonville, Nonantum, West Newton, Newton Centre, Newton Highlands, and Auburndale, closed at 12 o'clock for the day. This schedule is to continue on Wednesdays during July and August. Other cities have been enjoying the benefits of a uniform summer half holiday plan for years and it is felt that the merchants of Newton only require a medium through which the wide variety of closing plans may be made uniform to enable them to eventually enjoy the same benefits as are derived by the business men of other communities. Representatives of the Newton Chamber are to devote each Wednesday afternoon to making the local plan effective and will call on those few stores remaining open in an effort to secure the co-operation of the respective proprietors in changing their closing time to conform to the proposed uniform schedule. While it is not anticipated that the plan will be made 100 per cent effective during the first summer, the number who closed last week was far in excess of the number anticipated by the committee. No pressure is brought to bear upon those merchants who prefer not to close at all, if there are such, but the chief effort is being directed to persuade those who have closed on other afternoons to change their closing day to Wednesday, and those who close at 12:30 and one o'clock on Wednesdays to make the closing hour as well as the day uniform throughout the city. With the plan working out so satisfactorily this summer, it is hoped by the committee that an earlier start on this problem will make the closing plan uniform in fact as well as name, and effective in all of the Newtons next season.

More than 1500 copies have been distributed to members of the Chamber of the little booklet issued on July 1, which gives an informal report of the activities of the Chamber during the first six months of the present year, and a printed list of the membership at that time. A copy of this booklet will be mailed upon request to any citizen of the city who, although not yet a member of the Chamber, may be interested in its development and progress and in noting the many who are already affiliated through membership. The number of members whose names appear in the booklet is 110, this number having since been increased to 1545.

The Chamber is in receipt of recent advices from the Chief Engineer George W. Booth of the National Board of Fire Underwriters to the effect that the long delayed report of the inspection made in this city last winter by the New England Insurance Exchange will be forwarded to Mayor Childs about August 10. The Insurance Committee of the Chamber, which initiated this effort to find a way to bring about lower insurance rates in Newton, is awaiting the reports with much interest, it being anticipated that the report will indicate the few things that Newton must do to secure recognition and classification as a Class A city.

The Newton Chamber has available a few copies of the complete report of the New England Railroad Committee, which it will be glad to send to any member upon request. It is desired by the committee to have as many copies of this report placed in the hands of responsible business men as possible. The report is a document of more than three hundred pages and goes into the entire New England railroad situation in an interesting and illuminating way, as well as making recommendations worthy of the careful consideration of every business man interested in the solution of this vital problem and the future prosperity of New England.

The revised schedule of the American Railway Express Company for west bound express matter from this city, arranged through the efforts of Chairman George J. Martin of the Industrial Committee of the Chamber, is proving a great help to Newton manufacturers who rely upon express service as one of the distributing mediums for their products. Through the new arrangement, provided with the co-operation of the Boston & Albany R. R., the west bound express car which formerly left Newton early in the afternoon now leaves approximately three hours later, from the several stations shortly after five o'clock. This revision of the schedule enables local manufacturers to fill rush orders on the same date which they are received, and is also proving a convenience to various other business men and citizens who use express service for any purpose.

The Newton Chamber of Commerce, in common with the Boston Chamber and other similar organizations of the Metropolitan District, is co-operating with the United States Veterans Bureau in finding positions for the large group of Rehabilitated Veterans who are now ready for employment. These young ex-service men have had the advantage of a long period of training for various vocations, under government supervision, and are in most instances graduates of various institutions, such as Burdett College, Boston University School of Business Administration, and other similar business training schools. An unusually large number of men were declared ready for positions in June and July, including junior accountants and bookkeepers, general business assistants, foreign trade clerks, salesmen, and routine office men. These men ask for an opportunity to make good in their chosen professions. The Newton Chamber has already been instrumental in placing two of these men in desirable positions and will be glad to receive inquiries from any other Newton business institutions or business men who need men of their above qualifications in their organizations.

SUDDEN DEATH OF GWENDOLYN LOWE WISEMAN

The sudden death of Gwendolyn Lowe Wiseman, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Fred M. Lowe and wife of Mark Huntington Wiseman of New York, was received in Arlington with keen regret. The prominence of Mrs. Wiseman's family in Arlington for many years, and the wide acquaintance of Dr. Lowe, makes her passing away a source of deep regret to the many friends of the family in Arlington.

Mrs. Wiseman is the great granddaughter of Nathan Robbins, whose name is associated with so much that is fine in the town.

Mrs. Wiseman passed away in Boothbay Harbor, Maine, at the hospital on June 29th, having given birth to a daughter the day previous. Mrs. Wiseman, with her husband and little son, aged two and one-half years old, resided in New York. Mrs. Wiseman had come to Boothbay to prepare the family's summer home for their occupancy, when she was taken ill. No indication of any serious complication was expected or looked for, until a sudden change developed of a serious nature, from which she never rallied. The funeral was held Sunday from the residence of Dr. Lowe, Washington street, Newton, and the burial was in Mt. Pleasant cemetery.

Mrs. Wiseman was an unusually brilliant young woman. She was graduated from Smith College, class of 1912, after which she was engaged in educational work, dealing with young women, with whom she displayed executive ability showing able judgment in all her dealings with those placed under her care. That she should be suddenly taken from her little family and those closely connected with her, is a source of deep regret. The funeral was attended by several Arlington friends of the family.

In the final match of the men's doubles, Karl Hartzell and Abbott Gotshall defeated Harry Pitts and George Sampson, 6-0; 6-4.

Drawings for the fall tournament will be made the second week in September. All residents of Wards 1 and 7, Newton, are eligible. Application for membership may be made to Miss Elinor Marsh, Secretary, 22 Hollis street, Newton. In the fall tournament, competition in the men's singles and in the women's singles will be for the permanent trophies. These are now held by Richard Raines and Marion Lyons.

HELD IN $10,000

Joseph Kline, with a number of aliases, of Brooklyn, N. Y., was in the Newton District Court Monday morning, charged with breaking and entering and larceny last week Wednesday night. Judge Bacon found probable cause and held Kline in bonds of $10,000 for the Grand Jury. John Connolly of Boston, attorney for Kline, endeavored to have lighter bonds imposed, but Judge Bacon would not lessen the amount.

Kline is now on parole from Sling Sing under the name of Isador Paulin. The address he gave, 42 Waltham street, South End, Boston, was found to be a brick wall. Kline last said he lived in Brooklyn.

Last week Wednesday night, it was alleged he entered the home of F. H. Montgomery, 255 Commonwealth avenue, Chestnut Hill, by climbing over a back piazza and going through a bathroom window while the family was sitting on the front piazza. With Kline was another man who made his escape.

Patrolman Elliot was passing behind the house on Ward street, about 10 P. M., when he heard a noise in the bushes. Pulling out his revolver and flashlight he ran into the bushes and caught Kline. The other man ran. Elliot fired a shot but was unable to stop him. At this point patrolmen Carley and Goddard appeared and the men went to the police box with the prisoner and were informed that Montgomery's house had been entered.

A woman's pocketbook containing a bill fold and $10 was found in the bushes. A man's pocketbook containing about $45, a wrist watch and some jewelry are missing. All the rooms on the second floor of the house were ransacked and the people on the piazza did not hear a sound.

Golden Silence.

A slip of the foot can soon be recovered, but a slip of the tongue may do irreparable mischief. Words once spoken can never be recalled; and frequently explanation of them merely makes bad matters worse. This is why silence may be golden.

To Tighten Eye-Glass Screws.

If you do not own a tiny screw-driver, when the screws holding the lenses in your eyeglasses become loose, try using the blade of an ordinary pocket-knife or the tip of a small pen in manner like a screw-driver to tighten them.

DEATH OF FREDERIC H. BUTTS

After a long illness, Frederick Harrington Butts, president and also general manager and treasurer of Butts & Ordway, dealers in heavy hardware and automotive equipment, died Saturday morning at his home in Newton Centre. Mr. Butts had been in the heavy hardware business in Boston since 1884, when he came to the city to enter the employ of Bradley-Hastings Company. Four years later he went into business with Henry C. Ordway, and they continued in partnership until 1898, when Mr. Butts took control of the firm. He had been active until a year ago, when his health began to fail.

Mr. Butts had been a resident of Newton Centre since 1886, when he married Carrie Marsena Parker of Mobile, Ala., who survives him. He was a member for many years of the First Congregational Church in Newton, was one of the founders of the Hatherly Club at North Scituate and was a member of the Newton Centre Squash Tennis Club and a former member of the Engineers' Club. He was a former president of the American Iron, Steel and Heavy Hardware Association.

He was born at Norwich, Conn., Sept. 13, 1860, and received his early education at Norwich Academy.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by four children: F. Marsena Butts of Newton; Chester C. Butts, Miss Carolyn P. Butts and Mrs. Anita Butts Craddock, all of Newton Centre, and by four grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the First Church with the pastor, Rev. Edward MacArthur Noyes, officiating. Music was provided by the parish organist, D. Ralph McLean.

The pallbearers were William J. Flett of Melrose Highlands, James F. Higgins of Framingham and Richard F. Leonard of Charlestown, all of whom had been associated in business, for thirty years or more, with Mr. Butts; Arthur C. Badger of Chestnut Hill, Vernon B. Swett of Newton, Frank W. Brigham of Waltham, Judge Elias B. Bishop of Newton Centre and Edward P. Sanderson of Waltham. The ushers were William R. Rice, George H. Holmes, George S. Smith, and Frederick P. Woods, all of Newton Centre. Burial was in Newton Cemetery.

POLICE COURT

Amelia Bertelli, 20, of 15 Avon St., Somerville, was fined $25 in the Newton District Court Thursday morning by Judge Bacon for operating an automobile without a license, after an accident Wednesday night at the corner of Walnut and Watertown streets, Newtonville, when the car Bertelli was driving collided with a motorcycle.

Charles King of 233 Linwood avenue, Newtonville, was in the Newton District Court Thursday morning charged with operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor and with being drunk. The violation, it is alleged, took place on July 4 and the case was continued until Thursday from July 5. He pleaded guilty. The charge of being drunk was placed on file and he was fined $100. Sentence was suspended until Jan. 19, 1924.

As he was leaving the Brookline Court Thursday morning, Walter ("Rabbit") Maranville was served with a warrant by Inspector Richard Conroy of the Newton Police Department, charging him with overspeeding and with failing to stop when signaled to do so by an officer in uniform.

The alleged violation took place on the morning of May 18 in Auburndale, at the junction of Lexington street and Commonwealth avenue. The complainant was Patrolman John McNeil. It was on that day that Maranville was arrested in Brookline, charged with operating a car while under the influence of liquor.

When booked at 10:10 Thursday morning in Newton, Maranville gave his occupation as a ball player and his address as 3403 Parkview avenue, Pittsburgh. On the charge of overspeeding Judge Bacon accepted a plea of nolo, and the case was filed. On the charge of failing to stop Maranville pleaded not guilty. He was found guilty and fined $25, which he paid.

John S. Lane, 45, of 17 Newcastle road, Brighton, in the Newton District Court Wednesday morning, before Judge Allen on the charge of being drunk and operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor, was fined $100. He was arrested Tuesday afternoon by Patrolman Fuller in Newtonville. The drunk charge was filed.

DEATH OF DR. FRANCES M. MORRIS

Dr. Frances M. Morris, of 108 Nehodden road, Waban, who for many years practiced medicine in Boston with offices on Boylston street and Beacon street, died last week Thursday at the Newton Hospital, at the age of seventy-two. She was a graduate of the Boston University School of Medicine in the class of 1889, and was one of the pioneer women practitioners in the city. She had made her home at Waban for the past ten years.

Dr. Morris was born at Trenton, N. J., on June 15, 1851, and as a young woman lived at Providence, later going to South Africa to teach in a Zulu mission school under the direction of the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions of the Congregational Church. After three years, she contracted African fever, and returned home to regain her health. She then entered the B. U. School of Medicine and after her graduation studied abroad at Vienna. She had kept her office on Beacon street until a year ago, when she retired because of failing health.

Dr. Morris had maintained an active interest in foreign mission work and had been active in Congregational Church affairs. She is survived by a brother, John Morris, ninety years old.

Faults.

You will find it less easy to uproot faults than to choke them by galling virtues. Do not think of your faults; still less of others' faults. In every person who comes near you look for what is good and strong; honor that; try to imitate it, and your faults will drop off, like dead leaves, when their time comes.

DEATH OF MRS. MARY D. E. MEAD

Mrs. Mary Dearborn Emerson Mead, widow of Dr. Julian Mead, and the last surviving child of the late Darius R. Emerson, founder of the Boston firm of D. R. Emerson & Co., died at her home, 115 Jewett street, Newton, Thursday morning. Though she had been in failing health for some time, her death was unexpected.

Mrs. Mead's marriage to Dr. Mead, who for years was medical examiner of the seventh Middlesex district, occurred at Grace Church, Newton, Dec. 12, 1889, after which she made her home in Watertown, where the doctor enjoyed a large practice and where he served several terms as a member of the Board of Selectmen.

On the death of her husband several years ago, she returned to Newton and lived with her brother, Charles W. Emerson, at the old family residence. Her brother died shortly after.

Mrs. Mead was a woman of keen intelligence, social charm and strong in her beliefs and judgments. She had been a member of Grace Episcopal Church since her girlhood. Both her father and brother gave generously to this church; the father supporting the boys' choir there for years, and the brother making the church his residuary legatee.

Funeral services will be held at her late home on Sunday at 2 P. M.

DEATH OF CHARLES J. KELLIHER

Mr. Charles J. Kelliher of Walnut street, Newton Centre, an employee of the Street Department for the past six years, was thrown from a tip cart, which he was driving when the horse ran away, last Friday. He was taken to the Newton Hospital, where he died from the shock, shortly after his arrival.

The funeral was held Monday morning, when a delegation of 100 fellow employees escorted the cortege from the house to the Church of the Sacred Heart, where a high mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Father Haney. The burial was in the family lot at St. Joseph's Cemetery, Roxbury.

Mr. Kelliher is survived by his wife, three sons, Joseph, Francis and Charles, and one daughter, Katherine.

The Mind's the Standard.

Many of the members attended the Rotary Outing at Pemberton, Wednesday, and were on the winning side in the ball game, also Miss Edith Jamieson of Newton assisted in an exhibition of life saving.

NONANTUM SQUARE TORN UP

For the past week the Middlesex and Boston Street Railway has been placing new rails on its tracks in Nonantum Square. The paving blocks which have been used between the rails have been replaced by employees of the highway department with macadam and tar. Because of this work it has been necessary to divert eastbound traffic around Hall Street and much confusion has resulted. Many of the drivers have failed to understand that the detour sign in front of the Trust Company building meant that they had to drive around through Hall street. Many of the motorists who have been inconvenienced by the one-way rule made necessary by the tracks being torn up, have contended that the work should have been rushed in such a spot as Nonantum Square, and that a night crew of workmen should have been employed in addition to the regular day gang.

DEATH OF MR. ATHERLY

Mr. Raymond M. Atherly died Tuesday night after a short illness at his home on Washburn street, Auburndale. He was manufacturer's representative for a number of advertising novelty houses in Boston for the last 10 years. Coming from Detroit, where he was active in Masonic circles, Mr. Atherly joined the Boston Masonic club and other Masonic organizations. He was also a member of the Auburndale club. Mr. Atherly was a member of the Tremont Temple Baptist Church and had also held office in the church organization. He is survived by his wife, a son, Ray Atherly; his father, Rollin Atherly, and two brothers, Clifford and Fred Atherly of Auburn, N. Y. The funeral services were held this afternoon at the Newton Cemetery Chapel, at 2.30.

WELLS-BADGER

Mr. Harry H. Wells of Boston, and Miss Dorothy Badger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Badger of Hunnewell avenue, Newton, were united in marriage Wednesday afternoon, at the Swedenborgian Church, Bowdoin street, Boston, by the Rev. H. Clinton Hay, pastor of the church. The wedding was attended only by the parents of the young couple.

Human Vanity in Buying.

Ostrich feather fans, priced in one New York establishment at $150, may be had at another place only a few blocks away for $30. The fans are bought at identical prices in the same wholesale establishment. Because of human vanity, the proprietor of a store which sells to one class of people would no more dare to charge too little than another would dare to charge too much, writes Fred Kelly in The Nation's Business. The woman who pays $30 for a feather fan in an unimportant shop might not be willing to pay much more than that; but the woman who deliberately goes to the most expensive store in town might feel only contempt for the establishment if she found luxury articles there priced within the pocket book range of the masses.

Oxford Noon.

Some clock clove with silver the stillness of the morning. Ere came the second striking. And now there were others chiming in. The air was confused with the sweet babel of the many spires, some of them booming deep, measured sequences, some tinkling impatiently and outwitting others which had begun before them. And when this anthem of jealous antiphonies and uneven rhythms had dwindled quite away and faded in one last solitary note of silver, there started somewhere another sequence; and this, almost at its last stroke was interrupted by yet another, which went on to tell the hour of noon in its own way, quite slowly and significantly, as though none knew it.—Max Beerbohm, in "Zuleika Dobson."

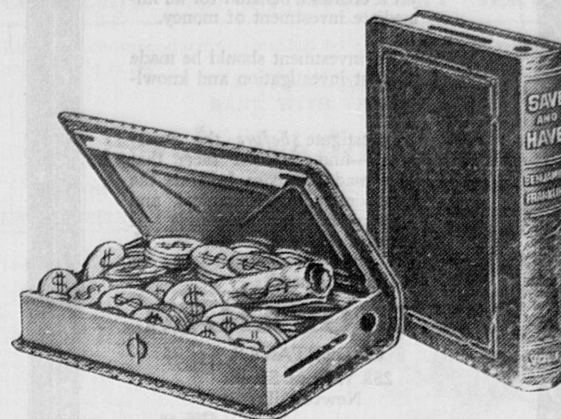

Snake "Played Possum."

Nothing many small birds, chiefly sparrows, white-cheeked bunbuls and wagtails, hovering round the base of a date palm and every now and then darting at it with much noise, I went to investigate. I found coiled on the roots of the palm a green snake about three feet long, looking as though dead. It was absolutely inert, and its tail had been almost completely severed from the body about six inches from the tip. On closer inspection, I noticed a flicker in the snake's eye, and on touching it with a piece of scrap iron which I picked up nearby, intending to kill it, it leaped forward like a flash of lightning, and then, after a pause, dived into a stream and disappeared among the reeds.—London Field.

On Voice Culture.

Bernhardt's beautiful voice was one of her chief charms, and to the woman who would take up voice culture she said: "Voice is a charm whose subtlety adds to its power. It does not matter how large or how small a woman's sets out to conquer, her voice, with its cadences and fluctuations, will be one of her strongest weapons. To be pleasing a woman must know how to use her voice."

RIVETS SHOT THROUGH HOSE

Compressed Air Device Is Now Largely Taking the Place of Passing by Hand.

For years it has been the common practice to use a bucket and tongs in passing rivets by hand. This method not only has been expensive but has been accompanied by many dangers. Now we have perfected a system of distributing red-hot rivets by compressed air through a flexible metallic hose.

This new apparatus consists of a compressed air gun and storage tank. In addition to the metal hose which leads from the forge to the elevator, with this plan the foreman draws the heated rivet from the fire, drops it into a receptacle at the end of the hose, and here the weight of the rivet opens a valve that again closes automatically. Immediately the foreman's foot on a pedal applies the force of the compressed air, and the rivet is shot through the hose to the place where it is to be used, arriving free from scale and without any possibility of accident.

In actual practice red-hot rivets have been thus carried 125 feet in seven seconds, with an air pressure of less than four pounds. In addition to the advantage of greater safety, this method has shown a 20 per cent saving in the cost of operation.—Floyd W. Parsons in the Saturday Evening Post.

SAVED IN JUNGLE BY PLANES

Scientist's Wife, Badly Injured, Brought to the Hospital in the Nick of Time.

After an S. O. S. was flashed out over hundreds of miles of Panama jungles by the dispatch of a native runner more than seventy-five miles to the nearest telegraph station, three United States army airplanes penetrated the wilderness 320 miles and rescued Mrs. Helen T. Gaige, wife of Prof. Frederick M. Gaige of the University of Michigan. It was learned upon the arrival of the couple at New York.

Professor and Mrs. Gaige left this country last February with the intention of remaining in the jungle 18 months to study reptiles. They had gone hundreds of miles and were near the border of Costa Rica when Mrs. Gaige was wounded by an accidental discharge of her shotgun. Her husband administered first aid and dispatched a runner to a little settlement named David, about seventy-five miles away, to telegraph a request for assistance to Dr. S. J. South, American minister to Panama, in Panama City.

Professor Gaige and his party then started out to follow the runner, reaching David in three days. Meanwhile, Minister South forwarded the S. O. S. to France field, the army aviation base, and a Martin bomber and two other planes were sent out to find the party.

As It Will Be.

"Young man, have you been examined by the bureau of censors?"

"Yes, sir."

"And sterilized by the board of health?"

"Yes, sir."

"Has the X-ray revealed any traces of possible ancestral alcohol in your system?"

"Not a trace."

"Are you nicotineless?"

"One hundred per cent."

"Can you repeat all the hymns in the Methodist, Presbyterian and Baptist hymn books?"

"By heart."

"Did you ever lose your temper and say 'Good gracious' or 'Fudge'?"

"Never!"

"Then, sir, come in and I will let you hold my daughter's hand for 15 minutes in my presence, and if you behave yourself in a seemly manner, tomorrow I will extend this period to 20 minutes."—Exchange.

Grand Canal of China.

The Grand canal of China is by far the longest canal in the world. It reaches from Hangchow to Tientsin, the port of Peking, and covers a distance of nearly 1,000 miles. It crosses two of the world's largest rivers, the Hwang and the Yangtze.

For about 130 miles north of the Yangtze the canal is still navigable, but from that point to Tientsin it is choked with mud and is generally derelict. A plan is now on foot to reconstruct the northern sections. For the time being only about seven million dollars can be devoted to work that will put in order a section 100 miles in length. The reconstruction is in the hands of American engineers.—Exchange.

Convenient Potato Masher.

A potato masher, devised by Dr. Richard D. Roderick of Hazleton, Pa., is of novel shape, consisting of a segment of a cylinder. Across the bottom of the masher is attached the usual mashing screen. The handle is positioned directly above this screen. As the potato masher conforms to the contour of the inner portion of the container in which the potatoes have been cooked, its shape facilitates the mashing of the potatoes within the container.

If We Didn't Have Machines.

If we removed from the earth all the power-driven machines now operating, it would be impossible to crowd onto our globe sufficient people to produce the commodities now made. If we were to revert to the old method of making wire nails by hand, this job alone would require the daily effort of more workers than are now engaged in producing all our coal.—Floyd W. Parsons in the Saturday Evening Post.

ART HAS VARIOUS ASPECTS

It Is Anything That Looks Like It to Any Person, According to This Writer.

The thing that looks art to a person who thinks that it is art, is art. There are many ways of looking at it from different angles—those of the rich and the poor, the educated and the uneducated, the child and the grownup. Art belongs to everybody who looks for it. There is not a human being who does not admire art. Art and you will be more friendly when you are at peace; when you have no trouble on your mind, no sickness in your family, nothing to worry over, then you can enjoy art. Then art will love you and you in turn will love art.

Art is very wide. Art is not only what you see with your eyes, but it is within your mind also. There are many things beside art objects in art galleries. You may find art almost anywhere, any time, if you have the eye to see it. In your home good housekeeping is art; so are harmonious decorations and the arrangement of flowers; so are cooking, eating, sleeping and dressing; so is talking; so are movements and manners—yes, so is love—there is art in all. You may find a great sculptor in the barber shop or in a tailor shop. A master hand—that is art. No matter where we find it.—Matachi Miya in the North American Review.

GOES BACK ON OWN ORDER

British Nobility Started by Proposition of One of Themselves, to Abolish Hereditary Titles.

The introduction into the house of commons by the Hon. Arthur Bonsor of a bill to abolish hereditary titles created more of a sensation because of the social connections of its author than because of its somewhat revolutionary nature. The Hon. Arthur was at one time a page of honor to Queen Victoria, is related to many of the noble families of England and at one time took an active part in English society.

In his earlier political career he was a liberal, but has since become an important member of the labor party. His bill, although it is not the first of its kind with which the British commons has had to deal, was greeted with wild enthusiasm by labor members and great indignation by the Tory members. The Hon. Arthur declares that, although his bill may fail of passage this time, it will become a law before many years.

East Indian Irrigation Project.

Three and a half million acres of excellent farm lands, in 14,300 square miles of India's Sutlej valley, will be thrown open to settlers at the completion of the most pretentious irrigation project attempted in India, Assistant Trade Commissioner Spofford, Calcutta, informs the Department of Commerce. During the last 30 years large tracts of waste land in the Punjab have been rendered productive to crops as a result of successful irrigation works, and for the first time in such projects the Indian government is seeing the mistake in neglecting the construction of roads along with that of canals. The government is acquiring necessary road rights to insure adequate provision for the transportation of crops to markets and railways. The whole Sutlej project will probably take nine years for completion.

Facts About Dogs.

A member of the staff of the Paris Museum of Natural History has pointed out that the dog, whose respirations number only twenty-five or thirty a minute, may, in running, acquire a rate of respiration as high as 350 a minute. The effect of this acceleration favors the dissipation of animal heat by evaporation from the pulmonary vesicles.

The dog perspires very little or not at all by the skin, pulmonary taking the place of cutaneous transpiration. It is this fact that enables the dog to pursue its game so long and persistently. Animals of the cat family, on the other hand, do not possess this peculiarity, and for that reason tigers, panthers and lions lie in wait for their prey, but do not pursue it over long distances. The bird possesses pulmonary transpiration in a very high degree.

Latvia Is Not Litvia.

Latvia should not be confused with Lithuania, warns the Commerce Bureau. Since the establishment of the exchange of money orders between the United States and Latvia numerous applications for the issue of orders on Lithuania have been made, and in many cases accepted by postmasters who are misled by the fact that people sometimes designate Lithuania as Litvia, Litava, Lietava or Lieutva. While United States money orders are now paid in Latvia (also known as Lettonia and Latvija), there is yet no money order convention with Lithuania.

Light-Giving Mineral.

The people of Cornwall, in England, aver that at night there may be seen there a faintly shining mineral among the rocks rejected from the mines. That this is not pure imagination on their part has been proved by scientific investigation. A specimen of the mineral autunite, which is also found in Wales, was sent to a scientific body in London for examination of its apparently luminous properties. It was found that it closely resembled artificially prepared salts of uranium, and that its luminosity was due to its spontaneous radioactivity.

POLICE COURT

In the Police Court Saturday morning, Joseph Scaccio was charged with driving an automobile without a license. The case was placed on file.

C. Avedon was fined $10 in court Saturday morning for operating a motor vehicle at unreasonable speed. On last Saturday morning Saverio Carvanel whose case was continued from the previous Monday, was fined $50 for selling intoxicating liquor and was fined $100 for keeping and exposing for sale intoxicating liquor. He appealed both cases.

James J. Connelly, 45, of 74 Exchange street, Waltham, was in the District Court Tuesday morning, charged with being drunk and with operating an automobile without a license and while under the influence of liquor. With Connelly was Francis Monahan, 48, of Seminole avenue, Waltham, who was charged with being drunk. The men were arrested early Monday evening by motorcycle officer McCormick. The drunk charges were filed. Connelly was given a sentence of one month in the House of Correction, suspended until Jan. 12, and was fined $25 for operating with out a license.

DANGER IN CHEWING GRASS

Habit is a Bad One, and May Result in Contraction of Unpleasant Disease.

Many people have been started recently by the announcement that it is dangerous to chew grass.

A well-known athlete has been undergoing medical treatment for several months, and has had two operations on a mysterious swelling in a gland.

The disease is called actinomycosis, and is usually found in cattle, pigs, horses, and even elephants and dogs.

In the case mentioned it was contracted through the habit of chewing grass while playing games, a common practice among sportsmen. In chewing grass one may consume a parasite, and there lies the danger.

Formerly this unpleasant disease was known as "wooden tongue" or "big jaw," owing to the large swellings which develop on the tongue, jaw or skin.

Actinomycosis is a chronic inflammatory disease producing pus, and is caused by a fungus, which in the case of a man attacks the jaw and neck, entering through diseased teeth or tonsils. A severe local infection is set up, which burrows its way into the tissues, distorting what it traverses and stopping at nothing unless treated in time. Bones are penetrated as easily as muscles.

HISTORIC CAPE TOWN RELIC

Stump of Old "Slave Tree" Is All That Remains as Reminder of Days of Slavery.

There is an old tree in Cape Town, in Church square, over 250 years old, and all that remains of it today is the stump, to which is affixed a brass plate and an inscription, giving an outline of its history. It is a most historic landmark, as it was there before the days of Jan van Riebeck. To this tree slaves were brought and placed on tables for exhibition and sale.

The slaves were kept in the old Supreme court building, just opposite the old tree, and it is not difficult still to picture the once familiar scene.

Slavery was abolished in 1838, but the old slave tree stood and braved the storms till November 9, 1916, when it was cut down, as it was considered unsafe. The brass plate was affixed by the owner of a store which, until the tree was cut down, had always been advertised as "under the old fir tree."

Shocking the New Member.

Father is a minister and one Sunday morning while he was greeting the members of the church I asked him for the house key. He told me that it was in his coat pocket, and his coat, as I supposed, was in the basement of the church.

There I found quite a few overcoats. I examined each one, by size and color, until I came to one which looked familiar. I laid it out on a table and began searching each pocket, but, being unable to find the key, I deposited the contents of each pocket in a pile nearby. I was examining everything closely, when, alas! the door opened, disclosing a new member of the church. He gruffly asked the reason for the interference. I hurriedly explained and then fled. I have not seen him since, but I certainly do hope he does not think the minister's daughter a pickpocket.—Chicago Tribune.

Mountain Flying.

Consideration has been given to the possibility of aerial observation in the Himalayas. The range, it appears, has only six peaks above 27,000 feet high, and an aviator flying at about 23,000 or 24,000 feet should have no difficulty in crossing if the highest peaks were avoided, while if he chose certain of the gorges an altitude of some 19,000 feet would suffice. The greatest of the many obstacles to be encountered is the mountain sickness, which occurs in the highest altitudes through deficiency of oxygen. The gradual climber, going afoot, is less handicapped in this respect than the aviator rising suddenly from sea level in his machine. On the other hand, the pedestrian has more fatigue to undergo, and this practically equalizes matters.—New York Herald.

Use of Whale Meat.

Cooked perfectly in the can to a degree of tenderness unknown to devotees of the fried article, canned North Pacific whale steaks are making a hit wherever introduced. So great has been the demand for this delicious food, which has been ignored heretofore in the midst of plenty, that the pack now being prepared has long since been disposed of. According to a report just received by the Department of Commerce from Vice Consul Newcomb, Victoria, practically all the British Columbia pack will be shipped to England and there redistributed. Seldom within recent years has the whaling season opened under more promising conditions than this year. Whales are reported early and plentiful.

Grandpa Still Winner.

It was the first baby in the family and everybody wished it to look like them. Mother said with emphasis that its tiny mouth was the exact counterpart of her rather large, full mouth; father that its little button of a nose was a counterpart of his large Roman nose, and each auntie was certain that its natural complexion resembled her acquired one.

Grandpa chuckled at them all. "Well," he finally said, "there isn't nary an argument against me claiming that its toothlessness and baldness are both like mine, is there?"

BOARD OF ALDERMEN

Gasoline Filling Stations and District Boundry Lines Take Up Large Part of Meeting

Last Monday's meeting of the Board of Aldermen started at 8 o'clock and ended at 2.30 a. m. Tuesday morning. Long hearings on modifications of the district boundry lines in the present building zones and a short recess lasting from 10.45 to 12.45 caused the meeting to occupy so much time.

On the petition of John V. Monaghan's Sons for a gasoline station at the corner of Washington and Auburn streets, several residents of that neighborhood appeared to object.

Mrs. William Nicholson protested against a permit for a car garage being given to Thomas McEnaney at 405 Cherry street.

Ex-Alderman General Herbert Parker appeared for the Standard Oil Company on its petition for a permit to make slight additions and alterations to the property at 1024 Commonwealth avenue. The Standard Oil Company desires to change a porte cochere into an office for a gasoline filling station conducted there. Mr. Parker spoke at considerable length, making an exhaustive plea which dealt with all phases of the legal and architectural aspects of the case. At the close of his remarks, Mr. Parker told Mr. Ross that "for some time past, the city has contemplated taking the land, on which the Standard Oil Company Station is located, for municipal purposes."

Mr. Ross desired to know "Would the Standard Oil people be willing, should they receive permission to erect the building, to abstain from claiming the additional cost from the city, in case the land should be taken later on for municipal purposes?" Mr. Parker replied "that while he was not authorized to make any promise on such a point, he felt that the oil company would be fair with the city and would not seek any reimbursement for being deprived of business privileges should Newton take the land for the municipal buildings which may be erected there."

Ex-Alderman Arthur Blakemore, Colin S. Ober, H. W. Knowlton, and others asked the aldermen to place the land owned by Margaret McAleer on Grove street, Auburndale, in the private residence zone. The land is now in the general residence zone, and houses are being built upon it. It adjoins a small park at the junction of Auburn and Grove streets and heretofore has been an attractive spot. The petitioners argued "that unless the change is made, five or six houses may be crowded onto this land, marring the approach to the depot, and defeating the purpose for which Nye Park was created. The land for the park was donated by Auburndale citizens to beautify the approach to the centre of the village."

Ex-Senator Thomas Weston and a large delegation of residents of West Newton appeared in protest against the petition of William H. Mague and the Martin Manufacturing Company. This petition asks that the district bounded by Washington, Felton, and Chestnut streets be changed from the business to the commercial zone. Mr. Weston, who represented the West Newton Men's Club, and the Community Service Club, stated "that the last named organization intends to erect a branch public library on the land along Chestnut and Davis streets, and present it to the city." He also told the aldermen "that the Newton Trust Company is to erect a handsome structure at the corner of Chestnut and Washington streets."

Mr. Weston said "that such a civic centre should not have in its immediate vicinity a manufacturing district." Henry Whitmore also spoke against the petition being granted.

A number of residents from the vicinity of Rowe street, under the guidance of Leland Powers, appeared to ask the aldermen to change the road between Rowe street and the railroad from the commercial to the general residence zone. Among those who spoke were H. J. West, Florence Sullivan, H. C. Gaw, Miss Enid Squire, and George P. Brophy. The speakers told the board "that the land is being used as a lumber yard, which is a fire menace, and productive of much noise from the heavy trucks which travel in and out of it." They also said "that they had not been given any opportunity prior to the passage of the Zoning Ordinance to become acquainted with its details, and that the maps issued by the planning board showed the section in question to be in the residential district."

Alderman White told the petitioners "that even though this land should be placed in a residential zone, that lumber could still be stored there, as the zoning law cannot prevent a person from storing lumber on any lot of land." The petitioners answered, "that if placed in a residential district, this land could not have a saw-mill erected on it." Alderman Madden stated "that this land had been placed in a residential zone, but that at the last committee meeting prior to the passing of the zoning ordinance, it had been changed into a commercial zone." Replying to a question by Alderman Young, Alderman Ross said "that he had not moved that this land be put in a commercial zone, but that his motion, made in writing, distinctly specified that the commercial zone extend only as far as the bridge on Commonwealth avenue."

Herman Holt, Jr. appeared for the owners of the lumber yard. He ridiculed the assertions of the petitioners "that the lumber yard is a fire menace," and stated that the noise made by the trucks could not begin to compete with the noise made by the trains which are constantly passing by this neighborhood." He said

HELD ON SERIOUS CHARGES

Two cases of highway robbery and one of breaking and entering and larceny have been admitted by sixteen-year-old Frank H. Quinn of 13 Aberdeen street, Newton Highlands, who was arrested Sunday afternoon after Miss Mary Doherty was held up and robbed.

Miss Doherty is employed in the home of Dr. L. W. Friedman at 295 Dudley road, Newton Centre. Sunday morning she was walking toward the Church of the Sacred Heart at Newton Centre when a masked person stepped out of the trees that border Dudley road, threatened her with a revolver and took her purse which contained $5 and also took an envelope which contained a donation for the church. He then ran into the woods.

The woman went to a nearby house from which the police were notified by telephone. A squad of officers responded in an automobile and found Quinn on Boylston street, near Dudley road. In his pocket they say they found $5 in change, Miss Doherty's purse, the envelope stolen from her, a mask, a thirty-two calibre revolver, and some cartridges.

The burglary charged to the boy took place on Friday, when the house of Charles Collins at 200 Dudley road was entered. A revolver, a fountain pen, a chain and other articles were stolen. On Friday night, it is charged, he held up Miss Rose J. Van Amburgh of 336 Dudley road, while she was walking toward home, and $25 was taken from her.

Monday morning the boy was arraigned in the juvenile session of the Newton court. No plea was entered and no evidence was introduced but, at the request of Chief of Police Bernard P. Burke, the case was continued until Wednesday and bonds were placed at $15,000. Wednesday the case was again continued to August 24, the boy being committed to Westboro for 35 days for observation.

MISS BRYSON VINDICATED

By a court decree the action of Walter R. Forbush, late public buildings commissioner, in discharging Miss Annette C. Bryson, who was a clerk in his office, is reversed and Miss Bryson, who was dismissed December 23, 1922, is reinstated without loss of compensation. This finding was announced Saturday morning by Judge Joseph C. Hannon, associate justice of the Newton Court, who presided over a review of the case, on a petition filed by Miss Bryson, under Section 45, Chapter 31, of the general laws.

Miss Bryson, whose home is in Newtonville, was a clerk in city hall for sixteen years and for eleven years was in the office of the public buildings commissioner. Last December he preferred charges against her which included incivility, doing outside work in city time, reporting late for work, and other things. He then discharged her. Recently he resigned his office.

Miss Bryson applied for a hearing on the charges and under the law it was necessary to hold this hearing before the official who had ended her career as a civil service employee of the city. The hearing was continued from day to day over a period of several weeks, and Mayor Edwin O. Childs appeared as a witness in her favor. Mr. Joseph Lundy was her counsel. Miss Bryson brought counter charges against Mr. Forbush, who found no reason to reverse his decision. Miss Bryson, meanwhile, had found other employment and announced that she sought only vindication as her discharge prevented her securing another position under civil service.

In his finding Judge Hannon says, in part:

"If in truth, the petitioner is guilty of the charges preferred against her it is inconceivable that any conscientious department head who had a real desire to see his department operated efficiently and properly and for the best interest of the city of Newton would not have discharged her long before December, 1922."

"I am unable to believe that the reasons set forth by the respondent are the real reasons which actuated him in discharging the petitioner. I find that the respondent acted without probable cause and also in bad faith. The decision discharging the petitioner is reversed and the petitioner is hereby reinstated in her position without loss of compensation."

Under this ruling Miss Bryson may collect all salary due her since the date of her discharge.

BUSINESS MEN'S OUTING

Over 100 Enjoy Themselves at Annual Affair at Nantasket Beach

The annual outing of the Newton Corner Business Men was held Wednesday at McPeakes Shore Gardens, Nantasket. The affair was a decided success, over 100 attending.

Despite the fact that the weather was bad, it having rained in torrents all the morning, a fine time was enjoyed and everybody voted the affair a huge success. The weather man provided no sunshine, but this did not detract from the enjoyment of the occasion. The party left Newton in automobiles shortly before 2 o'clock and upon arriving enjoyed a sumptuous repast. After dinner Harold Moore, who had worked unremittingly to make the outing a success, introduced John T. Burns as the first speaker. Mr. Burns made an eloquent appeal for cooperation and public spirit among the business men. He was followed by George Heathcote. An interesting feature of the post prandial exercises was a debate between Archie Osgood and William U. Fogwill concerning the disappearance of a dog owned by Mr. Fogwill.

After the speeches had been concluded the men proceeded to the athletic field where various sports were held. Prizes for the different events were donated by the local merchants and the results of the games were as follows:

Young Men 100-yard Dash—1st,

James Manning; 2nd, Joseph Driscoll; 3rd, Arthur Clermont.

Old Men 100-yard Dash—1st, Edward H. Powers; 2nd, Harry Ross.

Fat Men Race—1st, Steve Morrell; 2nd, John T. Burns, Jr.

Quilts—1st, Tom Byrne and William A. Sweat; 2nd, L. H. Young and Harry Harcourt.

Shoe Race—1st, Frank Marchant; 2nd, Albert Troinan; 3rd, James Manning.

Nail Driving Contest—Won by J. Manning, F. H. Edmonds, Archie Osgood, Steve Morrell, and E. H. White.

Tug of War—Won by the Blue Team.

One of the amusing and interesting features of the outing was the taking of the annual photograph, copies of which will soon be displayed in the local store windows.

Following the usual custom the evening was spent in enjoying the many attractions along the beach. The committee in charge of the outing comprised Mr. Charles E. Mason, Edgar Burkhardt, William C. Deuschle, Frank Feola, William M. Cahill, Manuel Bloomberg, Fred Avantaggio, Willard L. Sampson, John T. Burns, Sr., Henry K. Rollins, Thomas F. Delaney, Hugh Boyd, Frank Marchant and Harold Moore, Chairman.

HOW MUCH IS A DOLLAR WORTH?

A lot of people, particularly young people, don't know the correct answer to that question.

The answer is worth knowing and it can be arrived at surely, not by any one but by all three of these different measures of value.

1. Find out what you have to give in labor or brains to earn a dollar.
2. Spend the dollar and see what it will give you in return.
3. Save it and notice what you have to do without to keep that dollar.

FIGHT MEASLES WITH SERUM

Encouraging Results Are Reported by the New York State Department of Health.

Announcement is made by the New York state department of health that encouraging results are being obtained in preventing deaths from measles by using a serum obtained from the blood of adults who have had the disease. Laymen should note that the report says "encouraging," not that a cure has been found.

If a serum has been discovered which will ameliorate the severity of measles, much less cure the disease, another boon has been conferred on mankind by science, the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin announces. Even to this day measles is regarded by too many parents as an ailment inseparable from childhood and the sooner a youngster contracts the illness and gets it over and done with the better. This is altogether a wrong idea. Measles is not only dangerous in itself but is often complicated by serious ailments of the eyes, ears, kidneys and bronchial regions.

A disease of childhood, measles, also attacks adults and in the late years may be more perilous than to a young person. When frequently epidemic, a certain immunity follows, but when the disease is taken among a people who have never before been visited by it the mortality is high. Years ago a British ship from Australia carried measles to the Fiji Islands and 40,000 of the 150,000 Fijians were swept off.

POISON IN ORDINARY FOODS

Fact That Most People Take a Small Amount With Their Regulation
Breakfast Dishes.

Did you have your morning dose of poison today?

"Poison?" you ask. "What do you mean?"

Well, the truth is, that if you had bacon for breakfast, salt on your cereal, blotters or kippers, rolls covered with icing, pepper on any of your food, or even a cup of coffee or tea, you had your morning dose of poison.

Poison, of course, does not harm us if taken in sufficiently small amounts. Bacon contains a little salt, pepper, an ounce being considered sufficient to kill.

The Chinese commit suicide by eating a cupful of salt; blotters and kippers contain formaldehyde; most cake or roll icings have prussic acid in them; cloves, nutmegs, horseradish, and a number of other herbs are poisonous if taken in large enough quantities. Black pepper contains piperine—an alkaloid poison; and doctors agree that overindulgence in coffee is most injurious because of its caffeine content.—Popular Science Monthly.

Copper on the Leviathan.

From the tiniest brass screws to the 16½-foot bronze propellers, the copper and brass industries have played a most important part in the reconditioning of the Leviathan, the world's largest ship. More than 25 miles of copper tubing, 250,000 pounds of it, were required for the heater coils in the staterooms. The heating coils exceed by 50,000 pounds the weight of the 200,000-pound statue of liberty.

The lighting system required 745,000 feet of copper wire. All salt water lines are copper, according to Skillings' Mining Review. In the condensing system, 20,346 pounds of admiralty brass tubing were used. Where German engineers had used iron in the lubricating system, copper was introduced.

His Experience.

"Well, I'll tell you, Ellick," confessed Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge. "I hung back right sharply about getting married. You see, I kinder got to thinking about the monotony of living with one—p'tui—person all my life."

"When you got married how'd it work out?" asked Ellick Onken.

"Never had a chance to try it, skurce. I've got fourteen children, three brothers-in-law, a father-in-law, mother-in-law, several other kinfolks and a couple of fellers that I never did mind out persizely who they was, hanging around more or less generally."—Kansas City Star.

A New Make of Car.

Fred A. Wetherby, who lives in Martinsville, has taken an unusual interest in a bright four-year-old boy of one of his neighbors, and this interest has elicited some very amusing remarks by the youngster. The other day Mr. Wetherby drove into his neighbor's place and stopped near the place the four-year-old was playing.

"I'm going to get me a car when I get big," the boy announced emphatically.

"You are," encouraged Mr. Wetherby good-naturedly. "What kind are you going to get?"

"A Rhode Island Red," replied the youngster.—Indianapolis News.

Canadian Wheat Holds Its Own.

During the last season wheat from Argentina has been a serious competitor of Canadian wheat and has supplied a large part of the requirements of Great Britain. However, Canadian wheat has sold readily whenever tonnage could be secured at rates sufficiently favorable to enable Canadian wheat to reach the British market even at a slight advance over the Argentine product. Shipments of Argentine wheat to the Orient are approximately one-third of the amounts shipped during the season of 1921-1922, when Japanese crops were very light.

NOT MEASURED BY WEALTH

"Successful" Men Today Are Weighed in Other Scales Than Those Which Only Register Gold.

The possession of wealth no longer constitutes the only barometer of success; the service ideal is gradually gaining ground. This was the keynote of a message to the convention of International Rotary in St. Louis from Paul P. Harris, founder of Rotary and president emeritus of Rotary International.

"The time when rich men are the big men is passing," said the message. "Greatness in future will depend not upon what one has been able to get, but rather on what one has been able to give."

"Opportunity to urge upon the business world the importance of adopting service as the basis of all professions and trades, is distinctly Rotary's, Rotary's peculiar formation, one representative of each profession and each line of trade, makes it pre-eminently the best organization with which to effect the purpose. It is a large order."

"The advent of Rotary marked an era when the long-suppressed yearnings of business men for opportunity to share in spiritual leadership began to find realization. It has been a period of wonderful progress, because business men have made idealism practical."

"No worthy object can be gained without effort and the more seriously we view our undertaking, the more certain our accomplishment."

PARROT ALMOST TOO CLEVER

Possibility That Indiana Bird May Lose a Little, if Not All, of Its Popularity.

Mr. and Mrs. Watt Irvin, of Kokomo, have a parrot which is interesting. Reuben easily fits into the Irvin family circle in the evening, injecting remarks occasionally and at times seeming to ponder. He has made life a burden to some of the neighborhood boys whose mothers call them from play to obnoxious tasks. So cleverly does he imitate the voices of the mothers that the little chaps are deceived.

The Irvins noticed Reuben hanging by his feet from the top of the cage and going through other exercises soon after they bought him.

"Look, Reuben's doing stunts!" Mrs. Irvin exclaimed.

"Stunts!" yelled the bird. Ever after that when he began the performance he always prefaced it with the word.

The Irvins had been out one Sunday afternoon and had come back to the house with visitors, to show the parrot. When they got ready to leave to escort the visitors out of town Reuben, noticing the preparation, exclaimed, "What, going away again?"—Indianapolis News.

Sleeveless Frocks; Freckles.

Sleeveless gowns, now so stylish and popular during the heat waves, represent the well-known swing of the pendulum in women's styles, according to a masculine dress expert, says the New York Sun and Globe. At the other end of the arc of changes are the summer furs. The main inconsistency the fair sex is guilty of is that they retain their fox and wolf skins during the warm spells.

While the furs naturally add to the heat they afford little protection from "Old Sol" and there will be more sunburned arms this year than ever before in the history of the country. But sunburned arms do not concern their fair owners. In fact they're proud of them. It's the freckles that appear with most sunburns that worry the modern sleeveless frock wearer. Few women point with pride to their freckles.

The spontaneous breaking of watch-springs is believed to occur chiefly in the summer months. From the repair records of two firms for several years it is found that the breakages are most numerous during the season of frequent thunderstorms. Further experiments indicate that it is moisture instead of heat that plays the chief part. It is suggested that the springs may be weakened by rusting spots, and in 56 samples, scaled up in equal division in a jar containing moist air, and one containing dry air, 17 springs broke, all in the jar of moist air. The liability to break was greatly reduced by the application of oil.

How Could She Know?

Senator La Follette was holding a hearing at Washington the last term to learn if possible why the farmers had to pay so much for gasoline. He seemed to be in fine fettle and uttered a lot of facetious little asides as the testimony came out. After one he considered particularly good he turned to the stenographer and said: "Of course, you will not put those little jokes of mine in the record?"

"But, senator," inquired the pothook hound, "how am I to know which the jokes are?"

Relieved of Army Service.

The work of demoting and discharging 1,858 American army officers has been completed by the War department. The elimination included 23 colonels, 39 lieutenant colonels, 110 majors, 345 captains and 201 first lieutenants from promotion list branches of the army, and 101 officers from the medical corps, 64 from the dental corps and 23 from the veterinary corps, 50 from the medical administration corps and 41 from the chaplains corps.

SKILLED IN "HIGH FINANCE"

Employee's Story Should Have Warned Banker That He Was Unsafe Man to Have Around.

A neighbor of mine dropped in at meal time recently to tell me of a St. Louis banker friend who met in a self-serve restaurant one of his own employees. As the banker and his clerk sat munching their simple rations, the employee happened to look at his watch.

"Handsome watch, that," remarked the banker.

"Yes," replied the clerk, "it is a nice watch. Funny thing about that, too"—and he went on to tell how he happened to buy the watch. It seems that he was short of money at a roadhouse one night and was obliged to cash a check for $40, though he chanced at that moment to have no funds to his credit. The next morning he tried to borrow money to deposit before the check should come in, but was unable to raise more than $5. While wondering what to do, he happened to see the sign of an installment jewelry place. There he bought a $75 watch on a down payment of $5—after proving that he had a good business connection—and a few minutes later he pawned the watch for $40, which he promptly deposited against the check of the night before.

"I should immediately have discharged the fellow," the banker said, in telling the clerk's story. "He was too slick a man to have around a bank. But I didn't, and now—well, sure enough, last week he got away with $23,000."—Fred C. Kelly in The Nation's Business.

ISOLDE WAGNER'S DAUGHTER

German Courts Settle Dispute as to Legitimacy of Offspring of Famous Musician.

Frau Isolda Biedler, the eldest daughter of Richard Wagner, was born fifty-six years ago, although her mother, Cosima, was legally the wife of Hans von Bülow, the composer and pianist. In the period preceding Isolda's birth, Cosima, Wagner and Bülow lived together, but Wagner always regarded Isolda as his daughter, and named her after the favorite of his opera characters. Isolda became the wife of Johann Biedler, a well-known German orchestra leader. Several years ago she defended her illegitimacy in court, when her sister Eva sought to deprive her of any share in the Wagner estate on the ground that Isolda was the daughter of Bülow, not of Wagner. Eva is the wife of Houston Stewart Chamberlain, an English author, who is a naturalized citizen of Germany, and who, during the late war, received the Iron Cross from the ex-kaiser as a reward for his bitter attacks on England, published in the German magazines.

Frau Cosima testified to her belief that Bülow was the father of Isolda, but the courts decided that Isolda is Wagner's daughter.

Wood Duck Hunting Prohibited.

Wood ducks may not be hunted in Minnesota or in any other state at any season, according to the biological survey, United States Department of Agriculture, which administers the migratory-bird treaty act. This is a federal law under which the hunting, killing, or possessing of wood ducks is prohibited at all times throughout the United States and by treaty throughout Canada also. This game law, having been upheld by the United States Supreme court, makes inoperative the amendment to the game laws of Minnesota passed at the last session of the state legislature, providing an open season on wood ducks. Thus, hunters will not be allowed to exercise the privilege accorded them by the state law, and persons found hunting, killing, or possessing wood ducks at any time will be subject to prosecution in the Federal courts.

Celebrated Belgian Fowls.

The village of Brackel, in Belgium, enjoys the fame of having originated one of the most celebrated races of domestic fowls. The Belgians do not hesitate to assert that the Brackel hens are unequalled for the excellence and number of their eggs, while the roosters have developed, thanks to generations of cultivation and influence of "crowing tournaments," a power and rhythm of voice equally unrivaled. The breeders have a theory that the musical contests in which the Brackel roosters are trained serve to develop the peculiar qualities of the race. However this may be, it is certain that cultivation has differentiated these fowls from all others.

Job's Comforter.

"I know, my dear," said the old aunt, "that it is hard for you to be so homely and not to be invited by the boys to go on these joy rides and roadhouse parties, but at least you have the satisfaction of knowing you are entertaining a clear conscience."

"Yes, no doubt," sighed her homely niece, "but a good-looking sheik could entertain me a lot more satisfactorily."

Well, We Couldn't Do Any Better. The Sunday school lesson was the seventy-third Psalm, and the teacher read the passage: "I saw the prosperity of the wicked. For there are no bonds in their death." Turning to a little fellow she asked him what he thought this meant.

"Why, teacher," he replied, "I guess it means that wicked men mustn't have military funerals."—Boston Transcript.

PLANTS THAT ARE POISONOUS

Many of Those in Common Use Are Capable of Producing Mild Irritation of the Skin.

Although poison ivy is one of the worst offenders, it frequently is blamed for poisoning caused by other plants, says Dr. W. W. Stockberger of the United States Department of Agriculture. The department has a list of more than 100 such plants that grow in this country, and it is probable that there are others that may be poisonous to some persons. Not all of these plants are equally poisonous, and, too, there is great variation in the susceptibility of persons.

Because some of these common plants are used for ornament in the home is no reason to fear them, as most persons are not affected by them and in the great majority of cases the irritation of the skin is mild. This would probably hold true of such plants as the tomato, geranium, daffodil and many others that are known to cause skin poisoning. Such plants, though, as the nettles are irritating to most persons.

In the long list of plants having these toxic properties are the following, which are well known, but not all of them generally known to be poisonous: Aconite, allantherus, asparagus, catnip, dog fennel, lady's slipper, wild carrot, hop, lobelia, oleander, nightshade, oxeye daisy, pansy, pokeweed, smartweed, primula, buttercup, poison elder or poison dogwood, bloodroot, mullein, cocklebur and the mustard. The pollen of the Easter lily has been known to cause irritation of the skin, but this is probably as rare as poisoning by leaves of the geranium or the carrot. Some of these plants are poisonous when taken internally, but the list has been made out on the basis of being irritating to the skin.

SAVED BY PRESENCE OF MIND

Five Men Would Have the Nerve and Patience of George, Though the Emergency Was Great.

Julius E. Ditterman, the millionaire fruit importer, said on the Aquitania: "The Germans charge the foreigner 4,000 marks for a theater seat that costs a German 300 marks. Oh, they're tricky. A new trick every minute. The Germans are like the chap who attended a hooch and poker party and didn't get home till 3 a. m. As he noiselessly opened the front door his wife called down in a sleepy voice: "Is that you, George?"

"Quick as a flash George drew himself up, and, standing there stock still in the dark hall, he rattled off in a metallic voice two bedtime stories, an oration against communism and the market quotations for the day. Then he sang 'Old Black Joe' and three selections from 'Tosca,' winding up with the stentorian announcement: "It is now 10:41 o'clock by Arlington official time."

"His wife, convinced that she had forgotten to disconnect the wireless receiving set, went to sleep again, telling herself that it was still early, and the up-to-date deceiver slipped off his shoes and made bed in safety."

Alaska Cares for Its Pioneers.

In a recent series of illuminating articles on the territory Sherman Rogers said that poverty as it is known in the States is unknown in Alaska. This is largely true. But the territory enters into the work of relief of destitution, care of minors, etc., more lavishly, comparatively speaking, than almost any individual state. Its welfare work is varied and broad in scope. The most important single undertaking of this nature is the pension system and home for aged, needy residents. Between July 1, 1916, and December 31, 1922, for this purpose there had been expended $432,270.71. Pensions were paid amounting to $112,011.23.

The institution where pioneers are cared for, located at Sitka, was maintained and operated during the same period at a cost of $276,926.56, while construction of new buildings, which included an infirmary equipped with up-to-date conveniences and appliances on a small scale, cost about $30,000.

Normandy's Cows.

The Cotentin cattle of Normandy, which their owners believe to be the best milkers in the world, are long, angular, big-framed and unprepossessing in appearance, with heavy heads, necks and shoulders, and white, crumpled horns. In color they vary. Brown, raven and red are most numerous, but there are many piebald and brindled. An American investigator says that it was proved to him beyond doubt that these cows will produce 40 pounds of butter a month during the greater part of the period of lactation, without any pampering in food or treatment. All attempts to improve them by crossing with other breeds have failed so far as milk-producing capacity is concerned.

Putting It Up to Aunt.

Aunt Mildred, of marriageable age but unattached, took her nephew, Robert, downtown on a shopping expedition.

They stopped at a large clothing store and, while Aunt Mildred was interested in a contemplated purchase, one of the young men clerks undertook to entertain the small boy by playing tag with him.

Finally tiring of the game, Robert ran up to Aunt Mildred and breathlessly called out: "Now you chase the man, Aunt Mildred."—Chicago Tribune.

GODSOE-OGDEN

At a pretty church wedding, which was largely attended by numerous relatives and friends, Miss Florence Ogden of Lexington and Newton Highlands, became the bride Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock of Arthur Godsoe, also of Newton Highlands. The ceremony was performed in the Newton Highlands Congregational Church, by the pastor, the Rev. Samuel H. Woodrow, D. D. The double ring service was used.

Both the bride and Mr. Godsoe attended the Newton Schools, and they have hosts of friends in the Newtons. Miss Ogden, who is also well known in Lexington, is a member of the Old Belfry Club of Lexington.

Mr. Godsoe, who is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles William Godsoe, is manager of the International Rubber Stamp and Stencil Company. The engagement of the young couple has been a brief one, for the betrothal was announced about the middle of June, at a bridge party at the home of Mrs. Ogden.

There was a large group of bridal attendants. The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Arthur Charles Ogden of Brattleboro, Vt., had for her matron of honor, Mrs. Henry Earle Myers of Akron, Ohio. Miss Eleanor Frances Ogden of Brattleboro, Vt., niece of the bride, was the maid of honor, and there were four bridesmaids: Miss Helen L. Brown of Cambridge, Miss Grace Roberts of Lexington, Miss Elizabeth G. White and Miss Helen L. White, both of Newton Highlands.

Little Sarah Godsoe of Newton Highlands, a niece of the bridegroom, was the flower girl, and Arthur Leon Ogden of Brattleboro, Vt., nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

The bridegroom had for his best man, John Severin of Boston, and the ushers were B. Walter Godsoe of Newton Highlands, and George A. Godsoe of Centerville, brothers of the bridegroom; Willard Robinson of Newton Highlands, cousin of the bride; Dr. Murray F. Luce of Boston and Leslie Sanderson of Newton Highlands.

The wedding music was played on the church organ, by Almon Fairbanks, the church organist. After the ceremony, Miss Alice A. Reese, contralto soloist of the Harvard Church, in Brookline, an old school friend of the bride sang "O Perfect Love." Lohengrin's wedding march was played as the bridal party passed along the aisle to the front part of the church, which was decorated with small white trees, and pink and white flowers and hollyhocks.

The bride was gowned in crepe chiffon combined with lace, and her veil of tulle was arranged in place with conventional orange blossoms. Her bridal bouquet was a shower of white roses and sweet peas. The matron of honor and four bridesmaids were in white organdie, and she scattered rose petals from a basket along the bridal path. The ring bearer was in a white suit.

A reception followed the wedding at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Charles Ogden of 57 Fisher avenue, Newton Highlands. The bridal couple are camping at Centerville on Cape Cod, for a part of their honeymoon, and later will visit the farm of the bride's mother in Brattleboro. After Sept. 1, Mr. Godsoe and his bride will make their home at 57 Fisher avenue, Newton Highlands.

DEATH OF MRS. HANSEN

Mrs. Marie C. Hansen, widow of the late H. C. Hansen, founder of the H. C. Hansen Type Foundry of Boston, died last Friday at her home on Hunnewell avenue, Newton. She had been ill about a week and was 73 years of age. Funeral services were held at her late home on Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Rev. George S. Butters officiating, and burial was in the Newton Cemetery.

Mrs. Hansen is survived by two sons, Mr. H. Alfred Hansen of Auburndale and Mr. Luther A. Hansen of Rockland, Mass., and one daughter, Mrs. Sidney Curtis of Belmont.

The Law of the Land, Must and Shall Be Respected

BOARD OF ALDERMEN MEETING

"the men who had started the lumber yard there had taken every precaution to ascertain that the land was properly zoned for that purpose, before locating on it." He called attention to the fact that this land is adjoined by coal yards, freight yards, and the railroad, and said, "that it is not adapted to any other than commercial use."

After the short recess of two hours for the purpose of allowing committees to discuss various matters, the aldermen transacted the customary routine business, and had a lively debate on the matter of passing an ordinance granting city employees Saturday half holidays. Alderman Madden moved "that any permanent city employee who works 28 or more hours in any week, shall receive a half holiday Saturday afternoon, provided that the Mayor or Street Commissioner decide that he had not been absent from work for unnecessary reasons. Mr. Madden stated, "that this motion had the approval of City Solicitor Bartlett, and that it did not take from the Mayor or Commissioner the right to exercise authority over the employees, and that they could stop undeserving employees from obtaining the half holiday privilege." Alderman White objected to the motion. He said, "that this matter could not properly be handled by statute, that it gives unworthy employees the same privilege as worthy employees, that it was not elastic enough, and that it took away from the Mayor and heads of departments the authority they have always had."

Alderman George Pratt said "that the ordinance should be permissive rather than mandatory," as Alderman Madden has made it. Alderman Ross urged the Board to accept Alderman Madden's motion. Mr. Ross said "that the city employees should be given credit as possessing enough honor not to attempt to take unfair advantage of the privilege, and that the motion had received the excellent endorsement of the City Solicitor."

Alderman Weeks asked "if city employees did not receive half holidays, as provided for in the Madden motion, could they not subsequently bring suit against the city, for the wages they lost because of being deprived of this time?" Alderman Heathcote said "that employees in practically all private industries enjoy Saturday half holidays, that the aldermen themselves enjoy Saturday half holidays, and that the laborers and other city employees should be likewise accorded the same privilege." Mr. Heathcote said "that there has been no difficulty in past years on the half holidays received by the city employees and that simply because the privilege was to be extended during all months of the year, that there was no need of hedging it with a lot of restrictions."

Alderman White argued against a substitute motion offered by Alderman Young. This motion provided "that all permanent city employees shall receive a half holiday, provided they work at least 28 hours, and that the Mayor and Commissioner decide they are worthy." Alderman White wanted the word may substituted for the word shall. The motion favored by Alderman White was finally carried, the aldermen voting as follows: in favor, Aldermen Earle, Fitts, Grebenstein, Norton, Parker, George Pratt, Norman Pratt, Weeks, White, Young, and Hollis. Opposed, Aldermen Ball, Collins, Heathcote, Madden, Ross, O'Connell and Smith.

Appropriations by Aldermen at meeting of July 23rd:

For curbing on Cummings road, $654.

Order for laying out on Manet road and establishing of building line with appropriation of $6871.

Order for laying out Crosby road an appropriation of $6346.

MAJESTIC THEATRE—Jesse L. Lasky's fine picturization of Emerson Hough's romance of the Oregon Trail, "The Covered Wagon," is drawing capacity audiences at the Majestic Theatre, where it is now well into the third month of its Boston engagement. Its fine love story is revealed in episodes of extreme tenderness, loyalty and heroism; and in the background is the pictorial splendor of the movement of the great wagon train through perils of flood, prairie fire and attacks of hostile savages, bearing its company of heroic venturers on the valiant mission of conquering and bringing civilization to the vast wilderness of the West. There is, in the entire story of the development of America, no brighter page than that of the men and women who journeyed in covered wagons to the far West in the middle years of the last century. The chief characters in "The Covered Wagon" are impersonated on the screen by J. Warren Kerrigan, Lois Wilson, Alan Hale, Charles Ogle, Ethel Wales, Ernest Torrence, Tully Marshall, Guy Oliver and John Fox. The musical accompaniment to the picture was arranged by Hugo Reisenfeld. Performances are given twice daily at the Majestic Theatre, except Sundays, at 2:15 and 8:15.

POLICE COURT

Morris F. Adelson of 80 Norfolk street, Cambridge, was in the Newton District Court yesterday morning before Judge Weston, charged with being drunk and with operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor. He pleaded not guilty to both charges. Adelson was arrested in Newton Centre by Sergeant Meehan and Patrolman E. Foley. Judge Weston fined him $10 for being drunk and sentenced him to 15 days in the House of Correction for operating under the influence of liquor. Adelson appealed.

Bernard Chierus of Wetherell street, Newton Upper Falls, was in the Newton District Court yesterday morning, charged with going away from the scene of an accident after injuring person and property. He was fined $75 by Judge Weston. Chierus was arrested by Patrolman W. Mullen after he had struck a woman, Mary Shaulis of Needham Heights, at the Needham line a few days ago. The woman was taken to the Newton Hospital and she is still there, but is recovering from her injuries.

Augustus Rossi of 248 Tremont street, Newton, was fined $10 in the Newton District Court yesterday morning for allowing an unauthorized person to operate his automobile. Motorcycle Officer Dowling was the complainant.

GARAGE AND AUTOS BURNED

Two automobiles and a three-car garage were destroyed Wednesday night by fire in Newtonville, caused by a short circuit in one of the cars. The garage was owned by Gertrude Purdy of 67 Court street, and was in the rear of her home. A large touring car owned by Edward Quinlan of 2 Beach street, Newtonville, and a small car owned by D. Stevens of 69 Court street were completely destroyed. A truck owned by A. T. Purdy was damaged but the owner managed to pull it out of the garage before it was destroyed. The building was burned to the ground.

BAND CONCERTS

There will be a band concert at the Riverside Recreation Grounds, next Sunday afternoon from 3:30 to 5:30 by Nuss Military Band and Clarke's Band will give a concert next Wednesday evening from 7:30 to 9:30 on Charles River Road, Watertown.

There will be a band concert, with dancing on the green next Thursday evening at Newton Upper Falls Playground under the auspices of the Newton Circle, Inc., and the Playground department.

PREFERS THE "YOUNGER SON"

Undergraduate's Somewhat Unconventional Viewpoint on the Parable of the Prodigal Son.

Speaking with an undergraduate at Harvard, who had reiterated the need of something positive in life as against the "negativeness of commandments, creeds and church history," I received this reply:

"I can't make very clear what I mean by 'positive,' but the story of the prodigal son helps me to see it, and it seems to me that the younger son had six virtues and one vice, and the older son six vices and one virtue."

"I suppose that sounds funny—too much like a sermon—but you see I've always admired the younger fellow. He was ambitious when he wanted to get started in life, he was energetic and adventurous, for he went to a far country; he wasted his money on harlots—that was his sin; he was humble when he tried to earn an honest living even though it led him to the pig sty; he repented; he had common sense, so that he took the logical course of remedying his conduct, and when he reached home he confessed his sin."

"Look at the older brother; he was jealous, grouchy, greedy, ungrateful, disrespectful to his father, and stupid. The only virtue he had was that he stayed at home with the old man."

"Somehow I imagine God liked the young fellow even from the beginning, for he had grit enough to strike out for himself, and vision enough to strike out far, while the older brother was a stay-at-home stick-in-the-mud. It's the positive, adventurous disposition of the prodigal son that I like."—A Student at Harvard in the Outlook.

GENIUS ALLIED TO INDUSTRY

Men Whom the World Calls Great Rose to Highest Place Largely by Their Own Efforts.

Every great orator in history was a failure in the beginning. Paderewski was expelled from one of the great conservatories of Europe and told he could never learn to play the piano. He was seriously recommended to study the piccolo as he then could at a job in an orchestra. Verdi wrote for twelve years and produced eighteen operas before he brought forth "Rigoletto," his first score of intrinsic merit, perhaps, excepting "Ernani."

Henry Irving failed in his first appearance, and was urged by all his friends to go back to the desk and ledger. Shelley's first poem, "Queen Mab" was poor stuff, flimsy and incoherent. Edison worked from eighteen to twenty hours a day for seven months trying to teach a phonograph to pronounce the letter "a." We look upon Chopin as having his genius handed to him on a gold platter, yet his practice at the piano was for hours at a stretch, repeating a single bar over and over again for nearly a thousand times.

These men made themselves geniuses by their own supreme efforts, raised what might have been mere mediocrity, or perhaps talent, to supreme power.—William George Jordan, in The Forum.

American Flour Regains Hold.

American flour is regaining something of its prewar hold in the markets of Portuguese East Africa and, with direct steamer service now introduced, this tendency to return to the American product may be further accelerated. Before the war it was the general practice to mix the flour used for breadmaking, three-fifths American hard wheat flour and two-fifths Australian soft wheat flour, but with the transportation difficulties and governmental regulation of the war, American goods were practically eliminated from the imports, says Consul Cecil M. P. Cross, Laurence Marques.

Mutes Gather for Companionship.

Many early morning risers, arriving at the Brooklyn bridge have recently noted a gesticulating group of men who gather there every morning on their way home from their night jobs.

All the men were deaf and dumb. They are employed in buildings near the bridge. Owing to their affliction they are unable to talk to their fellow workers. They agreed to meet each morning at the bridge to talk over the affairs of the world and to re-establish the feeling that they were not completely cut off from the current of human relationship.—New York Sun.

Clever.

You could heat your house with the hot blast that escapes up the chimney. Additional heat units are lost in ashes. But there's a new way of burning coal, a way you may use later in your furnace.

The coal is pulverized like flour. A blower shoots the powder into the furnace, in a fine stream, which spreads out fan-shape and burns like gas. Several times as much heat this way—and no ashes at all. Ford has installed this new process in his River Rouge plant.

Butte.

Butte is an important city but this Montana mining center is still spoken of as a mining camp, and it is probably the largest in the world with a population of about 80,000 when mine operations are going strong. About 15,000 men are employed in the mines. The total value of the output of these mines since they began to produce copper, zinc, silver, gold and lead has been about $1,500,000,000.

APPEALED TO THEIR HUMOR

Theatergoers Unable to Appreciate Shakespeare's Characters Arrayed in Modern Garb.

In Birmingham, England, the other day an experiment in dramatic art, intended to prove that Shakespeare's plays were greater than any representation of them, ended in a ludicrous fiasco. What the experiment proved was that, unless the characters are garbed according to the accepted traditions, the lines and situations created even by the master mind of the world's greatest dramatist have no power to impress a modern audience.

The play chosen for the purpose was "Cymbeline," staged in a country that never existed. Therefore, argued the promoters, they were free to garb the characters in any way they pleased, and so the characters appeared in the modern dress of the present day.

A company of scholarly actors had been assembled to play the parts and all other stage traditions carefully attended to. But Shakespeare in a tuxedo failed to get across. The audience saw only the funny side of the unexpected costumes and laughed at the most dramatic incidents and tittered at the actors' most poetic and inspirational utterances.

Which seems to confirm the attitude of the motion-picture producer—that dramatic art appeals more to the eye than to the intellect.—Los Angeles Times.

TO HAVE SUCCESS IN LIFE

Charles M. Schwab Names Qualities Which It Is Imperative One Must Possess.

"If I were asked to name the most important things that lead to a successful life," Charles M. Schwab is quoted in The Business Woman as saying, "I should say, first of all was integrity—unimpeachable integrity. No one can ever do anything of great value in life, and have the confidence and approval of his fellow men, or be successful in his undertakings with other business people, if he does not have the reputation of being a person of honor and integrity. This is the very foundation of a successful life."

"Another important thing is loyalty. Be loyal to the people with whom you associate at the start. Make your employer feel that you are sincere with him; that you are going to promote his interests; that you are going to stand for the things he represents, and that will reap you a richer reward. Loyalty above all!"

"Be friends with everybody. When you have friends, you know there is somebody who will stand by you. Lead a life that will make you kindly and friendly to everyone about you, and you will be surprised at what a happy life you will lead."

"These things secure opportunity. That secured, there comes the need of good judgment, which is one of the prime requisites for enduring success."

Tobacco Will Rout Pest.

The melon and cucumber beetle, the striped little pest now causing pangs of disappointment and rage in the hearts of gardeners, amateur and otherwise, is an anti-tobacco leaguer. He hates the weed, so fight him with nicotine or tobacco dust, says the Department of Agriculture.

If the dust be sprinkled over the young plants the beetles will seek pasture elsewhere. Also they will depart if the plants be given tight veils of mosquito netting until they grow big and strong enough to fight their own battles. If these measures are adopted by an entire community, and accompanied by the use of trap plants suitably poisoned with arsenate of lead or bordeaux mixture, both, the numbers of the enemy will be greatly reduced and homegrown "cukes" and cantaloupes enjoyed by and by, says the department.—Science Service.

Within Bounds.

A young man set out for the first time to get orders in the west of England.

At Plymouth he met an old commercial traveler, who asked him how he had got on.

"Badly," he replied. "I was insulted at every place I visited."

"That's strange," said the other. "I have been on the road 40 years; I have had my samples flung into the street; I have been taken by the scruff of the neck and pitched downstairs; I don't deny that I have been rolled in the gutter, but insulted, never!"

Quebec Gold Fields.

Information coming out by mail from prospectors in the new gold fields of northwestern Quebec is to the effect that the rush has shown no abatement, and that the movement is general toward the east. Some staking is taking place in the township of Clercy, around Clercy lake, but the greater staking is along the Kenos river, and extending away off toward the east.

Flaw in Alcoholic Fuel.

Although experiments have shown that alcohol as fuel for trucks is successful in the Philippines, this is not the case with passenger cars. Besides the fact of the fuel's offensive odor, the carburetors do not supply enough air, and the economy is not sufficient to warrant passenger-car users in changing their carburetors, even if suitable ones were available.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

Mr. Robert Chapman, Jr., of Newtonville, has kindly donated the use of an excellent camp site on his farm near Southville, for Troop 7, of West Newton.

Last Friday afternoon ten boys from this Troop, in charge of Acting Senior Patrol Leader Jack Ford, accompanied by Assistant Scoutmaster Dow, went to the camp and pitched their pup tents, staying until Sunday afternoon, sleeping under canvas and preparing all their meals in the open, returning tired, tanned and happy, full of "pep" and "rarin' to go" on the next trip two weeks hence.

Several minor mishaps gave employment to the "Camp Physician" in the person of First Class Scout Horace Rounds, who rendered prompt and efficient first aid in every instance.

It is planned to make a feature of these hikes during the summer and early fall, and many of the boys will be ready for well-earned promotions when the regular meetings are resumed in September, as opportunity is given for practice and passing tests in out-door work and camp craft of all kinds.

These camps are under the strictest military discipline in matters of sanitation and neatness, and a rigid inspection is given tents and equipment daily. Discipline is enforced, in the rare cases when necessary, by the Senior Patrol Leader with a council composed of the First Class Scouts, with the Scoutmaster acting in an advisory capacity only, and it is firmly and efficiently enforced, too, as a few of the less experienced ones find to their sorrow. It is seldom necessary to repeat for the same offense.

All the First Class Scouts are now working for Merit Badges and will be ready to go before the Court of Honor at its first session in the fall.

GRADUATION OF A. L. N. M. AT LASSELL SEMINARY

The 33d annual commencement exercises of the American Institute of Normal Methods were held Wednesday night at Bragdon Hall, Lassell Seminary, Auburndale, Frederick W. Archibald, supervisor of music at the Framingham and Salem Normal Schools, presented the diplomas to a large number of graduates and delivered the commencement address.

There was a long and interesting musical program, suggestive of the work done at the school. The four seasons provided the theme of the program. Miss Maude M. Howes conducted the opening chorus and the closing prayer of thanksgiving. The A. L. N. M. Orchestra was conducted by Francis M. Findlay. Mrs. Gladys P. Sleeper was accompanist.

To Make Glass Fit.

It is supposed to be difficult to break glass. Here is a simple method: Make a tiny notch by using a file on edge of piece of glass. Heat a small iron (about the size of a fountain pen) until red hot, and apply the red-hot iron to the notch and draw it carefully along the surface of glass in any desired direction. A crack will appear in direction of iron.

THE LARGEST BRICK BUILDING

THE Pension Office Building, Washington, D. C., is often referred to as the largest brick building in the world. That statement is easy to believe when one learns that 15,500,000 bricks were used in its construction. It is four stories high, exclusive of the basement, 400 feet long, 200 feet wide and contains 175 rooms.

The court contains eight columns, each eight feet in diameter at the base and 75 feet high. Each column contains more than 55,000 bricks and 1,449 square feet of plaster, all beautifully colored in representation of many historical scenes.

First occupied during the year 1885, this building was constructed as a memorial to the brave soldiers and sailors who had so well served their country during the Civil War, as well as to house the employees and records of the Pension Bureau.

The corridor accommodates 18,000 people and it is here that the presidential inaugural balls have been held.

Precious indeed are the records which are filed away in this great structure. In passing, it is interesting to note that the report of the commissioner in charge for a recent year, shows 748,147 pensioners on Uncle Sam's pay roll and the total disbursement was more than $165,000,000.

—Dr. Hunt a former pastor, now president of Bucknell University is to be the preacher at the First Baptist Church, next Sunday.

—Mr. and Mrs. John Moir of Hammond street, Chestnut Hill, sailed on the Sythia, yesterday, for a trip abroad.

—Mr. and Mrs. Titcomb and their family are occupying the cottage owned by Mr. and Mrs. Edwards of Sumner street, at North Chatham, Mass.

—Dr. E. Y. Mullins who was unanimously elected president of the Baptist World Alliance at Stockholm, this week, was a former pastor of the First Baptist Church, here.

—Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Schirmer with their daughter, the Misses Eleanor and Priscilla Schirmer of Wachusett road, Chestnut Hill, will spend the month of August at their camp at Meredith Neck on Lake Winnepesaukee.

Lower Falls

—Hugh J. McGillicuddy, 34, a carpenter, of Washington street, while working on the second story of a building at 23 Harrington street, West Newton, Monday, fell from a beam to the first floor, and bounced through a hole into the cellar. He was taken to the Newton Hospital, where it was found that his legs were injured and he was suffering from possible internal injuries.

NEVER TOO OLD TO LEARN

Given "Sand" and Brains, There Is Always Opportunity for Man to Achieve Success.

First a clerk in a music store and then a music teacher for some fifteen years, Theodore Presser told me recently he felt as if he were "hemmed in by four walls."

Did he let a change of occupation bluff him out of a real career? Not much.

He started a music journal and he has lived to see it enjoy a far larger circulation than any similar publication in the world.

Until mid-life, E. H. Harriman knew no more about the details of railroad operation than he knew about the inside of a battleship. He was a stock broker.

"I'm at the wrong end of this game," said he, and in short order, but in defiance of age limit, or dead-line rules, Harriman stepped quickly into first place among American railway chiefs.

The Union Pacific might build a monument dedicated to the idea that no man is ever too old to learn a new game, provided he has sand and brains. —Chicago Daily News.

SUPPLY OF TIMBER ASSURED

With Proper Management, Coeur D'Alene National Forest Can Furnish Millions of Feet Yearly.

Fifty million feet of sawlogs can be removed annually for all time from the Coeur d'Alene national forest, Idaho, according to the prescriptions of the management plan approved by the forest service, United States Department of Agriculture.

The net area of forest is about 600,000 acres, of which about 550,000 acres is considered as productive forest land. The great share of the timber, as usual, is in two age classes, the mature and overmature class and the very young, 0 to 20-year, class.

The main problem of management is that of making the mature timber last for a sufficient period to enable the youngest and intermediate classes to reach maturity. This average period is estimated at 80 years, during which time a total of 4,000,000,000 feet will be removed, or an average of 50,000,000 feet per year.

Bad Name Is Undeserved.

Living for more than a century under the stigma of being cannibals and without religion, the Yagga Indians of Tierra del Fuego, or "Fireland," the southernmost inhabited land of the globe, have been revealed as a moral people, never guilty of cannibalism and possessing a highly developed religion and a beautiful language. This knowledge was obtained through the investigations of Father William Koppers and Father P. M. Gusinde, vice president of the Philological museum at Santiago, Chile. Ironically, the true story of the Yaggas' civilization comes as they are about to join the world's extinct peoples. Fifty years ago the tribe numbered some 2,000. Today it does not exceed 70 persons. It was Darwin who gave the Yaggas their bad name.

Scientists Discover New Animal.

Add a new animal to the list of those known to man. Prof. L. L. Woodruff of Yale university is the discoverer. His find is one of the one-celled forms known as protozoa, which are so small that they cannot be seen without the aid of a microscope. This tiny form is about one two-hundredths of an inch long and less than one-fourth as wide, and Professor Woodruff has named it Paramaculum polycaryum. It moves about rapidly in a drop of water by means of hair-like projections, called cilia, over its body; these cilia beat the water with whip-like strokes. Paramaculum's food consists chiefly of bacteria and smaller protozoa. —Science Service.

Land for National Forests.

The National Forest Reservation commission has authorized the purchase of 11,457 acres in eight eastern states for national forest purposes at an average price of $3.95 an acre, according to the forest service, United States Department of Agriculture. The most signal purchase consists of ten parcels with a total area of 5,309 acres in McKean, Forest, and Warren counties, Pennsylvania, within the Allegheny National forest. The area now being acquired by the government on the headwaters of the Allegheny river is nearly 110,000 acres.

Whale Steaks Become Popular.

Canned North Pacific whale steaks are the newest delicacy in England, France and Italy, and virtually the entire pack of last season has been disposed of, according to word received at Tacoma by packers from jobbers in the European centers.

Cooked perfectly in the can to a great degree of tenderness, the tinned sea-beef is making friends with epicures wherever introduced. This season's pack will consequently be a heavy one. Packers who have investigated now anticipate a good whale crop.

Transparent Rubber.

Several imaginative writers have discovered delightful uses for a perfectly transparent rubber which, they say, scientists are perfecting. Such a material could be used as an unbreakable window or windshield, a cheap lens which would be distended by a liquid within, or a transparent bathing cap or rubber overshoe.

TRIUMPH FOR AMERICAN GIRL

How Margaret Robinson Secured Amnesty for Bandit Band on Condition That It Joined Army.

Is there no Homer in modern Greece to sing the exploit of the American college girl who has freed Crete of its bandits? asks the New York World.

When Miss Margaret Robinson of Grand Rapids arrived in Crete as the representative of Near East relief her efforts to aid the refugees encountered the predatory opposition of the Greek outlaw Barbounis and his band, who for fifteen years had terrorized the island. Sending an envoy to the robber chief, she began negotiations which resulted in the grant of amnesty to Barbounis and his followers by the government on condition of their serving in the Greek army on the Turkish frontier, and the harassed population has since had the satisfaction of seeing the bandits sail away to join the "King's Own" regiment at Dedeagach.

Has a more romantic story come out of Crete since the time of the Minotaur? At least the feat of the American relief worker furnishes an interesting modern example of the kind of achievement which provided themes for the old Greek poets. Given, that it had occurred in remote antiquity, it might by this time have been embellished and elaborated into a great popular myth possessing enough historical truth to give it substance and adding a new female portrait to the familiar gallery of Ariadnes, Antigones and Electras.

FIGHTING THE BOLL WEEVIL

Department of Agriculture Has Elaborate Plans for Further Effective War Against the Pest.

The work of the Department of Agriculture at Tallulah, La., in developing methods and apparatus for dusting cotton to kill the boll weevil, is being continued this summer and heavier planes are being used. In the spring three De Havilland 4B planes were detailed by the War department for use in these tests, and competent engineers and pilots were also provided.

Previously, considerable work on this problem had been done with light machines, and the use of the larger ones has made it necessary to modify the distributing mechanism. Several types of dust hoppers have been made for meeting the new conditions, but it will probably require some time to develop a design which will be satisfactory. Mr. Coad, who has charge of the boll weevil laboratory for the Department of Agriculture, expects to have a fairly satisfactory permanent hopper installed in one of the planes for use in actual control work during the summer.

Several plantations near the landing field have been mapped and all arrangements have been made for dusting the cotton with the planes. The results of the new tests will be awaited with interest by all those connected with the cotton industry.

Smoke Screen From Seaplane.

The use of dense smoke clouds by naval vessels for the purpose of screening battleships from the enemy, has been practiced for a long time. Fast destroyers are usually employed to lay the cloud of heavy smoke, which is produced by regulating fuel and draft in the main boilers. Recent tests, however, have proved the efficacy of seaplanes in this respect. In fact, the seaplane has at least two advantages over the destroyer: It can lay a screen much more rapidly; it can regulate the height of the screen above water, and may make it completely envelop an object by flying over and around the latter. When a seaplane is used for laying the screen, the smoke results from the introduction into the exhaust pipe of chemicals that increase the volume as well as the density of the exhaust gases. —Popular Science Magazine.

Seventh Child Named "Enough."

The office was crowded with the wedding party. All were silent while the bridegroom filled in the blanks. For the purpose of this story we'll call him Smith, says the New York Times.

The secretary looked over the marriage license. It gave the groom's name as "John Enough Smith."

She said: "The clerk at the license bureau has made a mistake; see what a ridiculous middle name he has given you—'Enough.'"

Without looking up the groom replied dryly:

"No mistake on the part of the clerk. My mother gave me that middle name—I was the seventh child."

Good Idea for Radiators.

By means of a new device, shown in Popular Mechanics Magazine, the bothersome legs of radiators, from around which dirt is removed with difficulty, are done away with and the radiator supported from the pipe connections at the floor. Inconspicuous wall braces prevent the radiator from tipping, and adjustable center rests are provided for long radiators. The attachments are adaptable to any size or make of radiator.

Burial Place for Heroes.

A great cemetery is to be laid out at Sarrebourg, Germany, for the re-interment of 20,000 French soldiers who died in Germany as prisoners of war. The municipality of Sarrebourg, which is near the frontier, requested the honor of providing the last resting place "for those unhappy heroes whose lives were sacrificed in captivity."

MRS. WALTER E. HILLS

Mrs. Beulah Bailey Hills, wife of Walter E. Hills, of Newton Centre, died Monday afternoon at her home, 76 Elmwood street. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon, in Bigelow Chapel, Newton Cemetery, at three o'clock.

Mrs. Hills was the daughter of Charles J. Bailey, who, before his death, was the head of the Bailey Rubber Company, of Boston, and Mrs. Eva L. Bailey, of Vernon Court. She was educated at Dana Hall. She was married in 1907, and for seven years lived in Evanston, Illinois. Since then their home has been in Newton Centre.

Mrs. Hills was a member of the Newton Centre Woman's Club and the Congregational Church.

Besides her husband and mother, Mrs. Hills is survived by two children, Barbara Hills and Charles Bigelow Hills; two sisters, Mrs. Frank E. Perkins, of Newton, and Mrs. Eva B. Knight, and a brother, H. Esmond Bailey, of Newton.

WILLIAM TRAIN HALLIDAY, JR.

Mr. and Mrs. William T. Halliday will have the sympathy of their many friends in the death, on Monday, of their dear little son, William Train Halliday, Jr. He was four and a half years of age. He had apparently recovered from an illness of over five months, but was stricken with an acute infection which resulted in his sudden death.

Funeral services were held at the home of his parents, on Newtonville avenue, Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Rev. Charles H. Moss of Malden officiating and Miss Mabel Garrison of Malden rendered "Sometime We'll Understand" and "Nearer My God to Thee." There were many beautiful floral tributes. Interment was in Newton Cemetery.

UNCLE SAM'S GIANT WIRELESS

AT GREENBURY POINT, near Annapolis, Maryland, is located the great, high-power radio station, owned and operated by Uncle Sam.

Built as a war measure, for the insurance of uninterrupted communication with our army in France, in the event that for any reason the cables were put out of commission, as well as to provide added facilities for keeping in touch with and directing the movements of vessels at sea, it has successfully bridged the seas of the world and "made good."

Four gigantic, steel towers 600 feet high, set 850 feet apart and in the form of a square, support the massive web of super-sensitive wires from which outgoing electric waves "hop off" into space and to which the incoming waves from afar are attracted.

The energy by which the station is operated is obtained from a nearby power plant—a suitable operating building, power-transformer house, quarters for the maintaining and operating forces, store house for repair materials and other necessary equipment having been erected at an advantageous and adjacent location.

The far-reaching importance of this miracle-like station which performs the seemingly impossible comes home to one when he understands that it successfully handles radio traffic direct with France, Italy, Germany, Norway, other radio stations in this country and its outlying possessions and all U. S. Navy and all properly-equipped merchant and other vessels, no matter in what far-away part of the world they may be located.

NO TIME FOR EXPLANATION

Stranger Had Played the Part of the "Innocent Bystander," and Mike Left Hurriedly.

An accident a few years ago makes Mike's use of a cane essential. His business compels him to hang around police headquarters daily, where he gets gift cigars frequently.

On a recent rainy day Mike was awaiting a street car. Directly in front of him was a big, husky fellow. Mike's feet suddenly slipped. His energetic attempt to prevent himself from falling caused his cane to hit the stranger a resounding wallop on the side of the head.

Mike is a fast apologist. The stranger accepted the explanation. Soon both were chatting amicably.

Mike bethought him of the pocket full of cigars he had just got from a police friend.

"Drag on one of these," said Mike, proffering a couple.

The stranger accepted the "cigars of peace." He puffed one, continuing the chat.

Suddenly there was a crackling sound, followed by a loud "bang!"

His face and clothing covered with fragments of cigar and ashes, the husky victim started after Mike.

It was no time for explanations. Forgetting his game leg, cane and years of inactivity, Mike went right away from there. What is more, he got away.

Now he is on a still hunt for the cigar-giving policeman.—Kansas City Star.

SPEED THE 'PARTING GUESTS'

Remarkable Presence of Mind of Juvenile Hostess That Went Far to Save the Situation.

"Let's have a party."

This inclination of every normal little girl, especially if she be a little girl with snapping, twinkling black eyes, black hair drawn tightly back, small, vivacious, likable and living in Lafayette, was manifested by Martha, called Mattie, by inviting a large number of boys and girls to her house for a party—while her mother was gone.

The guests were not the aristocracy of the town, it must be admitted.

Mattie saw her mother approaching just as the children were preparing to take possession of the house. She knew that her mother would send the "guests" home, sans party, with the result that Mattie would be sans standing with the boys and girls in the part of town from which her guests came.

An inspiration came to her.

"You'd better run," she told them.

"Here comes my mother and I've got the measles,"—Indianapolis News.

Concerning Inks.

Inks are said to play an important part in the detection of forgery, especially when question arises as to the particular time a document was penned or signed.

It is claimed that blue-black inks may be recognized as fresh up to the sixth day, and that, in after years, their age may be determined when the blue provisional pigment has faded and left only the black.

The blue coloring, it seems, as time elapses is scarcely acted upon by reagents, but for a year or two it will at once diffuse if treated with a 50 per cent solution of acetic acid, whereas when it is five or six years old diffusion, if it occurs at all, is extremely slow and limited in extent.

It is averred that a still more useful re-agent is a saturated solution of oxalic acid that causes the pigment of relatively fresh writing to give an immediate smudge, but has very little, if any, effect upon writing six or eight years old.

Light and Sound Alike.

Many a night during that summer I spent in my mother's vineyard sleeping on sheep-skins under the open sky and looking at the stars at which I looked 15 years before, when I helped the herdsmen to guard the village oxen during the starlit summer nights.

I remembered the puzzles which I tried to solve at that time concerning the nature of sound and light, succeeding in the case of sound and failing in the case of light. I rejoiced at the feeling that I had finally succeeded in finding from Faraday and Maxwell through Helmholtz that sound and light resembled each other, one being a vibration of matter, and the other a vibration of electricity.—From "From Immigrant to Inventor," by Michael Pupin, in Scribner's.

Pencils Wasted by Americans.

Open-handed Americans are the most lavish users of pencils in the world, the United States alone using twice as many as all Europe, said Lothar W. Faber, the "Pencil King."

"The European uses a pencil until there is barely anything for him to hold in his fingers," said Mr. Faber, "while the American throws it away when it is hardly more than half used. America uses about a million and a half gross a year, nine or ten pencils per capita. Europe uses only half that amount."

Might Look Bad.

"See, George, dear," said the young bride, "I baked my first cake today, and I want you to eat some of it."

"I am willing," said hubby, as he looked suspiciously at the cake, "but I've just had my life insured."

"Why, that's all the better, isn't it?" laughed the bride, merrily.

"I don't know about that," he replied. "They might think you baked the cake on purpose and refuse to pay the policy."—Boston Transcript.

—Mrs. Patrick Mitchell and Miss Mary Mitchell have returned from a vacation spent at Hampton Beach.

—Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Marsh of Highland avenue are at Plymouth, New Hampshire for the rest of the summer.

—Mrs. Francis W. Sprague, 2nd, who is at her summer home in Barnstable, has as her guests, her daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Barnard, and her children.

—If your furniture needs upholstery, cushions and draperies made, call at M. H. Haase's, 14 Centre Place, Newton. Tel. 1343-W Newton North.

—Mr. Edward Hutton of Hicks street, just returned from a two weeks' vacation spent in Philadelphia and Atlantic City, motoring over the road in his new Reo car which he purchased this spring.

—Miss Margaret S. Downey, daughter of Mr. Michael Downey of 1497 Washington street died Monday at her home as the result of a shock. Besides her father she is survived by two sisters, Mary and Annie Downey, and two brothers, Michael and William Downey. The funeral was held Wednesday morning at nine o'clock with high mass of requiem at St. Bernard's Church, celebrated by Rev. Fr. Cronin. Burial was at Stoughton.

—Hose 2 was kept busy last Friday with still alarms. About seven A. M. a brush fire on the Brae Burn Club property on Windsor road was disposed of and soon after in the basement of the First National Bank defective wires caused considerable smoke but little damage. Later a gas tank on the wood sawing machine of Herbert A. Travis, 24 Webster street, took fire on Elliot avenue and received the attention of the fire department and they were also called to a grass fire along the railroad track back of Dr. Lowe's.

RIVER ACCIDENTS

Several thousand canoes dotted the Charles River last Saturday during the afternoon and evening. The river patrolmen reported six upsets. The victim in one case was a young woman who managed to get ashore safely, unaided. Patrolman Thomas Tevlin of the Metropolitan Park Police made one rescue after speeding more than half a mile in a boat to the scene of the accident. Two sailors had been thrown into the water when their canoe turned over. Tevlin dragged the two men into his boat and they were later transferred to the police launch and taken ashore.

Shortly after dark, automobilists passing the Weston Bridge noticed a canoe upset and sounded horns to attract help to the scene. A patrolman who was on duty at the station house at the time heard the horns and hurried to the river, where he found a man trying to keep afloat by hanging on to his canoe.

DEATH OF MRS. HENRY H. LOWELL

On Saturday morning, July 21st, Sarah E., wife of Henry H. Lowell, of 53 Glenwood avenue, Newton Centre, passed to her rest. Mrs. Lowell was born in Paris, Maine, and had lived in Newton Centre for thirty years. For many years she has been in poor health, but her lovely, cheerful spirit made every one who knew her forget the pain to which she never referred and touched every one who came into her home with her own bright, womanly inspiration. The very finest standard of a wife and a friend, finding all her happiness in serving others and leaving as the best memory of her life the wish that more lives might follow in her brave footsteps.

"The way of a woman is God's own way
Of making a beautiful thing of life;
Of healing the hurt of the toiling day;
Of lifting with love the shadows of strife,
Of reaching our sorrow and worry and care
With the inner sweet of her perfect soul;
Of giving us courage to trust and to bear,
Of helping us grow to the life that's whole."
